Rev. James W. Hunnicutt, the talented and independent editor of that highly popular and extensively read paper, the Christian Banner, published at Fredericksburg, Va., in his editorial of the 18th of May, 1855, thus speaks of

HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE: "Some time ago we merely alladed to Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, with a promise of noticing more particularly the great relief we have ourselfderived boring seriously under these two afflictions. In the spring of 1853, our general health became so delicate. that it was with great difficulty we could attend to the ordinary duties of our profession. Everything we ate immediately turned acid; our digestive organs became wholly deranged; losing as it seemed to us all their activity; we were constantly depressed in
