Millions of dollars worth of radio equipment was about to be rendered worthless because the air was so cluttered up that it was difficult toget the station desired, and almost impossible to tune in one stat ion without getting several. Now radio relief is assured. Five men, appointed by the president will fix wave-lengths and assign territory, and a station that "jumps" will be deprived of its broadcasting license. There will be no foolish ness about it, either. Uncle Sam is going to run radio a long the same high standard houses in runing his postoffice. and radio faus are glad of it.

So if there is any one around Queenstown who has refrained from installing a radio set because the air has been so clutt ered up as to make radio a nui sance, he can go right ahead and buy his equipment now and be on the sate side. new radio laws are iron clad, and the government recgnizes radio as too big a thing to par ndi it to be turned into a nui salce by a few air pirates.

It has been repeatedly declar ed, without any attempt at con struction, that, the United Sta e is the most law hidden nation on earth. The people are asked to do more things, Lecause they are the law, than the most auto cratic coutry of Europe,

Practically every state | gis lature that is composed of persons who appear to be obsessed with the idea that there are many to be done in the way of enacting laws, or of repealing laws which had been passed by a preceding legislature. The people are quite well informed on the tendency of congress to pass numerous measures.

The unfortunate phase of the latter day development of law making is that with mer : laws there is less law enforcement. Despite the energy devoted to the making of statues there is greater disregard of such laws than ever in our national histor Laws have become so numerous and so futile that their enforcement is impossible.

Wheat and flour are synonymous in the minds of many. As a matter of fact, however, forty per cent of our mammoth wheat crop never leaves the farm at all, but is used for seed purposes and feeding farm animals, states the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in a survey recently completed on wheat consumption. It is used most abundantly for feeding in those sections of the country having a wheat surplus and a shortage of the usual feed crops such as corn, oats and barley. The poorer qualities of wheat, not suited for making flour, are kept behind for this purpose. Chickens are the heaviest consumers of wheat fed on the farm using 59.1% of all wheat so distributed. Swine are next, with 29.1%. In wheat-growing sections horses are fed wheat and consume on an average 5.4% of all wheat fed on the farm, while the remaining 6.4% goes to

Eat Way Through Corn Acres

(Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation) Eating their way through almost four million acres of canned corn in the form of silage is the job American cattle, mostly dairy cows, accomplish every year, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. It has been estimated that they eat 96.6% of the vast amount of silage while of the small amount left, swine consume 2.2%, horses, 1.7% and sheep 1.1%. Very little sliage is fed to

TV/ITH long distance telephone service at W your elbow, there is no longer such a thing as separation. The calls are cheap especially station-to-station calls-and the service is rapid. A station-to-station call for a distance of 150 miles costs only 95c. during the day; between 7.00 and 8.30 p. m. the call costs 70c.; between 8.30 p. m. and 4.30 a. m., 50c. And you can reach almost any place in just a few minutes.'

> Many improvements in long distance service have been made during the past year." Rates have been generally reduced and the service has been speeded up. Another thing, station-to-station calls (above 20 cents) may now be reversed without extra charge
