"The Mistletoe Bough" is a fascinating presentation in pantomine of that charming story in which a beautiful girl playfully steals from the scene of her bridal festivities to hide from him, who cried wildly, "Oh where did'st thou hide? I am lonely without thee, my own dear bride." Arrayed in the spotless beauty of joyous young womanhood she sought the old chest with its fatal spring and thus found a grave. Years after the skeleton was found. "In the bridal wreath of that lady fair." This pathetic but beautiful story will be told in pantomine by more than fifty young ladies and young men, all thoroughly drilled by that master of stage-art, Prof. George A. Gardner.

A BRIBE-GIVER PUNISHED.

The conviction of R. M. Snyder, a public official of St. Louis, on the charge of bribery, should have a wholesome effect everywhere.

There is little trouble generally, to secure the conviction of the bribe-taker, but the bribe-giver is a more difficult person to reach.

The former is generally a poor and inconsequential man, while the latter is a big fish in the municipal political pool, and is fortified by money and entrenched in political power. Like all other diseases, physical or municipal, bribe-giving must be cured by striking at its root—the bribe-giver.

CONVENTION AT STILL POND.

The Kent county Sunday school convention at Still Pond this week was a success. The sessions were well attended and much interest manifested. Rev. G. H. COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Warner Gets One Cent Damages—Number of Surprises in Criminal Cases—Mrs. Latham Convicted—The Tomato Case.

The case of Warner vs. Moore occupied the attention of the court all day Saturday and was given to the jury about 4 o'clock. After being out about a half hour they returned with a verdict of one cent damages. This was the same case tried last year and in which Mrs. Warner was given damages amounting to $975.

MONDAY, OCT. 27—The criminal docket was resumed this morning and the following cases heard:

State vs. Robert Jackson, colored, charged with stealing clothing, etc., from Mr. Kilbourn at Rock Hall. A plea of guilty was entered, and a sentence of 4 years in penitentiary imposed.

State vs. Jack Ringgold, charged with burglary, of a razor and purse from Mr. Barnett. Jury trial, verdict not guilty. S. P. Townsnend and W. W. Beck attorneys for Ringgold. J. D. Urie for state.

State vs. W. O. Dugan, charged with perjury in the case against Wm. Blakeney of last spring. Verdict not guilty. Wickes for Dugan; Urie for state.

State vs. Alexander Towson, charged with malicious destruction of property. Verdict not guilty. Barroll for Towson; Urie for state.

State vs. Frank Sheppard, charged with larceny, verdict not guilty.

State vs. George W. Cooper, charged with horse-stealing. Verdict not guilty.

State vs. J. C Rasin, charged with non-feasence in office. Verdict not guilty.

The case returned by the Grand Jury, charging Mr. Joseph Guest with permitting a water drain nuisance on Court street, Chestertown, was considered by the Court, and held sub curia after Mr. Guest made a plain, frank statement. While owning property on Court street, Mr. Guest does not occupy the same, and is known to have done all in his power to abate and regulate the offending condition. He is one of Chestertown's best citizens in every sense of the word, and has been ever ready to contribute his services and means to the advancement of the community's best interest.

What is said of Mr. Guest applies with equal force to Dr. James W. Urie. Though County Health Officer, Dr. Urie's jurisdiction does not extend over the streets of Chestertown, and when the matter was called to his attention it is stated that he promptly referred it to the Chestertown authorities. It is said that the town commissioners have agreed to join other property owners and put a sewer in this section of the town.

TUESDAY OCT. 28.—Case of State vs. Peter Hazard, charged with malicious destruction of property. Court trial, verdict guilty. Fined $10.00 and costs.

State vs. Mrs. Harry B. Latham, charged with selling whiskey, 2 cases. Jury trial, verdict guilty in one case, and recommended to mercy of court. Acquitted in 2nd case.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 29.—The case of Numsen & Co. against Rufus F. Parks, was taken up and a jury empanelled as follows: T. W. Eliason, Wm. Wagner, Samuel Vannort, Samuel Hicks, Wm. R. Aldridge, Geo. H. Watts, Dr. G. A. Jarman, Alday Clements, John M. Comegys, Louis C. Ayres, John McKee, Jr., P. A. M. Brooks. H. P. Gorter, of Baltimore, and H. H. Barroll represented the plaintiffs, and H. W. Vickers and R. D. Hynson the defendant. Numsen & Co. sued Parks for causing George Venable, his tenant, to violate a contract for the delivery of tomatoes.

R. F. Parks against Mrs. Allie Bramble, wife of George Bramble. Action for store goods furnished at Fairlee, amounting to $125. Hynson for plaintiff, Barroll for defendant. The court instructed the jury to find for defendant, and the case was nolle pros.

The Bosley vs. Davis case was next taken up, H. H. Barroll appearing for Bosley and R. D. Hynson for Davis. This is the noted peach brandy case, in which Sheriff John C. Davis was directed by Attorney Barroll to seize and sell certain personal property of E. H. Strong, among the same being a lot of peach brandy which was locked up in a room of Mr. Strong's cellar, and which Mr. Strong claimed to be protected by U. S. bonded laws. The sheriff refused to break into the said wareroom, and is sued for failure to secure and sell the same.

FRIDAY, Oct. 31.—Jury in Parks case returned into court and being unable to agree were discharged.

The peach brandy case was concluded. The Court did not allow the case to go to the jury but gave judgement for the defendant. Judge Martin in delivering the opinion stated that it would have required considerable courage to break into that bonded warehouse and that the Sheriff was right in refusing to do it.

EVENTFUL DAY AT ST. JAMES

The Beautiful Edifice Dedicated—Dr. Murray President Little and Pastor Makoskey Address the Congregation.

Sunday, October 26, was an eventful day in the history of St. James Methodist Protestant Church, the congregation of which is made up of some of Kent county's most intelligent, industrious and lovely men and women. This church is located about six miles from Chestertown and its new tower rises loftily in the midst of a flourishing agricultural community telling in silent language of Him who is able to save.

For many years the church has stood in need of renovation but the way did not seem to open until at the present time, when under the strenuous pastorate of Rev. E. C. Makoskey this work was begun and brought to a glorious climax on Sunday when the new edifice was dedicated to the use of God and to the promotion of His work among men.

The church was crowded Sunday morning when the venerable and beloved Dr. John J. Murray preached the opening sermon. Dr. Murray was the first pastor of old Kent circuit sixty years ago and beautifully referred to his first mission at St. James. His text was "But God forbid that I should glory, save in the CROSS of our Lord Jesus Christ," and the manner of his delivery and substance of his sermon greatly pleased everyone. Dr. Frank T. Little, president of the conference, was present and did the soliciting in his unique style, the contributions during the day amounting to nearly $1100, leaving a balance of $500.

The music of the day was under the direction of Mrs. J. P. Nicholson, organist, with the following choir, viz., Mrs. J. Walter Skirven, Mrs. C. Romie Skirven, Mrs Chas. Crew, Misses Mattie Taylor, Arsula Moffett, Ella French, Mrs. Willie Edwards, Mrs. Emma Gale. Messrs. J. P. Nicholson, Jesse H. Usilton, Romie Skirven, Geo. French, Charles H. and Warren Hurlock. Mr. C. H. Hurlock's solo "Love, Honor and Praise," was a feature of the morning program and at night Miss Eva Hurlock rendered sweetly the solo "Pilot Me."

The building committee consisted of Messrs. Samuel Vannort, Thos. J. Willis, Wm. Morris, J. P. Nicholson Jos. R Usilton, J. Walter Skirven with a special committee of ladies consisting of Mrs J. P. Nicholson, Mrs. Walter Morris, Miss Sadie Morris. So great have been the architectural changes that the structure is practically a new building, Gothic in style, with tower vestibule, slate roof, new inclined floor, steel ceiling, opalescent glass memorial windows, new octagonal recess pulpit, carpets and chandeliers, making it one of the handsomest churches in the county. The improvements cost nearly $4,500. Among the main features of the improvements are the lovely memorial windows in memory of the pastor, Rev. E. C. Makoskey; Dr. J. J. Murray; Superintendent Sam'l Vannort; by choir in memory of Wm. Vannort and wife, Daniel Hanes and wife; Robert Nicholson and wife; John T. Skirven and wife; Joseph Usilton and wife; John Gale and wife; Lewin Usilton and wife; Mrs. Laura A. Nicholson; Isaac Parsons; Wm. Morris and wife.

The contractors were Messrs. Stayeley & Bowers; decorating and frescoing by the Penn Mental Ceiling & Roofing Co; painting by Wm. L. Fowler; Taylor & Wests, plasterers and masons; windows from Gernhardt Co., Baltimore; pulpit furniture and benches from Grand Rapids School Furniture Works. The parsonage fence has been repainted and the whole property is a credit to the pastor, the committee and to all who joined in its consummation.
