SATURDAY, March 7, 1908.

It is useless to try to establish universal peace as long as people will get married.

According to latest reports, water has been discovered on Mars. But this is not particularly interesting news down on the Eastern Shore.

A Boston physician says singing expels germs from the throat, and he advises everybody to attempt it whether he can turn a tune or not. Just what grudge the Boston physician has against mankind is not disclosed. But he is a mean man all the same.

The rumor of a divorce between Harry and Evelyn Thaw will not down, but then it is rather unreasonable to expect these two young people who have occupied the limelight of the public print for so long a time to settle down to the position of the ordinary unnoticed citizen.

An Indiana college professor suggests having presidents of the United States shot at the end of their terms to put them out of misery and save them from the awful fate of Grover Cleveland, whom the speaker accused of writing recipes for a ladies' journal. This suggestion out-Oslerizes Dr. Osler.

A man in a Florida town, smoking in bed, went to sleep with a lighted cigarette in his mouth. As a net result over 300 buildings were burned, including residences, hotels, factories and business places; 1000 people were made homeless, a woman died from shock, 4,000 workers were thrown out of employment and his smoke cost about $800,000. Of course, the careless smoker was sorry, just as the next careless smoker who works more destruction than a blizzard or a tornado will be.

"A nobleman who becomes the husband of an American heiress enters into the marriage with a proper respect for his bride. He does not crave the alliance because of the financial reasons, but because he is dominated by the overwhelming beauty and fairness of the American girl. He is carried away by her philosophy, her logic, her irresistible and fascinating mien," says an Austro-Hungarian visitor in Washington. Be-oo-ti-ful! But why is it that only girls with the largest sort of fortunes have the peculiar brand of philosophy, logic and irresistible and fascinating mien to appeal to the foreign aspirants for American wives?

The recent great increase in the number of unemployed able-bodied men, and the simultaneous cry from the farm districts for more help, draw sharp attention to an incongruous condition, says a Washington paper. The problem of inducing able-bodied men to remain upon or return to the farms is one that becomes difficult, and yet more insistent, every day. It must be solved, somehow, if the prosperity of the country is to continue. It is little wonder that the President and his Cabinet are forced to consider the subject, with a view to lending federal assistance in disposing of it.

It would be poor business policy, and worse charity, to feed the "army of unemployed" in the large cities while the farms are lacking laborers. If any among the unemployed are sick, or unable to stand the strain of hard work, let other provision be made for them; but there is no excuse for the encouragement of idleness and vice by feeding able-bodied fellows who will not go into the country. Any unemployed, able-bodied man who refuses an opportunity to go into the country to work, preferring to bask in the bright light of the city, should be convicted as a vagrant and made to build roads.

The practical question confronting the authorities is how to bring the unemployed man in the city and the rural job together. The Department of Commerce and Labor is doing something, through its bureau of information, in directing new immigrants to employment in the country. Even here, however, there is more failure than success, for the newly arrived immigrants prefer to remain in the large cities, and there is nothing to prevent them from exercising their choice. As to the movements of the native and naturalized unemployed, no [illegible] been Seventy-five thousand dollars is the value placed upon a stolen by kiss a Detroit woman who is bringing suit against the thief. It is to be hoped that the man who gets these valuable things for nothing will fully appreciate them.

There is a boy in New Jersey in whom an attack of typhoid has developed a tendency to write poetry. Here is another germ dangerous to the peace and safety of society for science to ferret out and destroy, for it adds new terrors to the perils of civilization.

The telephones have been removed from the students' headquarters at the Naval Academy, and hereafter the girls who wish to whisper sweet nothings over the wires to the boys in blue will have to confide to one of the officers. This seems to be a cruel discrimination against Cupid, but as he is reported to laugh at locksmiths, perhaps he may be trusted to find a way to circumvent even military discipline.

The trouble with most cough remedies is that they constipate. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently but promptly on the bowels and at the same time it stops the cough by soothing the throat and lung irritation. Children like it. J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store

Seldom Wear Out

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain—not only once, but as many times as it is necessary to take them. Many persons who suffer from chronic ailments find in them a source of great relief from the suffering which they would otherwise be compelled to endure. Their soothing influence upon the nerves strengthen rather than weaken them. For this reason they seldom lose their effectiveness.

"I am 62 years old and have suffered for 42 years from nervous troubles, rheumatism and neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and pain around the heart. The Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills have been a blessing to me. I don't know what I should do without them, and they are the only remedy I have ever used that either did not wear out in less time than I have been using them, or else the injurious results were such that I would be obliged to cease their use."

MRS. S. C. ROBINSON, 27 Carter St., Chattanooga, Tenn.
