The gasoline tax spread over country like a case of measles. Now that it has been establish ed, the tendence is to increase children are too often whipped MY HOME, Queen Cottage, the tax because it is an easy and bullied into submission and way to get tax money. Many that "we have tended to carry states have tax as high as 3 cents a gallon and proposals have al ready been made for as high as 6 cents. The gasoline tax is on the theory that the automobile owners profit most by the good roads, but it is safe to say that public men, including President no one profits to as great an ex tent by such roads as do thepro perty owners along them. Take the owner of property on the main street of any town or small city which is traversed by a paved state highway. The automobile driver who pays the tax to build the ro d increases the val ue of this property to such an extent that rents are doubled es in modern lifewhere the 'bultrebled and quadruped. There were 17,594,377 motor vehicles registered in the United States on July 1. last. If automobile owners could realize their numerical strength, there would be less chance of their being penalized as gasoline purchasers.

In a statement Governor Albert C. Ritchie emphatically depolitical deal.

"Since I have been in politics, two deck have heard propaganda which have pag was silly and dishonest, but I have never heard anywhichwas not sowell beliaved as the parmore silly or more dishonest that | ents were-well, they never are. the reports about a deal between me and some person or faction in the Repblican party.

"Not long ago I was supposed" to be in a deal with Senator Weller, to reelect him as Sena tor and to give me another term as Governor. Suddenly some thing unexpected happens to Senator Weller's chances, and forth-with I am supposed to be in a deal to beat Senator Weller and to elect Colouel Hill as Sen ator. "Both reports are equally silly and equally untrue. Both come persons who know they rue, or else are too cred or this world.

erefore, want to say this: been a Democrat in this State all of my life, my father was before me, and his father Caroline Co., Md. was before him. I would not know how to go about making a deal with any Republican if J wanted to, and I would not do it If & knew how. Politically, J ork with Democrats and not with Republicans.

"There is not now, there never will be any deal or understand ing of any kind, express or implied, between me or any friends of mine and any Republican or Republicans.

"Whichever Republican fact tion wins I am going to do all I can to beat it in the general election.

When a store advertises judiciously, it attracts public atten tion andit increases its business. But the increase of receipts is not usually equaled by a corres. ponding increase of expense. Most stores could double their business without doubling the number of clerks, or doubling theis rent, light, he it and other charges.

Consequently the charge per article for this so-called "overhead" expense, keeps decreasing as the business grows. If receipts double, and cost of doing business increase only 60 per cent, it is manifest that the overhead is more economically done, and, the cost of moving each separate article is reduced. The public gets the difference in lowprices. The advertised store tells the public what bargains it has, wnile the non all vertised store

This hasn's been noticed very much recently. A far more gen eral complaint, voiced by many Coolidge, has been taat parents no longer exercise a proper control over their children and that the amach needed reform for young people must begin in the home. No particular evidence of the bullying of the school children into submission was adduced meeting nor was any mention made of the number of instanc lied school children' deserted -+++ class rooms en masse because they didn't like certain newrules. Our forefathers would have met this a spanking bee. We coax the children back bychang ing the rules to suit them.

Excuse it please?"

VOUR telephone rings and you answer it, only I to hear the familiar 'Number, please?'

"Didn't you ring me, operator?" you ask. "There is no one on the line now," she says, "will you excuse it, please?"

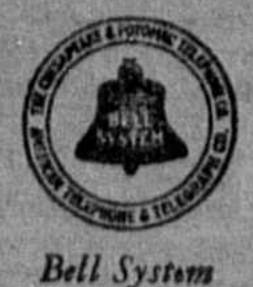

Annoying, isn't it? But just who is to blame? Of course, the operator may have made a mistake but suppose that some one gives your numbar to the operator by mistake, discovers his error and hangs up. When you answer there will be "no one on the line." Suppose some one starts to call you, then changes his mind and hangs up-again, "no one on the line." Suppose that because you do not answer at once the person calling concludes that you are out, and hangs up-"no one on the line."

"But," you may ask, "why does the operator act as though expecting me to make a call in such cases, instead of explaining that whoever called me has hung up?" The answer is this; the operator who answered you was not the one who rang your bell. The call may have been made through any one of a number of other operators. Thus the chances are greatly against the operator who answers you knowing anything about the aban-

So, realizing that you have been inconvenienced, there is nothing for her to but apologize for another's mistake.
