SOCIAL SECURITY GRANTS TO STATES

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough has received from the Social Security Board an announcement of the first social security grants to states, including $168,000 for Old-Age Assistance and $92,400 for Aid to Dependent Children, for the State of Maryland. These grants are for the months of February and March. A total of $4,446,622.66 for the months of February and March has been granted to states whose plans for old-age pension, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind have been approved by the Social Security Board.

To date, state plans for old-age assistance have been approved for the following 18 states: Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Idaho, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

The 12 states with approved plans for aid to dependent children are: Alabama, Arizona, District of Columbia, Idaho, Maine, Maryland, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

In the states whose public assistance plans are approved by the Social Security Board, the Federal Government will match state funds dollar for dollar in the case of aid to the needy aged and the blind, and one dollar for each two dollars disbursed by the states for aid to dependent children.

Congressman Goldsborough, who, on June 12, 1930, made the first speech ever made in the American Congress favoring Old Age Pensions, is working constantly to have the law strengthened and made more effective.

Governor Nice on Thursday set March 4th for the convening of the special session of the Legislature to consider Maryland's relief problem.

Governor Nice earlier in the day had announced he would issue the call for the Legislature to convene March 5, but at the behest of Democratic leader later advanced the date to March 4 to avoid conflict with plans for a convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland in Baltimore March 5.

BUSY WEEK-END FOR THE ACADEMY

West Nottingham Academy had quite a full week-end with her annual play on Friday and her midwinter dance on Saturday evening.

The Dramatic Club, under the direct supervision of Mr. Aykroyd, put on a very creditable performance last Friday at the Rising Sun Auditorium when the society enacted three one-act plays, "The King's English," "Confessional," "Sparkin'"—written by Bates, Wilde, and Conkle respectively. Josh Roush, Herbert Snyder, Malcolm Kullman, and Lester Hall distinguished themselves in their roles. Josh as a tobacco chewing grandpa; Snyder as a hill-billy lover; Kullman an honest bank treasurer; and Ball as a cannibal king.

The dance the following evening was deemed quite a success with the music furnished by Charles Edwards and his orchestra from Wilmington.

W. N. A. 39—NORTH EAST HIGH 15

By C. K. VAUGHAN

February 18 saw West Nottingham Academy completely rout the North East High School quintet 39-15 on the latter's court. At no time during the contest was the victory uncertain.

The first three quarters were rather slow due to the fact that both teams appeared to be on the defensive, and also the Maroon second lineup played a lot during these three stanzas. Nottingham led 8-3 for the first frame; 7-6 at the conclusion of the second period; and only by the scant margin of 12-11 when the third quarter terminated.

Chukker number four found North East with her shoulders touching. Coach Markarian's basketballers swung their way into a terrific onslaught and "swished" the net at will, it appeared. This attack was led by Mowrey who shared five field goals from mid-court.

Boak, captain of the Maroon, accounted for ten points himself when he managed four field goals and two foul-tosses—these two being the high-scoring of the game. C. Williams was high man with six counters and the mainstay of the North East aggregation. The lineup:

GANGSTER GUNS

Where does the gangster get his machine guns with which to slaughter and commit his crimes?

That has been a standing question with the United States Department of Justice. A junk dealer gave an answer to the question, and it was: From the army. Jacob Paley, New York junk dealer, told the Senate Munitions Committee, that he has purchased 3834 machine guns from the army and that more were being offered every week at army depots. And then he offered this cryptic, if inelegant observation: "Here was the Government selling guns with one hand and belly-aching about it with the other."
