Democratic State Ticket.
For Governor:
ELI H. E. JACKSON, of Wisconsin county.
For Comptroller:
LOUIS VICTOR BAUGHMAN,
of Frederick county.
For Attorney General:
WILLIAM PINKNEY WHYTE, of Baltimore City.

SENATOR JACKSON, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Maryland, lives in an elegant mansion on Salisbury with his wife and five children.

MRS. CLEVELAND is universally popular. The Republicans are trying hard to run her for the Presidency, but Grover cannot be switched off in that way.

"OUR NEW NAVY" will be described and illustrated in the September number of the American Magazine by Lieut. W. S. Hughes, U. S. N. From the accurate details of the new ships, the reader will be enabled to judge for himself how far they may serve in solving the problem of our naval defence.

"IT WILL be impossible to defeat Grover Cleveland in the next campaign," said General Clinton B. Fisk, the New Jersey prohibition leader, at St. Paul on Thursday, "and it makes no difference whom the Republicans may put up against him, be it Blaine or Sherman. His administration has been a most successful one in every respect and has incurred more to the prosperity of the country than would have been the case with Mr. Blaine in the White House.

ALWAYS in a hopeless minority when a State ticket is voted for, our Republican friends appear to have been thrown deeper into the gulch of despair, by the action of the Democratic convention, and are now flourishing in the anguish of party spirit. They have no available candidates for Governor. Mr. Walter Brooks, a business man of Baltimore, has been mentioned for the nomination, but what vote would he, compared with the unknown throughout the State, and lacking the ability physically and mentally to make an active canvass, poll in opposition to the prestige of Jackson? Hon. Francis M. Daily is also named in connection with the office. He is doubtless better fitted to make the canvass, but at best his fight would be only a forlorn hope—one which, it is useless to add, would never be realized. The Republican opposition will only serve to draw out the Democratic votes.

THE superstitions feeling regarding "Guiteau's curse" has been revived by the recent attempt of Charles Keel, his counsel at the famous trial, to commit suicide in New York. When sentence was pronounced upon Guiteau he called down the curse of God upon everybody who had been connected with his trial, and prophesied that all of them would speedily come to ruin or death. It so happened shortly thereafter that a number of people who had borne some relation to the trial began to fall away until now only a few of them are left, and of those who are left all are said to have met with continued hard luck since Guiteau's execution. Of course, it is quite natural for the ignorant to trace these things directly to the "curse" of the maniac murderer, but it may be safely assumed that they have been due to entirely natural causes and would have so occurred even had Guiteau omitted his famous anathema from the closing scene of his trial.

Professor Byrn, Gentlemen. It is said that Dr. Bryan will not accept the Presidency of the Maryland Agricultural College, and the board of Governors and visitors of that institution are still looking for a suitable man for the responsible position. As a man eminently fitted to fill the vacancy, we suggest Prof. Chas. W. Byrn, principal of the Denton Academy. Prof. Byrn has gained a more than local reputation as an educator. Having made teaching his life work, he has, by close study, joined with a natural aptitude and love for the work, perfected himself in the profession. Possessed of rare executive ability and the peculiar faculty of making the class-room interesting as well as instructive, he has made the Denton schools a model of discipline, thoroughness and scholarly advancement. He holds a prominent position among State educators and the papers read by him before educational conventions are always among the most instructive. Gentlemen of the board, we recommend Prof. Byrn, and should he be elected we bespeak for the college new life and a progressive career.

Senator Jackson. In personal appearance, as I have said, Mr. Jackson much resembles the late General Grant. His height is about five feet, eight or nine inches, and he weighs about 160 pounds. His face is moderately full, and its expression is quiet and mild. His eyes are brown and rather penetrating. His hair and whiskers are gray. The latter cover his face and are trimmed short. His frame is of moderate size, but appears hardy and well-knit, like that of a man who has been used to the out-door exercise of the country. A limp in his gait, the result of rheumatic affection, detracts somewhat from his appearance of physical hardihood. He always dresses very plainly, but neatly, and the only ornament of any pretension about him was a gold and platinum locket, set with diamonds.

Senator Jackson is not a volatile man, but he talks shrewdly and to the point. In our discussion of men and things we turned upon the South, and his apparent confidence in it as the section of the future. Birmingham, Alabama, he thought, had had the best part of its boom, but the lumber-bearing sections of that State he considers as having only begun to develop in value. He described, with a good deal of humor, a visit paid by himself and wife to Birmingham when the town first began to grow. Appropos of his recent purchase of lumber lands in Alabama, he said: "I learned some time ago that the government had 80,000 acres of timber land in Alabama which it desired to sell. The price asked was $1.25 per acre and I bought it. There is enough timber in the tract, it being heavily wooded, to last, with constant sawing by large mills, at least thirty or forty years. I will not commence to have it cut for several years to come, and I do not expect the tract to be entirely cleared so that it can be used for farming purposes during my lifetime."

This land he now estimates as worth $250,000, and he can sell at that price making him a net gain of by the transaction of nearly three quarters of a million. "The Senator is an enthusiastic believer in the waters of Bedford Springs, and has spent part of the present summer there with his wife, who is described to me as a lady of rare refinement and attainments, and to whom he seems tenderly attached.

To Equalize Taxation. From the Baltimore American. The committee appointed by the Maryland State Farmers' Association—Messrs. Edward Stake, of Washington county, chairman; Samuel Brooke, of Anne Arundel county; Thomas F. Shepherd, of Carroll county; J. L. Adkins, of Talbot county; Dr. R. C. Mackall, of Cecil county; and Henry C. Hallowell, of Montgomery county—met yesterday at Barnum's Hotel. They had been directed to prepare a tax bill to equalize taxation in the interest of agriculture. Mr. Stake prepared a bill, and the committee agreed upon a report to be submitted to the association, which it will be asked to recommend the legislature to adopt. The bill includes these provisions:

Section 1 provides that all taxes shall be levied upon the present valuation of property, and all necessary changes in valuation, instead of requiring the expenses of a general assessment, shall be made by the annual returns as provided for in section 5. Section 2 enumerates all the exemptions allowed, viz., schools for free education, places of worship, cemeteries not owned with a view to profit, public buildings belonging to the national government, the state and counties, all real estate to the extent of mortgages and other liens upon it, and provides for making the owners liable for the amount of taxes on property in the amount of the liens thereon. Section 4 sets forth in detail the property that is included under the terms "Real," "Personal," "Investments" and "Credits."

Section 5 makes provision for every person procuring a blank form for the tax collector, and making annual returns of all property and investments held by him or her in their own right, or in any fiduciary character. Section 6 and 7 provide for the revision of the returns by the county commissioners, with power to examine all persons as to the correctness of their returns, and to impose penalties upon all persons failing to make such returns. Section 8 fixes the principle of valuation for improvements on farming lands, to be charged only at their true agricultural value, and also fixes the principle of valuation for improvements on city and town lands. Section 9 provides for the collection of taxes on the stock in trade of persons who commence business after the levy. Section 10 provides for collecting taxes from all transient and traveling persons engaging in business in this State.

Section 11 makes provision for taxing the gross receipts of foreign corporations doing business in this State. Section 12 provides for the return to be made by manufacturers of the new material for the purpose of taxation. Section 13 gives the form of the blank to be used in making annual returns for the correction of the levy list. Section 14 gives the form of the blank to be used by corporations and joint stock companies in making returns for the purposes of taxation. Section 15, 16 and 17 provide in detail for the valuation of the property and collection of the taxes from corporations and joint stock companies. Section 18 provides for assessing and collecting taxes on the property of railroad companies. Section 19 makes null and void all contracts and covenants on the part of debtors to pay the taxes on mortgages and judgments held against them. The committee also had under consideration the principle of taxing the gross earnings of corporations which has been adopted in some of the States, and which they claim has worked very satisfactorily, as well as the graduated income tax passed by the New York legislature. This law imposes a tax of one per cent, on incomes over $3,000, two per cent, on incomes over $10,000, seven per cent, on incomes from $10,000 to $50,000, twenty per cent, on incomes from $50,000 to $100,000, and fifty per cent, on incomes over $100,000.

The President of the association will soon call another meeting to act upon the report. Like Martial Music. Ex-Gov. Whyte Interview. "I like the ticket as it stands for Governor and Comptroller. Jackson is a name which sounds like martial music to the democratic soldier. He is an honest man, a true and tried democrat, popular at home and honored abroad. No democrat will be ashamed of him. Col. Baughman is one of the best types of the young and vigorous democrat. He is a strong candidate, and will make a canvass which will be remarkable in the State."

Editorial Comment. From the Frederick Citizen. His incumbency of these positions and his natural executive ability gave him a comprehensive grasp of matters of State that qualify him eminently for such duties as the governorship demands. The convention work has been well done. The candidates nominated and the principles announced are above criticism. Washington Correspondent Ledger. Mr. Editor: Shake! How will Wilson, Jackson and Gibson do for the old Eastern Shore, or any other shore this side of the "Shining Shore?" as Dr. Melancthon Ruth would say: "The best is good enough." Wherefore, as I have intimated, let's shake all around!

From the Annapolis Record. We don't care who ran that convention, they managed to trot out three fine nags. They will run away with the Republicans on the 8th of November and smash their little machine all to shivers. From the Centreville Record. The ticket is an exceptionally strong one and we heartily endorse it, individually and collectively, and predict for it a large majority in the county, and triumphant election in the State. Kent News. The result of the Democratic State Convention is most happy, certainly from a partisan standpoint, and we believe will prove to the interest of whole commonwealth. From the Annapolis Republican. The entire ticket as put forth by the Democratic nominating convention commands the respect of the State and will receive the unqualified support of the Democratic party. From the Cecil Democrat. They are worthy in every way for the high places to which they ask the people to promote them. Salisbury Advertiser. The ticket is generally conceded to be one of the strongest ever made out by the party in the State. Prince George's Inquirer. The convention showed distinguished prudence and judgment in the result of its deliberations. From the Eastern Democrat. The ticket in all respects is as strong as could be made.

OUR BEST EFFORTS
Are being put forth to give you Better and Cheaper Clothing than ever before. You never complain of our prices being high (qualities considered) and we mean that you shall get the best for the money expended to be obtained anywhere. In Ready-made Clothing we search every where, that you shall have the most Stylish, Reliable and Well Made goods to be purchased, and by doing an immense trade for cash, we keep things constantly turning, and can do so at an extremely low percentage above cost. Our Custom Department is constantly increasing in size and efficiency, and we can now turn out more and better work than ever before. Old friends are making for us many new ones, and we cannot afford to permit any of them to be disappointed in any way.
