HALLOWE'EN RUMPUS!

A Gala Night for the Young People—Corn, Flour, and Beans Thrown Everywhere.

Tuesday night was a typical Hallow'een in Chestertown. Never before was the day so thoroughly recognized and the town given over to the celebration. No public demonstration or parade took place, but the children took full possession and did as they pleased. College boys at 10 o'clock masqueraded through the town and left many a bridge and door step out of place. The most comical characters were the negroes who wended their way from their hall with faces besmeared with flour.

A delightful party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewin U. Skirven, near town, Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of St. James Church. Jack O'Lanterns, Ghosts, &c., were to be seen on all sides. A large crowd was present and enjoyed the entertainment. Misses Nicholson, Julia Burchinal, Sara Hessey, Mary Sheridan, May Usilton and others comprised the committee of arrangements.

Miss Dorothy Vickers gave a unique Hallow'een party Saturday evening at her home, Lauretum Place, to a large company of her playmates. Miss Rose Vickers also entertained a few friends the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gale Usilton entertained a large company of children Tuesday evening at their home near town.

A jolly party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark, Lynch's, last Tuesday. The maskers were well disguised and enjoyed a pleasant evening. Among those present were: Misses Fidellia Herting, Sara Copper, Ruth Copper, Daisy Jones, Annie Jones Daisy Knoblett, Florence Knoblett, Maple Kerman, Sally Clark, Maggie Clark, Ella Fowler, Olevia Carroll, Bessie Cooper, Bertha Skagg, Mable Skagg, Ida Biggers, Ethel Biglow, Lillian Melvin, Myrtle Clark, Olga Simonds, Lillian Clark. Mr. and Mrs. Phoneas Clark, Mr. and Mrs. M. Sinomds, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Herting, Mr. and Mrs. W. D, Clark, Mr. and Mrs. F. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Kerman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cranor. Messrs. Herman Kernann, Lou. Herting, Leonard Mann, Pernel Jones, Frank Jones, Archibald Simond, Warren Simond, Roy Simond, Charley Jones, Frank Betton, John P. Bramble, John Bramble, Merit Coleman, Harry Jones, Mayton Taylor, Won. Copper, Addie Fowler, Ellawood Bramble, Jim Nucome, Louis Parsons, Chas. Herting.

CONFISCATING NETS!

Game Warden Peters, of near Rock Hall, caused quite a sensation among the fishermen of Tolchester and vicinity the past week by confiscating nets, both pound and stake. He offered to return the nets provided the owners would come and get them! The fishermen, however, saw the trap and did not go near. They, however, found where the nets were hid and under the cover of night secured their nets!

FOUND ON ROADSIDE!

Mr. David Cannon, while returning from Masseys to Chestertown Wednesday, stopped his team on the Morgnec road, near Mrs. M. E. Bryan's farm, in order to let his horses rest. While kicking about the grass on the roadside in search of a rabbit he spied a neat bundle. Upon opening it a white infant was found therein! The babe was wrapped in book leaves and had evidently been there about a week. Mr. Cannon reported the case to the proper authorities.

NEW CORN REACHES 50 CENTS A BUSHEL

High Market Reached Saturday When Offers Were Freely Made for November Delivery

The local grain market took a substantial rise Saturday when 50 cents a bushel was freely offered for corn for November delivery. The day before, it was selling for 47 cents and 48 cents a bushel. The rise was not due to the scarcity of corn but from the fact that the crop of old corn is short and that the new corn is needed to mix with it. After this necessity is met it is probable that the price of new corn will seek its natural level. The crop generally speaking is very large but in this vicinity it is slightly short of a year ago, aproximately estimated at from 10 to 15 per cent. It is said that between 30,000 and 40,000 bushels have been sold in this vicinity for November Delivery.

A farmer near town shipped a cargo to Baltimore Tuesday and got 58 cents per bushel!

A CAR FAMINE.

Kent County Grain Shippers Handicapped by Lack of Cars in Which to Ship Corn, Wheat and Pears.

It has been many years since the present condition of stagnation in freighting has been equalled. Corn buyers and sellers have been telegraphing and begging for cars for a month past and many contracts have been broken because of the lack of means in which to carry grain. One farmer at Masseys sold his wheat last September and no car has been gotten yet to carry it.

The custom of the Pennsylvania Railroad is to charge other roads twenty cents per day for cars for the first month and $1 per day thereafter. This charge, however, did not cause the holders of the cars to return them promptly, and a few weeks ago a new order went into effect by which the charge was increased to $2 per day!

The Pennsylvania R. R. has given an order for 36,000 new freight cars!

WEDDING EVENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. McWhorter who were married at Epiphany P. E. Church, Washington, by Rev. Albert Ware, returned from their wedding trip Saturday and are at the Voshell House for the present. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Resse, Morgnec, and taught school at Rock Hall. The groom is the hustling cross-street liveryman and both are popular here and elsewhere.

Mr. Daniel Reed, son of Mrs. Georgia Reed, of Chestertown, and Mrs. Clara Eliason, of Washington, D. C., were married last week and returned Saturday from a trip to Niagara Falls and elsewhere. They will reside in Washington where Mr. Reed is employed as engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mr. Reginald Constable and Miss Rebecca Steel Evans were married in Elkton Wednesday. Mr. George Vickers, of Chestertown, was one of the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson B. Foard, of Middletown, Del., have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Adelaide Jefferson Foard, to Mr. William Sterling Evans, of Elkton, on Thursday evening, November 9th, 1905, at St. Anne's Episcopal Church, Middletown, Del., at 6 30 o'clock.
