Since 1927, Mexico has seized $10,-000,000 in American-owned farm lands. Last spring Mexico did even better, confiscating $200,000,000 worth of American-owned oil lands. A month ago, Secretary of State Cordell Hull addressed a courteous note to Mexican President Lazaro Cardenas, asking what his nation intended to do by way of repayment. A few days later came the blunt reply, stating in effect that there is no law or treaty making compensation obligatory, but evincing a desire to pay when, and if, it is economically

Cordell Hull mulled this unprecedented answer through his mind for two weeks, then decided to try again with another tack. Scolded he: "It is proposed to replace the rule of just compensation by the rule of confiscation. Adoption . . . of any such theory . . . would result in the imand trust between nations."
