There isn't a shoe in the lot that is'nt a good sturdy value, but my store rule has always been, no odds and ends, as soon as a line of shoes become broken in size, push them out, get something for them, but let them go.

The price that I have put on these special lots will make lively selling, they'll tumble off the tables and roll out of the door, so be one of the first on Wednesday morning if you really want a shoe bargain.
