VICTORY! VICTORY!

Old Kent Rolls Up a Big Democratic Majority for Every Man on the Ticket—Republicanism Repudiated By a Flattering Majority.

DIXON LEADS THE TICKET!

Morris and Hadaway Go in Court House—Davis, Loud and Dudley Join Ayres in the Commissioners' Board, While Simpers, Nicholson and Morris Will Grace the Orphans' Court Bench—Wm. W. Beck Has a Walkover for State's Attorney—It is Now Senator Garrett Foxwell and Legislaturemen Atkinson and Gibbs.

It was a grand victory in which every Democrat can rejoice. The day was ideal. Nature seemed to smile benignly upon the Democrats and join with them in celebrating the triumph. The rank and file was in excellent shape, while the leaders never worked harder nor more effectively. Nearly a full vote was polled—within five in one district and only 19 in each precinct of Chestertown. The negro was better schooled in voting than the whites and in the "black belt" there was but one ticket thrown out for defective marking! In some distrlcts the Democrats suffered most. The negroes turned out solidly and were true to their color. Democrats who had not voted for some time joined their fellows in the fight on the negro issue. The Democrats have won, and now it is the bounden duty of the party to carry out its pledges to the white people of Maryland and to protect the oyster industry to our people.

We are pleased to note the absence of liquor from the polling places. Indeed, the whole campaign has been free from this great curse. It evidencos an enlightened and improved sentiment and is a token of better citizenship.

To the Democratic leaders of the districts the NEWS takes off its hat and says: "Well done, thou good and faithful servants." To the Democratic voters it takes off its hat and says: "The victory is yours; may ye live long and prosper."

Here are the pluralities of the Democratic and Republican precincts:

WARFIELD WINS!

CARRIES THE STATE BY 10,000 TO 12,000 MAJORITY.

The Democrats Carry Nearly Every County on the Eastern Shore—Also Several on the Western Shore, Among Them Mr. Williams' County, by a Majority of 300—The Legislature Will be Overwhelmingly Democratic, Insuring the Election of a United States Senator.

Maryland is in the hands of the Democrats for four years more, and the people should be glad. The Democrats carry three of the four legislative districts of Baltimore city and 16 of the 23 counties. The majority in the Legislature will be the largest for many years, being more than a two-thirds majority of each house. Of 15 Senators elected the Democrats get 12 and the Republicans 3.

The Legislature will be as follows: Senate, 19 Democrats and 8 Republicans. In the House 70 Democrats and 31 Republicans.

To propose an amendment to the Constitution requires a three-fifths vote in each house of the General Assembly, and this the Democrats will have in the next Legislature for the first time in many years.

A feature in the election is the success of the Democrats in every county on the Eastern Shore, except Dorchester, and in that county several of the local Democratic candidates are elected. In Mr. Mudd's Southern Maryland district every county is Democratic except Calvert and Charles, and complete returns have not yet been received from the former. In Charles one Democratic official is elected, and the size of the Democratic majority in Anne Arundel surprised both parties. The defeat of Senator McComas' candidate for the State Senate and a portion of the delegation to the House was also a surprise and a severe blow to the Senator.

The Republicans accept the result this time without the cry of fraud, and the majority is such as to leave no loophole for a contest. The battle of the Democrats was waged upon the negro issue, and Republican leaders admit that it was this argument that told against them the most in this campaign. Their defeat is further attributed to: First, disaffection in the party ranks in the city; second, lack of a compact organization in the counties; third, failure at the last moment to obtain an adequate amount of money, and fourth, the injection into the campaign of the personality of President Roosevelt, thus giving the Democrats the opportunity to create another effective issue. As is natural, there is now much bitterness between the factions, and accusations of treachery are being freely made.

On the Democratic side, with the single exception of Mr. Warfeld himself, there was not one of the party leaders who anticipated as sweeping a victory as has been won. That they would control the Legislature and that the city ticket would be elected there was never any doubt upon the part of the managers, but the extent of Warfield's majority exceeded their expectations. It did not, however, exceed Mr. Warfield's. From the start he looked for a landslide, and his closest friends say he has never entertained a suspicion that he would not be elected.

The success of the Democrats, in addition to giving them control of the General Assembly and of the many offices under the Governor and in the city courts, means also the re-election of Mr. Murray Vandiver as State Treasurer and the election of a Democratic United State's Senator to succeed McComas. There are now in the field three aspirants, and it is believed that the contest for this—the chief prize—will be of almost historic fierceness.

The vote in the State for Governor follows:

	Warfield. (Dem.)	Williams (Rep.)
