VANCE, or TWO DOLLARS AND FIFTY A failure to notify a discontinuance is considered; as a new engagement.

EASTON, Md., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1857.

THE UNIVERSAL CORNER. BY CHARLES MACAY.

When little John is five years old, With cheeks like peaches glowing, With merry eyes, half bold, half shy, And smiles like ripples flowing. Would'st see him happy? watch him well, And proud as famous Horner, With sweetmeats in the corner.

And older grown, a youth in years, When tastes and pleasures vary, He loves to haunt the self-same place, With cousin Jane or Mary. Inquire not what their talk may be, Nor laugh you idle scorner; But be assured what'er they say, They're happy in the corner.

And later still, when past his prime, He's run his round of pleasure, And learn'd, like Israel's mournful king, The worth of things to measure, "What shadows I have chas'd," he cries-And sighs with beart forlorner-"Veration, vanity and shame, I spy you from the corner." Still faithful to the place he sits, With wife and children round him,

And smokes the "calumet of peace," When troubles would confound him; Takes fortune kindly if she comes, If absent does not mourn ber; So topple kingdoms if you will-He's quiet in the corner.
