He had better be summarily dealt with when the Chicago convention meets, for he is a disgrace to the party to which he claims allegiance.

In 1876 Tammany Hall fought Tilden'r nomination to the bitter end at St. Louis, and declared that he could not carry New York. In 1880 Tammany was perfectly satisfied with Hancock. Tilden carried New York city by 53,969 and the State by 32,-745 majority. Hancock had only 41,285 majority in the city, and lost the State by 21,032. These figures are worth posting.

If one of the deputy commanders found an inefficient man he must discharge him. It was the duty of the deputy commanders to make the service efficient. They owed this to the State, to their party and the administration. Treasurer Compton stepped forward and said that he endorsed every word the Governor had said. Comptroller Turner also gave his assent and said the tone of the force must be raised.

---Mr. Tilden Names His Heir.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 2.—The Eyening Journal has the following report of an interview with Samuel J. Tilden: On Sunday afternoon Mr. Tilden and Andrew H.
