A CITY LUXURY.

Just as the city looks to the country for most of the luxuries used on its tables, so the country must turn to the city for those conveniences which are justly termed luxuries for the hard-working housewife. City housekeepers have learned to realize that to save time is to lengthen life.

is one of the best known city luxuries each time a cake is used an hour is saved. On floors, tables and painted work it acts like a charm. For scouring pots, pans and metals it has no equal. IF YOUR STOREKEEPER DOES NOT KEEP IT YOU SHOULD INSIST UPON HIS DOING SO, as it always gives satisfaction and its immense sale all over the United States makes it an almost necessary article to any well-supplied store. Everything shines after its use, and even the children delight in using it in their attempts to help around the house.

Cast Your Eye Over This! A shopkeeper recommended a silk dress material to one of his fair customers: "Let me advise you to take a dozen yards of this silk. It is everlasting, and you can afterward make it into an undershirt."—Fliegende Blätter.

When cattle are kept in stalls and get no exercise their hoofs grow out like claws and have to be cut away. The cutting is a good deal more dangerous than paring an irascible old man's corners. Give the animals exercise and their hoofs won't grow to be claws.

Love.

Unless you can think the song is done, No other is sweet in the rhythm. Unless you can feel when left by one, The heart is never so lonely.

THE AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

Its Seventy-fifth Anniversary—What It Has Done—The Future. The American Bible Society has just completed a century of its existence. No one can look back over these years, and call to mind the perplexities that have attended the successful stages of the work, without a feeling of profound gratitude to the Divine Providence that has enabled the church, through its different organizations, to accomplish so much in the way of disseminating the Bible in almost every part of the world.

The Safe's Worst Enemy.

Some months ago correspondence was carried on by experts as to whether it was possible to open a safe by the aid of a blowpipe, using compressed oxygen. A man calling himself "Mr. Grant," of Antwerp, registered at a hotel in Hanover, the lower floor of which was occupied by the Bank of Saxony. He was accommodated with a room overhead. One fine morning "Mr. Grant" disappeared, and it was discovered that he had penetrated into the bank offices by breaking up the floor and descending by a rope ladder.

Seven Ways of Giving.

First—The careless way: To give something to every cause that is presented, without inquiring into the fitness of the gift. Second—The impulsive way: To give from impulse—as much and as often as love and pity and sensibility prompt. Third—The lay way: To make a special offer to earn money for benevolent objects by fairs, festivals, etc.

The Woman of Today.

Let others sing the praises of the Woman of the Past, Or praise the Woman of the Future coming fast; I bring my lyre for neither. No, I lift my little lay, And sing my song to celebrate the Woman of Today.

She Said It.

The modern system of advertising makes the public familiar with the names, and in some cases with the countenances of inventors and manufacturers, and so strong is the power of association that on meeting one of these much advertised persons as a private individual it is difficult for some persons to refrain from asking him instantly about the article to which his features seem to be only a sort of trademark.

One of A. T. Stewart's Tricks.

An old employee of the late A. T. Stewart, the millionaire dry goods merchant of New York, tells an instance which shows the means sometimes employed by that gentleman for enforcing the rules of his store. There was a rule to the effect that no person employed in the building should carry matches under the penalty of dismissal.

The Country and the City Boy.

It is said to be a singular fact that a country boy will succeed in the city and become a partner in our largest firms much oftener than a boy born in New York. The great secret of the success of the average country boy is his perfect willingness to be useful and to do what he is required to do and do it cheerfully, and, secondly, they do their work well. A city boy has many acquaintances, a country boy none, and the latter is not called to stop and talk when sent out by the merchant.

Charles Felton, the California Senator.

Charles Felton, the California Senator, is a New Yorker by birth, being a native of Erie county. He is sixty-nine years old. He went west with the Argonauts in '49, and though poor then, he is now a millionaire several times over.

Big Figures Accounted For.

Gas Man—Humph! Something queer about this meter. Do you see all those lamps standing there in a row? New Girl—No, indeed, sir, we don't use any. I guess they want me to leave 'em 'cause the meter tells me to leave 'em where you end see 'em.—Good News.

Against the Eight Hour Law.

"Merely me!" said Miss Passes, "I sincerely hope they will not pass the law making a day of eight hours." "Why not?" "Just think how rapidly we shall age! Just three times as fast!"—Harrisburg Bazar.

typical back country squire and rarely appears in society, preferring to live the life of a literary recluse. He is an Oxford graduate and a lawyer.

LOYALTY.

They live in the halls of the heroes— The world's Valhalla gray— True knights, who in storm and battle Flung the scabbard of life away.

THE INSTRUCTOR.

Not till we meet with Love in all his beauty, In all his solemn majesty and worth, Can we translate the meaning of life's duty, Which looms so dark in the night of our birth.

LITTLE SISTER.

Little sister, robed in white, With folded hands she lies, Smiling silence on her lips, And slumber on her eyes.

Empty Arms.

God's blessing on the stalwart arms That hold their labor out, And bear the burden of our sin, With cheerfulness and beauty.

A Prayer.

When care and sorrow round me roll, O Lord, my will control, And lead me to thy breast, Give me thy loving rod to know, To lean not on a reed below, But find in thee my rest.

Help me, my God, thy grace to gain.

The cooling of milk immediately after it is drawn from the cow is said to be of the greatest assistance in delaying fermentation, and it is thought to be the most practical method which can now be recommended.

Guy de Maupassant, the French author, is a man of forty, a cynic and a hypocrite. In manner he is eccentric and brusque, even toward women. In his literary work he is a prodigy of indigestion.

It is estimated that the production of the Pittsburgh district is 23,000 barrels a day, worth, at the present low price, $8,000,000 for the year, enough to pay 6 per cent. interest on an investment of $130,000,000.
