Democratic Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, GROVER CLEVELAND, OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, ALLEN G. THURMAN, OF OHIO.

ELECTORS AT LARGE, JAMES HODGES, HENRY PAGE.

DISTRICT ELECTORS, W. SCOTT ROBERTS, JAMES G. BERRET, WILLOUGHBY N. SMITH, L. GORHAM MOALE, R. C. COMBS.

FOR CONGRESS, CHARLES H. GIBSON.

DEMOCRATIC Mass Meeting.

The Democrats of Caroline county will have a mass-meeting at the Court House in Denton, on Tuesday, October 9, 1888, commencing at 2 o'clock, P. M. Candidate for Congress in this district,

HON. CHAS. H. GIBSON, HON. THOS. C. WEEKS, HON. HENRY PAGE, EDWIN H. BROWN, ESQ. and other speakers will be present.

By order of the STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE for Caroline county,

GOV. GRAY has not the least doubt that Indiana is safe for Cleveland.

The Republican tariff bill was submitted to the Senate this week.

COL. E. H. BROWN, the gifted young lawyer of Queen Anne, will address the Democrats next Tuesday.

AN UNUSUAL array of talented speakers will be present at the Democratic mass-meeting at the Court House next Tuesday afternoon. The names of Charles H. Gibson, Thomas C. Weeks, Henry Page and Edwin H. Brown are on the program and these gentlemen will all be present.

THERE will be an exceptional opportunity to hear fine oratory as well as a thorough discussion of the living issues of the campaign at the Democratic mass-meeting next Tuesday afternoon. See announcement of the Democratic State Central Committee elsewhere in this paper.

HON. CHAS. H. GIBSON will speak at length on the tariff question at next Tuesday's meeting. His time was limited at the Rigley meeting and this all-important issue could only be briefly dealt with. Those who attend the meeting next Tuesday may expect an able discussion of this living question.

IN SPEAKING of the probable successor of Internal Revenue Collector, Joseph K. Roberts, who died on Monday, the Baltimore American says: "Ex-Comptroller J. Frank Turner, of Talbot county, is also mentioned for the place, and his time on the Eastern Shore and Delaware are now in the internal revenue district, and he received credit for a good administration of the Comptroller's office, he may have some show for the place."

THE office pays a salary of $4,500, and gives the appointee of one hundred and three officials.

SENATOR GORMAN went to New York Tuesday night, and will probably remain there during the remainder of the week. He has about cleared up his senatorial docket, and from now until the close of the campaign he will work with his coat off and his sleeves rolled up. There were a few persons who were disposed to criticize him because he did not neglect his work in the Senate and take a more active part in the preliminary arrangements of the campaign. It has since been demonstrated that there was plenty for him to do, even from a party standpoint, in the Senate.

The Bel Air "Times" on Tariff. H. S. Mancha.

The Bel Air Times says the English can buy our cotton, pay freight both ways and then undersell us, because in free trade England they pay hardly anything for making it into cloth, while those who do the same work here are paid living wages. The Times had better read up some. It does not believe the report of James G. Blaine in 1881, and other Republican Secretaries of State at different times to the contrary, let him take the Republican United States census of 1880, turn to page 1124, vol. 2, and he will find that there is a big difference in wages paid to cotton operatives in this country. In Connecticut the average wages paid to officers and operatives is $255 per annum; in Michigan, $191 per annum; in North Carolina, only $146, average per year. Then by referring to Republican consular report No. 36, page 314, it will find that the wages paid in Manchester, England, run from $196, the lowest to $531, the highest per year; and on page 113, at Leeds, England, the lowest to boys and girls $116, up to $810, per annum, for men. Then, look at the note at the bottom of page 1124,

U. S. census of 1880, and it will find that the cotton used in many cases forms but a small part of the material. So by studying facts and statistics we learn that it is not the difference in wages, but this abominable tariff tax on everything entering in to many lines of our cotton products, that hampers us and gives England, with free plant, free chemicals, free dyes, etc., an advantage, (the under hold), and enables her to manufacture for us and for the world, and thus grow in wealth while we tax ourselves until we paralyze our most important industries. The Times will also see on page 1190 that all wages paid to manufacture cotton here is from 18 to 22 per cent. of the whole product, and yet the Mills bill leaves a tax of 30 per cent. on cotton goods about twice the amount of all the wages paid and still it calls it a free trade measure.

Its article on the woolen industries is (if possible) even more ridiculous. The Times must certainly be in a four must have a poor opinion of the intelligence of its readers.

Maryland Peaches for Mrs. Cleveland. From the Baltimore Sun. CHESTERTOWN, Md., Sept. 28.—Mr. Clayton L. Crew, son of Mr. Lewin Crew, of Worton, Kent county, recently sent Mrs. Cleveland a basket of Reeves peaches and received a few days ago the following letter:

Executive Mansion, Washington.—Mr. Clayton L. Crew, Worton, Md.—Dear Sir: Mrs. Cleveland's absence from Washington prevents her from acknowledging your recent letter and thanking you for the basket of choice peaches you recently sent us. We enjoyed them very much and appreciate the good will which prompted you to send them. Please accept our sincere thanks for your kindness, and believe me, very truly yours,

GROVER CLEVELAND.

A Representative House. It gives us no little pleasure to refer our readers to Oehm's Acme Hall advertisement elsewhere appearing in this issue. This firm occupies the most spacious clothing establishment in Baltimore and the South, and enjoys facilities and exceptional advantages possessed by no other house in the trade. Their reputation for fair and square dealing with the public, and for general liberality is widely extended; and their productions are the highest exponents of artistic skill and design.

The partners are active and energetic young men who are identified with many of the leading business enterprises, benevolent movements and Christian charities of the day. The senior member of the house, Mr. C. H. Oehm, is a Mason and a member of the Order of Heptasophs, and other similar organizations. It would be well worth the time taken to visit their immense stores whenever in Baltimore and observe the comforts and conveniences this great enterprise provides for its patrons and visitors.

Brother Jonah Blaine. There can hardly be a doubt that the Republican party in turning to Brother Blaine for help has again placed its destiny in the hands of its Jonah. The campaign was dull and apathetic before Brother Blaine arrived. Candidate Harrison was so completely smothered by the weight and size of his grandfather's hat that his identity was lost. All that he could do was to shake the hands of his fellow citizens of Indianapolis in an apologetic way, and make perfunctory remarks in reply to their congratulations. The campaign was a very dull and dragging one, but everything was to be changed when Brother Blaine, "the greatest living statesman," made his appearance on the stage.

The "greatest living statesman" has made his appearance, and the campaign is far livelier than the most impatient Republican could wish. Brother Blaine's word or not, that have not been constantly warning the people as to the possible danger of "trusts." Well, I shall not discuss trusts this afternoon. I shall not venture to say that they are altogether advantageous or disadvantageous. They are largely private affairs, with which neither President Cleveland nor any private citizen has any particular right to interfere.

Already there are quite a number of prompt Republican explanations of these Blaine's declarations. Col. Dudley, the man who bought up votes at $2 a head in Indiana, says that Brother Blaine "probably did not think about what he was saying." And yet if Brother Blaine has the Republican platform he ought to know that it condemns trusts.

Another Republican theory is that Brother Blaine is not aware of public sentiment in this country toward trusts. Nevertheless, he ought to know that trusts are the nature of a crime against the public.

Still another theory is that Brother Blaine, knowing the situation as only a cunning politician can know it, has taken this opportunity to run his North American jack knife between Candidate Harrison's ribs. If this was his purpose, he has succeeded admirably, for there is no honest American voter in this land but believes that Cleveland, as well as any private citizen, has the right to interfere with trusts to the extent of his ability.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Lament of Benjamin H. Oh, the people all are wondering if I'll ever take the jump. I feel myself a blundering I should be on the stump. And I started break and clipper, But I can't see much any way. I must double lock my lip, or they will see me. Mat's Query. This is not a Christian content; And he hypocrites and fools. I would like to traipse on Vest And the other rebel took. And because I love my neighbor, Say I was too much to say. But I mustn't talk cheap labor— Won't Please Mat's Query. Since Blaine's begun coveting, It's pretty plain to see. For himself that he's disporting, He's not so much to say. They are getting lots of money And spending by my way. But I'd rather lose the honey Than Not Down Boss Query. I'm a New York Graphic.
