Storm Damage St. Michaels — The northeaster which swept the Eastern Shore wreaked a variety of damage at various points. Streams and rivers were filled to capacity. High waters flooded and threatened to destroy the Deals Island bridge and five miles of marshland was under water. At St. Michaels trees were blown down, Herman Harrison's boat blown ashore, Bert Faulkner's packing house washed down at one corner. A tree on the Talbot Country Club was blown down later blown back to its former position. Twenty-one Ocean City fishpounds, worth $1,000 each were torn loose or swept out to sea.
