Not only is it a pleasure to observe the confidence which the Democrats of Baltimore City have displayed in renomination Mayor Howard W. Jackson, but an additional one to observe how small an effect was produced against him. May his record continue to commend itself to the discriminating voters of Maryland and may he have full advantage of it when the selection of a Democratic candidate for Governor is again before the party. His strongest opponent will be Attorney-General Herbert R. O'Conor, which will make a real political battle.

Two diverse factors have center ed attention on the question of government ownership of the railroad industry.

One is the frank opinion of Fed eral Coordinator of Transporta. ment should eventually take over the lines.

The other lies in the possibility that the government may acquire a large amount of railroad mileage if loans made to weak systems by government agencies are not repaid. This question, like all others, will eventually be solved by the it. Entirely aside from any problem of principle, practical considerations give rise to extreme doub as to the standards of service that would result from government operation.

During the war, government, in name of emergency, toook place in the moving of freight, and thousands of tons of perishable goods were thus destroyed. The attitude of the government officials in charge was usually arperant-the public was order service on a Take

Of late, a special air of alertness, of promotitude has prevailed within the group. Junior who, shore days ago, went 'creeping like a snail unwillingly to school" has been observed starting out, if not exactly with "shining morning face," at least with unwonted dispatch. A younger brother and still young er sister whose response to the noon luncheon bell had been rather non-co-operative now rise from play at the summons and joyfully seek the house, Other improvements in the field of ablutious and of proper bestowal of hats and coats are reported by parental au-

IHEY are talking about the church affair next week.

Mother does a good deal of telephoning every day to members of the family and to the neighbors.

She says it keeps her from ever feeling lonesome any more.

And she feels safer knowing that she can reach the doctor on a moment's notice and get help quickly if there's a fire.
