Don't Stop My Paper. Don't stop my paper, printer, Don't strike my name off yet;

Or feel, and be accounted

Then, take it kindly, printer,

If pay be somewhat slow,

And wants not few, you know,

For each is not so plenty,

But I must have my paper,

Cost what it may to me,

And do without my tea,

So, printer, dont't you stop it,

And credit it right down,

And send the paper promptly

And let it bring us weekly
