AND EASTERN SHORE ADVERTISER.

Saturday Evening, March 5, 1825.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

The "Convict Ship" and "Lines to an absent Friend," are on file for insertion.

"Alonzo's" Communication, is calculated to give offence to a large and highly respectable class of the community—it is therefore inadmissible.

THE CABINET.

We have already stated that Mr. Adams had expressed a wish, to continue Mr. Crawford in his present station, but that he had refused. It was afterwards offered to De Witt Clinton, who prefers his present honorable post. We think it probable, that either Mr. Cheves or Mr. Rush, will succeed the present Secretary of the Treasury.

General Jackson has been offered the War Department, but will not accept it

There is no doubt, but Mr. Clay will be Secretary of State, and Mr. Southard continued in the Navy Department.

The present Attorney General, will, it is believed, also be continued.

Congress.—There is a good deal of that light legislative banter now on the floor of Congress, that indicates the return of good humour and pleasant feelings. A Baltimore paper states that a motion has been made to allow to the State of Virginia, interest which she had paid on sums borrowed for the United States during the last war. This brought up the Massachusetts claims, and the mention of this claim brought the Hartford convention into debate. Mr Livingston, having in the course of the discussion changed his seat, remarked that he had assumed a geographical position between the ancient dominion and the land of steady habits. During the course of the debate, the claims of New York and of Maryland, as well as of Massachusetts, were brought into view, and it seemed to be the opinion of the House that these would have been allowed, had they been provided for in separate bills; but the House refused to consider them when introduced as amendments to a bill providing for the payment of a debt due to the State of Virginia. This mode reminds us of a law once passed establishing a Judiciary in the State of Rhode Island, to which a proviso of another act had strayed and attached itself. The act went on with suitable gravity to establish the powers of the Court—the Judges—their salaries—their terms, &c.—after which came this proviso, that "nothing in this act contained, shall prevent his Excellency the Governor from building a fort on Mud Island."

Rumors.—It is rumored that our great folks at Washington, have lately been quite quarrelsome—that Mr. John Randolph has challenged Mr Webster, and General Scott has challenged General Gaines.

Judge Marshall.—It is stated in a southern paper, that Chief Justice Marshall, contemplates retiring from the bench of the Supreme Court after the present session.

Jew Bill.—The Jew Bill has failed in the House of Delegates, of this State.—The votes stood 30—30. It is said however, that it was again called up in the Senate, and passed the house, by a majority of one.

U. S. Senator.—General Wm Marks has been elected by the Legislature of Pennsylvania to succeed Mr. Lowrie in the Senate of the Union.

Adjournment of the Legislature.—The Legislature of Maryland adjourned on Saturday night last, after passing 208 Laws. In our last paper, we gave a list of them, from No. 1 to 113, inclusive. The remainder will be found in a succeeding column.

Loss of U. S. Sch'r Ferret.—The U. States schr. Ferret, was lost on the 4th ult. off the port of Canacee, about twenty miles west of Matanzas.—Five of her crew were drowned—John Gregory, Peter Wheeling, George Gordon, Stehen O'Conner, and Joseph Campbell.

Another new thing.—A law has been introduced into the Senate of New York, prohibiting the erection in that state of any Theatre within a certain distance of any christian church!

Indian Treaty.—A curious fact has come out, that a Treaty concluded with the Indians in Mr. Jefferson's time, and carried into effect, was never submitted to the Senate for ratification, and no vestige of it is found in the public archives. Mr. Jefferson, in a letter on the subject, recognizes the copy now produced by the Indians, as genuine, and attributes the omission to neglect.—It's odd.

Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.—A bill confirming the Virginia and Maryland act, for incorporating a Canal Company, has passed the House of Representatives—ayes 116, nays 34.

In the youthful State of Ohio, a resolution has passed the legislative body to construct a canal from the mouth of the Scioto river to Lake Erie, the whole length of which will be, when completed, three hundred and twelve miles. The State has assumed the whole charge and responsibility of this gigantic undertaking. Let gentlemen talk of the dissolution of our government; if they please, rivers are made to change their courses for the preservation of the American Republic—if that is not an evidence of permanency, we know not what further testimony can be given. The causes of separation furnished by nature herself are removed, and converted into bonds to link together the different members of the American confederation.

We learn from the Nantucket Inquirer, that the Secretary of the Navy has instructed Com. Hull to send one of his vessels to Muldgrave Islands, for the objects mentioned in the memorial lately presented to the President from sundry persons engaged in the whale fishery.

Foreign Intelligence.

FROM INDIA.—The captain of the British ship Jane, arrived at new York, from Calcutta, states, that the Burmese war in India was believed to be nearly at an end. Information had reached Calcutta in the end of Aug. that every thing was quiet at Ragoon, that the inhabitants who had left the place were returning, and that they appeared disposed to submit to the government of the English. A second expedition had been sent from Bombay against the refractory Arabs near Camfida, they amounted to 3000 disciplined troops, and were commanded by a Turk and two Englishmen. The interior between Mocha and Senna continued in a state of blockade.

PERNAMBUCO.—A few days before the James and Mary (arrived at Philadelphia,) left Pernambuco, a priest was shot, and on the 20th of January an officer was hung, by order of the emperor. They were both of the political party opposed to Don Pedro; and about twenty of their companions confined in prison, were to be executed in a short time.

On the 16th of January, a transport arrived from Rio de Janeiro, bringing back all the prisoners that Gen. Lima had sent there from Pernambuco. His superiors said "Pernambuco was the place for their execution." They were shortly to be landed, and would probably all be executed as the emperor appeared determined to spare none that fell into his hands.

The New York Evening Post contains the official account of the overthrow of the Spanish army on the plains of Guamangullia. This account, is peculiarly animating, because in the opinion of the hero Bolivar himself, who possesses the best means of intelligence, it puts an end to the struggle altogether. So effectual and so complete does he regard the victory—that he considers it unnecessary for the government of Colombia, the ally of the Peruvian republic, to make further sacrifices in her cause, and he officially informs the Commandant General of Panama, that if further reinforcements are about to be sent from Colombia, or if any more should be received for that purpose—that their presence will be dispensed with, as the late victory has rendered them unnecessary. This then is an assertion of the fact from the highest authority, that Peru is capable of maintaining hereafter her own independence—that she refuses all foreign assistance against the troops of the Spanish King. The contest is then at an end; for none of the allied powers are allowed to afford succour to the King of Spain in his expedition against his revolted provinces since by so doing they would incur the hostility of the English navy. The proof therefore that the republic of Peru is, from the date of this victory not only independent, but is also capable of maintaining her independence, is now so strong that it may be called not moral proof, but mathematical.

LATE ELECTION.

MR. ADAMS' CABINET.

Since our conjectures relative to the new cabinet were in type, a friend has handed us the Washington Gazette of the 25th ult. from which we extract the following.

Rumor has been for some time busy in assigning to the President elect, different gentlemen as members of his Cabinet. We hear to day, and give credit to the report, that the several Departments will be filled in the following manner:

Henry Clay of Kentucky, Secretary of State.—Richard Rush, of Pennsylvania, Secretary of the Treasury.—James Barbour, of Virginia, Secretary of War.—Samuel L. Southard, of New Jersey, Secretary of the Navy.

Whether the present Attorney General is to remain in office or not, we have not understood. It is probable however, that he will.

WILLIAM H. CRAWFORD.

The Geo'town Metropolitan of Tuesday last, says—This distinguished and excellent man has lately had continual levees. For the last few days his house has been literally thronged with visitants. citizens and others, who came to pay their respects and take leave of him.—His consistent and virtuous conduct throughout, political and moral, has challenged the admiration even of his enemies. Mr. C. is about to exchange in a few days the toil of office for the sweets of retirement and private life, and he will take with him as large a portion of the good feelings of the community, as any other of our worthy patriots have ever received.

CARLISLE, Feb. 17.

Village News.—Since information of the result of the Presidential Election was received in this place, on Friday last, scarce a night past that has not been noted by blazing tar barrels, boxes, &c. and we understand that on one occasion, a Goat was to be offered up in honour of the occasion, but was prevented by the absence of the animal, intended to be sacraficed, from its usual place of retirement.

On Monday evening last, we witnessed a most solemn and imposing spectacle the funeral obsequies over, as stated, the political remains of Henry Clay esq. A transparent coffin, large as life, was born on the choulders of four carriers, and surrounded by pall bearers, and bearing on one side the inscription "Political Death of Henry Clay" and on the other "Reward of Corruption"—it was preceeded by a Chaplain and two clerks, and followed by a number of villagers, two and two, over the whole was waving a flag bearing the inscription "Rotation Office." The procession moved with solemn step to the martial fife and drum through the principal streets of the borough, and in the end the coffin was interred in a blazing barrel in the public square, and the crowd dispersed.

We mention these thingsmerely to sustain the character of faithful journalists,and not from any politicalor personal motives.—Herald.

We are mortified to perceive a statement in the Pittsburg Democrat, that the effigy of Mr. Clay had been burnt in that city. Such acts do no injure the person against whom they are levelled—they speak in this age, a miserable uncultivated mind.

The British government brig Chebucto, Comdt. Potter, in this port, paid a compliment yesterday to the President elect, by displaying signal flags and firing a salute.—Boston paper.

Yesterday there were three grand salutes fired, of one hundred guns each, at morning, noon and sunset, in commemoration of the choice of the Hon. John Q. Adams to the first office in the gift of a free and enlightened people.—Ib.

Upon the receipt of the news in Providence, R. I. of the election of Mr. Adams, the bells of the churches were rung, and in the evening, there was a brilliant illumination of the lofty edifices in Market square and its vicinity.

On the 15th inst. a large number of the Citizens of Trenton, New Jersey and vicinity, advocates of the election of JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, partook of a sumptuous dinner at the Rising Sun Tavern, in honour of his election to the Presidency—The centre of the table was graced with a large Pumpkin Pye, measureing 4 ft. by 2. On the evening of the 17th, a Tea Party for the Ladies at the Mansion House Hotel, was given in honor of the same event. The assemblage was very large.

When the news of Mr. Adams' election to the Presidency reached Fayetteville, North Carolina, a salute of 13 guns were fired in honor of the 13 states which voted for him.

At a meeting of the Hickory Club of Easton, Pa. the following among other resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we do solemnly pledge ourselves, never, either directly or indirectly, to promote the election of Henry Clay to any office in the nation, either civil or military.

Resolved, That the members of the Club, wear crape on the left arm for six months, as expressive of their deep regret for the death and burial of the virtue, liberty, and independence of these United States.
