The Bouquet.

"MUCH YET REMAINS UNSUNG."

SONNET—THE BURIED MAID.

And they have laid thee in thy narrow cell,
Maid of the beauteous brow! for the cold clay
To be thy bridegroom, till the eternal day,
When the loud trump its judgment-peal shall swell
So be it—what the Almighty dooms is well.
But who that saw thine eye's bright glances play,
Thy cheek's fine flush that mock'd the bloom of May,
So late—could dream of death's dissolving spell?
To rapture Love had sung—"the blissful hour
Soon will I lead along with Hymen's train,
To bless the blushing virgin and the swain."
And Hope believed and lighted up her bower.
Sudden the scene was changed—the radiant flower
Sunk its sweet head, and love's glad song was vain.

Spoken extempore to a Lady, on being asked what this world is like.

This world is a prison in every respect,
Whose walls are the heavens in common,
The gaolar is sin, the prisoners men,
And the fetters are nothing but women.

The Miscellanist.

Mr. Giles.—It is perhaps known to most of our readers, that in the year 1807 Mr. Giles then a member of the United States Senate from the state of Virginia, moved for a temporary suspension of the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus—that under his auspices a bill to this effect was urged with great precipitancy through its several readings and finally passed that body. In the present electioneering contest, between Mr. Giles and Mr. Archer for a seat in the 20th congress, the part which the former gentleman took in the passage of this bill, has been exhibited to his constituents, much to his detriment. To relieve himself of the odium attached to this measure Mr. Giles in one of his speeches, before the public, stated that Wm. H. Crawford, Virginia's favorite, voted for this bill, and that he could show it from the journals of the Senate.

A writer in the last National Intelligencer, who signs himself North Carolina, and whose style we think we know, contradicts the assertion of Mr. Giles, and shows pretty clearly that Mr. Giles is strangely forgetful, or that he has libelled Mr. Crawford. North Carolina states that Mr. Crawford was not a member of the Senate until the succeeding session after Mr. Giles introduced his bill. The bill was passed in January, 1807, and Mr. Crawford took his seat in the Senate for the first time in December of that year. This he shows from the journals of the Senate.

England and America.—Our readers perhaps noticed yesterday, that the "King's most gracious Majesty" had been pleased to approve the wearing of the word "Bladensburgh" on the colours of his Majesty's Light Infantry Regiment. We would suggest that this be changed to the word "Washington," in commemoration of the signal respect shown there by the troops and officers of his Majesty, to the usages of civilized war; and also that his Majesty, in emulation of some royal artists, should embroider it on the colours with his own hands. It would be a sort of "sign manual," sanctioning this signal feat of the British arms—which is the more worthy of John Bull, as being right opposite to the practice of General Bonaparte,—for so my Lord Castlereagh's courtesy was pleased to call the man, who had occupied all the great capitals of the continent, and respected them all.

However, it will not do for us to grow serious, because a gracious king has written 'Bladensburgh' on his colours. They are not intended, we doubt, ever to affront us on our own soil, and will not be more mischievous, at all events, than the famous naval victory obtained over us on the—Serpentine.—[Balt. American.

A paragraph has been going the rounds stating that on the first night of Mr. Macready's appearance in this city, the Hon. DANIEL WEBSTER, received the cheers of the pit as he entered the box. This is true; and it is equally true that Capt. WALLIS, who was Lieutenant of the British frigate Shannon, when she captured the Chesapeake, off Boston harbour, also received the cheers of the same patriotic pit on the same evening. It cannot be that the Bostonians have forgotten this memorable engagement! The peals of the cannon struck heavily on many a heart.—Boston Statesman.

John W. Taylor, Speaker of the House is elected to Congress from New York, by a majority of over 800 votes, and Mr. Storrs is elected by upwards of 2000—they were both vehemently opposed.

Panama Mission.—The Norfolk Herald of Wednesday says—"The United States ship Hornet, Capt. Claxton, was towed down to Hampton Roads yesterday by the steam packet Norfolk, and proceeded immediately to sea, bound to Philadelphia, to take out Mr. Sergeant, our Minister to the South American Congress.

The United States ship Lexington, Capt. Shubrick, is expected shortly to arrive at Newport, with the remains of the late Commodore Perry. Preparations have been made for a public funeral celebration whenever they shall arrive, and a public invitation has been given, by the committee of the town, to all officers of the army and navy and to the civil and military officers of the state and vicinity to attend.

WILLIAM B. ROCHESTER, esq. Secretary of the Panama Mission, and the opponent of Mr. Clinton for the office of Governor of New York, is a native of Hagerstown, Maryland.

Mr. Miller, who for the last 3 years has most generously devoted his time and services to the Greeks, risking his life and sharing the hardships of the people of that country, without compensation, and with but scanty grovisions for his subsistence, arrived at this port from Smyrna yesterday.—Boston paper.

The Prairie.—Mr. Cooper, the American novelist, was at Paris, at the latest date. He had nearly completed his new work entitled, 'The Prairie. It was to be soon committed to the press in Paris, and to be issued there, simultaneously with the edition which Messrs. Cary and Lea are to print and publish here. The latter may be expected to appear a month or two from the present time.
[Nat. Gaz.

Port Gibson, Miss. Oct. 19.—A duel took place on Tuesday evening last at 4 o'clock, between Col. Jos. S. Gibbs, of this town, and Mr. Allison Ross, of Jefferson county. They fought with muskets, loaded with fifteen buck shot, at thirty paces distance. Col. Gibbs was wounded in the left hip, and in two places between his hip and knee, but met with no injury to the bone. Mr. Ross received a buck shot on the left breast, a little below the nipple, he did not fall but his wound is considered the most dangerous. The fires were exchanged within two seconds of each other—Mr. R's being the first, Mr. G. shot as he was falling. They fought on the Louisiana bank of the Mississippi, opposite the Grand Gulf. Maj. Walter M. Denny and Dr. D. D. Downing were the friend and surgeon of the former, and John M. Maury, esq. and Dr. Elias Ogden of the latter.

Improvement on the Churn.—After the numerous patent and improved churns, it may seem difficult to find any thing worthy of attention; I however have never met with the following, which, as it is simple and useful, may possibly be an acceptable hint to some of your readers in the country. Let the dasher of an ordinary churn with holes in it, have a second dasher placed above it, on the same handle, about four inches distance; a couple of pins will hold it in its place while in use.—This second dasher having no holes, the cream passing through the lower one strikes against it, and produces a great agitation, which saves much time in churning.

Maryland against the Union!—The Editor of this paper, has seen a letter received in Centreville from a respectable gentleman of St. Mary's county, in which it was stated, "that a farmer of St. Mary's raised this season, on one acre, (which has been gathered and measured) 124 bushels of corn!" and further—"that his field of 35 acres, will average 90 to the acre." We merely state this fact, to show our friends at a distance, what the farmers of Maryland can do, when they have a mind to try.—Centreville Times.

Beat this if you can.—Cabbage! three heads of cabbage have been raised by the Steward of the poor and house of employment of Lancaster county, severally weighing 27¼ 29¼ and 33½ pounds. Our neighbors may now bury their beets and radishes, and eat their fourteen inch apples!!!—Telegraph.

The property of Chabtchi, the rich Jew banker at Constantinople, lately seized, amounted to nearly sixty-nine millions piasters, or six million five hundred thousand dollars.

Greek Ships.—At a meeting of the citizens of Philadelphia, held on the 8th inst. Mathew Carey in the chair, a committee was appointed to 'report upon the expediency of opening a subscription throughout the Union, to raise funds for building or purchasing a vessel of war, and presenting the same to the Greeks to indemnify them for the loss of the one they have been deprived of by mismanagement at New York."

Effects of Vaccination on the Hooping-Cough.

To the Editors of the Liverpool Mercury:

GENTLEMEN,—Among your varieties, in your paper of yesterday, there is an article in which Dr. Archer, an American physician, states that the hooping cough can be cured by vaccinating the patients, thereby implying that he made the discovery. As I do not consider it quite fair in any person laying claim to what they have no right, I take the liberty of handing you a letter from the Director of the National Establishment, dated November, 1817, in which you will observe the acknowledgement that the effect of vaccination, upon patients laboring under hooping cough, was discovered by me. I am gentlemen, your obedient servant.

EDWARD FOX.

58 Seel st. Aug. 26, 1825.

[Doctor Fox, may dismiss his anxiety about his 'discovery,' for it has long since been 'weighed in the balance and found wanting'—in other words, the kine pock is neither a preventative nor a remedy for the hooping cough, though it is often a palliative.] 8

RANAWAY from the subscriber on the 12th inst. negro CHARLES, who calls himself Charles Auston, between 20 and 21 years of age, a tolerable well looking fellow, with a handsome set of teeth, and as he has been mostly raised with white people, his manners are pleasing and calculated to deceive any examiner. He took with him a yellow summer over jacket and trowsers and a suit of striped kersey, a pair of laced boots, and a fur hat but little worn. The above reward will be given if taken out of the state of Maryland, and secured so that I get him again, or 30 dollars if taken out of this county, and 20 dollars if taken in the county. NOTICE
TO BORROWERS.

A number of Books are missing from the library of the late William P. Ewing, among which are the following: A religious work entitled 'A Guide for Youth to steer by through life' written by a Bishop of England, bound in leather, and contains about 250 or 300 pages 'The life of Bounaparte' bound in boards. This book was presented to him by John Donovan, Esq. The 'History of Rome,' bound in leather—Wirt's 'Life of Patrick Henry," handsomely bound in leather, and gilt on the back; this work was presented to him, a few days before he was confined with his last illness, and was probably taken from the house while he was ill by some friend who visited him, with the intention of returning it, but who has forgotten to do so. The subscriber cannot give a more particular description of the books—his name was not written in any of them.

The person or persons, in whose possession the above named works may be, are requested, when they have perused them, to give me information that I may recover them, and they shall receive my best thanks.
