THE EXPENSIVE GOLD STANDARD.

The voters actuated by a patriotic desire to settle the momentous question of the present campaign in the interest of the larger number of citizens, will certainly inquire as to what class of citizens and their number compared with the whole, how and to what extent they will be benefited by the adoption of the bimetallic money standard promulgated by the Democratic platform; and whom the continuance of the single gold standard, as proposed in the Republican platform, will benefit, and their relative number. The first, because the largest, class to be considered are the tillers of the soil. They number nine millions of the fourteen millions of voters, and the statistics in the official report of the Department of Agriculture show that they produce in one year, even in these times of low prices, upward of $3,500,000,000 in cereals, cotton, sugar, hay, dairy products, etc., or more than seventy times as much as all the gold mines of the country produce in a year, and a hundred times more than the average annual product for a period of twenty years; or more than one and a-half times over the product of all the gold mines of the country from 1792 to 1895. To these people an appreciation of ten per cent. in the prices of their products—as the bitterest opponent of bimetallism predict will follow its adoption—will be a vast sum of money, and greatly lighten their now crushing burdens. The manufacturers of the country, whose business has been rendered unsafe by a descending scale of prices, will, on the other hand, by the ascending scale of prices which bimetallism will inaugurate, become safe and profitable, and once again will the spindles and the looms, the furnaces and the forges—which Republicans tell us are idle because of insufficient "protection" against foreign competition—will start up afresh and fully five million employes will be again actively at work in them. The retail merchants of the country cannot be prosperous while the price of the commodities they sell is constantly on the decline. Incidentally, the owners of silver mines will be benefited, and the producers of that metal will share in the general appreciation of prices, possibly more generously than other producers, but the industry is such a small one that the greatest rise that can be anticipated to bring the commercial value of silver to the ratio of 16 to 1 would not involve as large a sum of money as would the addition of one cent a gallon to the price of the milk produced in this country, and it is a very close race between the milk, butter and cheese products of a single year and products of all the silver mines of the country for the past hundred years. The largest output of silver in a year was $82,000,000, and the total amount mined up to July, 1895, was $1,332,849,900.

On the other hand, the single class to reap benefit from a continuance of the gold standard alone is the dealers in money, whose multiplied transactions do not add one cent to the nation's wealth. Who are reaping now where they have not sown; whose hoarded gold in its steady appreciation brings at least two per cent. per annum unearned premium, which every producer and every consumer indirectly helps to pay.

Altogether, the conclusion is not difficult to reach that the maintenance of the gold standard, as it has been, is a very costly luxury to the people who make the government and maintain it, and one for which those whom it benefits do not pay. Not only do the farmers of the land lose annually enough to run the government, but the land shrinks in value just in the same ratio as the gold increases. And worse still, the government is piling up on its slender foundation of gold a fabric of debt that is growing top-heavy. By the custom of redeeming money in vogue to-day there has been builded upon this twenty by twenty foundation of gold a story of gold certificates, greenbacks, and treasury notes, another of silver certificates, and lastly $262,000,000 of bonds, besides the $1,600,000,000 of previous indebtedness.

Every voter who feels that this alarming condition ought not to continue; who feels that he ought to be just to his farmer friends, and every farmer who is just to himself will vote for Bryan and Sewall, bimetallism and better prices.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A telegram from Lynn, Massachusetts, says the largest congregation ever seen at a Sunday service in any place of worship in that city assembled in Labor Church to hear Rev. Heber Casson, who delivered an address on the subject, "Who is the Anarchist, Bryan or Hanna?" Among other things the preacher said. "The laws of prosperity are to be discovered, not constructed. The real legislator for whom this nation waits is he who shall find and dare to proclaim the perfect social order foreordained by justice from the beginning of the world. The real Anarchist is he who seeks to violate the laws of nature for the exclusive benefit of a small fraction of the community. During the present campaign the epithet Anarchist has been hurled at the heads of some of the noblest and most capable men that this generation has produced. The fierce searchlight of publicity has blazed upon these men for years, and not a single corrupt official act has ever been discovered. Bryan is caricatured, just as Lincoln was, as a highwayman, as a pirate, even as the devil, and in many similar ways. Whether Bryan's political views are entirely correct or not, who can deny that he is a citizen of whom any nation in the world might boast? Whether we consider the sustained ability of his addresses, his gentlemanly endurance of slander and misrepresentations, his unsullied public career, or the magnetism of his unaffected cordiality to the sweat stained masses that greet him at every depot, we cannot avoid admiring him as a sturdy specimen of our American manhood."

Although the Republican platform recognizes the desirability of bimetallism, and in language the strongest pledges the organization to use its best efforts to attain the same by international agreement, not one suggestion has yet been made publicly by their campaigners which will convince anyone that they ever hope or expect to be able to carry out the promise. It would seem meet, we think everyone will admit, that in view of the positive renunciation of a single gold standard by the Republican platform some idea or plan should be forthcoming by which the consent or approval of other nations, which our Republican friends claim to be waiting for, can be obtained. All believe that England, the great creditor nation, stands in the way, because all nations owe her. If the dollars thus due continue to appreciate in value it will be but human weakness on the part of that country to continue to object to the double standard. Mr. Bryan, however, offers a suggestion that would at least, if followed by them, show the sincerity of his opponents, who say they are in favor of bimetallism. He advises that as in the Republican view this nation cannot move in the reform of its finances till Great Britain graciously gives the signal, at every Republican mass-meeting held anywhere during the campaign there be spread for signatures petitions to the British Parliament praying for England's formal legislative permission to the United States to readopt bimetallism.

The Denver Republican of recent date, published a copy of a letter which R. H. Kleinschmidt, a wealthy Helena banker, sent to the New York World, but which for some reason the World did not publish. The fifty-cent dollar cry has been pretty effectually knocked out already, but Mr. Kleinschmidt gives it it's final quietus: "I hereby authorize you to publish that I will make a contract for one hundred thousand dollars' ($100,000) worth of silver for which I will agree to pay one dollar and cents ($1.10) per ounce in United States gold coin, and to be taken as soon as W. J. Bryan, as President of the United States, has signed a coinage bill, which will provide for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio compared with gold at 16 to 1, and if any of those who are talking about 50-cent dollars desire this contract, and are willing to put up a forfeiture, I am prepared to secure this offer by a forfeiture of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000. I feel confident that I can arrange similar contracts among my circle of business acquaintances for twenty million dollars ($20,000,000) to be taken one million a month for 20 months after the signature of such a bill."

The next time you hear a Republican stump-speaker say that the Democratic plan is to reduce the value of the dollar about fifty per cent. hand him a copy of the letter of Mr. Kleinschmidt.

Col. Clement Sulivane, Cambridge, gives figures showing that the Democratic nominees will be certain of 224 electoral votes, and the Republicans certain of 140. There are, Colonel Sulivane thinks, 83 doubtful electoral votes and he is liberal enough to the Republicans to include Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, Kentucky, &c., as doubtful!

The paper called the Eastern Shore, published at Easton, has suspended publication. It was the advocate of the People's Party, but it lacked sufficient support. In announcing it's discontinuance the paper advised all members of that party to vote for Hon. Joshua W. Miles, the Democratic nominee for Congress.

Wanted. A position wanted by a practical Miller, with 20 years' experience. Can furnish best of reference. Address, HENRY F. ANDREW, Newton P. O., Md.

WANAMAKER'S.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Sept. 28, 1896.

We're ready for the new season with this sixteen-acre store filled with Four Millions of Dollars in merchandise. More than a score of buyers cross the sea each season to gather what the old world has produced toward home beautifying and for the personal needs of Philadelphia shoppers. More than half a hundred watchers keep track of the new world productions. A little army of almost four thousand helpers here today to attend to your wants. Wanamaker's stands unique among a world-ful of stores.

VELUTINA

Velvet made from cotton—looks like silk velvet; wears better than most silk velvet.

It isn't a counterfeit—it stands on its merits. We've sold it for six years past; we haven't had a complaint; we've had many words in praise of it. And we show one hundred and five colorings for Autumn. $1 a yard.

BLACK DRESS GOODS

Judge a dress goods store by its black goods. That's the crucial test—or nearly. Apply the test at Wanamaker's. Helpful hints of the newest stuffs follow—

Cheviots—
50c to $1 a yard—Priestley's fine-twill Cheviots, Lupin's Diagonal Cheviots, Lupin's Granite Cheviots, and a dozen other makes.
75c to $3.50 a yard—The great family of Fancy Cheviots—a dozen between prices.
Other staple weaves are included.

$1.50 to $3.50 a yard—
The new Curl Cloth in wool
Camel's-hair Jacquards
Canvas weaves
Potato-sack
Sail-cloth weaves.

Serges—Foreign and Domestic—
37½c to $1.50 a yard—
Fine-twill Serge, Diagonal Serge
Rough-twill Serge, Storm Serge

Camel's-hair—
75c to $3.50 a yard—
Fine twills, Coarse twills, Zibeline
Camel's-hair black goods promise to be leading favorites this season. Soft, quiet elegance.

Mohairs—
25c to $1.50 a yard—
Plain standard Mohairs and the popular Sicilian weaves. Lustrous and unrushable.

Fancy Mohairs—
$1.50 and $2 a yard—
Diagonal, Crepe, Sharkskin, Granite and the host of pretty designs classed with the higher grade of Mohairs.

Crepons—Mohair—
$1 to $2 a yard—
Figured, crepey, curly, striped, waffle and boucle weaves. Novelty and extra wearing qualities combined.

Black Novelties—
Large and small silk-and-wool brocaded figures, fresh from the great French dress goods artists. Black goods elegance. The French manufacturers are the acknowledged leaders in producing high grade dress stuffs. A special feature in these novelties is the poplin weave brocaded heavily with silk. We have aimed at the most elegant designs and exclusiveness.

FALL DRESS STUFFS

Covert Cloths were never so temptingly pretty. New color plays and loom tricks. 46 in., $1.25.

And these—$1.50 and $2—
Diagonal Covert Cloth
Sharkskin Covert Cloth
Whipcord Covert Cloth
Fine-twill Covert Cloth

All-wool Cashmere, 25c—
38 in. wide—the goodness you've known at 37½c; the color range of the new season.

PLAIDS—
Two hundred and forty-two styles at the counters devoted to Plaids. 25c to $1.25.

Black-and-white and blue-and-white checks for skirts, all-wool, 34 in., 37½c.

Calf Skin and Kangaroo
SHOES

Of the right weights for fall and winter—the newest, most fashionable and comfortable shapes—are in stock now. They constitute the largest assortment, and they are marked at the lowest prices at which we have ever been able to offer them. The buying for cash in large quantities takes off discounts, of which the people get the benefit, and they are not long in finding out these advantages.

Boxes of Winter Boots
Are also open. The prices this fall range from $1.25 to $2.50 per pair. Some of the season's regular stock are ranging in price from 65 cents to $4.50 per pair. Many will need these, and we have provided for them.

Good White Blankets
We want the workingmen to know that we have good Woolen Goods for pants at 20 cents per yard.

Dickey's Woolen Pants
(ready-made) in nearly every size, at $1.50 per pair.
Red Flannels, 20c. per yard.
White Flannels, 20c per yard.
Splendid Blue Flannels, 25c. per yard. In the

Dress Goods Department
(to which additions are being made very frequently) we have some things which we believe to be specially desirable and cheap:
Black and Blue Serges, 36 in., 30c.
" " " " 46 in., 50c.
Androscoggin Muslin is now 8c.
A very good stock of Handkerchiefs at 5c. to 10c. apiece. The

Grocery Department
Is always stocked heavy. Small and fat Mackeral (the most convenient size) only 20c. per dozen; Baltimore Bacon, 6c.; Country Bacon, 7c.; Best City Lard, 7c. The stock embraces all the staples, and the sales are the best evidence that the prices are right. For example, it takes a barrel of sugar per day to supply the demands of our patrons.

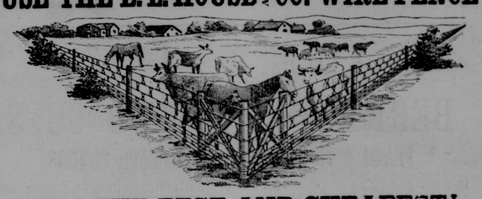
L. B. TOWERS.

USE THE E. L. HOUSE CO. WIRE FENCE



ARE THE BEST AND CHEAPEST!

They are cheaper than the barbed wire. The guards we use hold the wires in place, so that nothing larger than the space between them can crawl through. These guards hold the wires together, so that if a staple gets pulled out the wires will not sag, and one wire sustains the other. It is strong and elastic, and good-looking. For those who prefer it we use barb wire, as the guards and stretches can be worked equally well, but the plain wire is preferred by the majority, being secure and harmless.
