Bel Air, Md., February 24, 1888. BOYISH GLEE. We bought him a box for his books and toys, And a cricket bag for his bat : And he looked the brightest and best of boys Under his brand new hat.

With a troop of his young compeers And we made as thou : h it were dust and rain Were filling our eyes with tears. We looked in his innocent face to see The sign of a sorrowful heart:
But he only shouldered his bat with glee
And wondered when they would start. 'Twas not that he loved not as heretofore, For the boy was tender and kind; But his was a world that was all before, And ours was a world behind.

'Twas not his fluttering beart was cold, For the child was loyal and true, And the parents' love the love that is old, And the children's the love that is new. And we came to know that love is a flower, Which only groweth down; And we scarcely spoke for the space of an hour As we drove back through the town. Remarkable Sufferings of a Twin Brother and Sister. A very strange and remarkable illustration of the mysterious bond of union and sympathy which exists between twins has been brought to light at Tiffin, Ohio. Charles Foncannon, aged twenty-five, got his arm in a planer at the churn factory and it was ground to a pulp to the elbow. At the exact time this happened, a quarter to three P. M., his twin sister, living over a mile away, suddenly cried out in great agony. Indecolites, saying that there was a featful pain in her arm. 5 AND 10 CENT GOODS. F. N. RAMSAY & BRO., STREET, Md. When Spring Comes le i polition.

This is the way a horse and a poor blanket look at the end of winter. Why is it that of two horse blankets which look and feel equally well one won't wear at all,

Horse Blankets which are strong and have a reputation are always imitated in poor qualities which look like them, but having fewer warp threads are not as strong. Some dealers buy these poor imitations for a few cents less and by saying they are "just as good," sell them at the same price as the strong blankets to parties who do not know the difference. You cannot tell whether horse blankets are strong by the look or feel, as the warp threads do not show on the face. How then are you to know?

Inorder that you can tell a strong blanket from a weak one, the manufacturer of 5/A Horse Blankets sews the above 5/A Trade Mark inside of each blanket. This is a guarantee that it is the strongest blanket made for the money and will wear well. Many poor imitations have been sold as 5/4 blankets. Remember none are genuine unless the 5/2 Trade Mark is sewed inside.

I am determined to close out all my winter clothing in the ary at the greatest reduction in prices ever offered in Bel Air .-

THEY MUST GO!

With every Child's Suit sold during this reduction will be given a Polo Cap also. Now is the time to buy if you want something cheap in price and
