

Notice.

THE subscriber having taken out letters of administration from the orphan's court of Baltimore county, on the estate of his deceased father, Daniel Bowly, requests all persons indebted to said estate, to make payment to Mr Henry Thompson, No. 53, Smith's Wharf, who is duly authorized to receive the same; and all persons having claims are desired to present them properly authenticated to him for settlement.

WILLIAM L. BOWLY.

In virtue of the above notice, I particularly request that all Debts and Ground Rents now due the estate of D. Bowly, esq deceased, and as they hereafter become due may be paid without delay, as there is the greatest necessity for punctuality on the part of Lessees. I hope due attention will be paid to this request, otherwise compulsory means will be resorted to.

HENRY THOMPSON.

December 1. d3m

Ironmongery, Woollens, &c.

6 cases gilt & plated Buttons, assorted fashionable patterns, 4 cases of well assorted fashionable plated SADDLERY, 1 case of gilt Brooches, breast Pins, Watch Seals, Keys, Chains, &c. 4 boxes of white, red, and yellow Flannels, and Drapery, and Booking Baizes, different Colours, 1 case dyed fancy superfine Genoa Princes Cord, 1 ditto dyed Royal Cord, 1 ditto dyed superfine Genoa Constitution Cord, 1 ditto dyed Princes Cord,

For sale by CORNTHWAIT & YARNALL.

19th mo. 16th. d15t

Just Received and for Sale

By the subscribers, 60 tubs of excellent BUTTER, fit for family use. BALDERSTON & CORTHWAIT, No. 151, County-wharf

17th mo. 20. d4t

PIANO FORTES.

Just arrived from the house of I. and M. Paff, of New-York, A valuable assortment of PIANOS.

Superior to any offered for sale in Baltimore. The subscriber respectfully informs that these Instruments do not want recommending in the newspapers. Let a generous public come forward and judge for themselves, at Coleman and Taylor's Cabinet Warehouse, North Gay street.

N. B. Persons wishing for instruments of any description, will apply as above. MICHAEL PAFF.

December 28. d

Richard Norris

Has received for the Carolina, and Diana from Liverpool, and now opening at 1-3 MARKET-STREET, a general assortment of Cutlery & Saddlery, which will be sold to country merchants at wholesale and retail low for cash or on credit.

For Sale by Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Geo. Hill, No. 7, to 21, Market Street, Baltimore.

Hides and Cordage.

Received per the schooner Experiment, captain Greely, from Portland, 1500 Dried Hides, 2 tons Cordage, assorted, 100 boxes brown Soap.

For sale on moderate terms by CORNTHWAIT & YARNALL, 83, Bowly's wharf.

Said Schooner will take freight on moderate terms to any port in the Eastern States; but then about 1000 bbls. and will in a few days be ready to receive a cargo; is a remarkable fine vessel and sails well.

For Wilmington, N. C. The Ship AMELIA, Walter C. Hayes, master, will sail in a few days. For freight or passage apply to the master on board, or to CHARLES WIRGMAN, Newborn and Gape Fear Bank Notes, will be exchanged for Baltimore paper.

December 31. d4t

For New-York, The elegant new Schooner GRAND SACHEM, William Holmes, master; intended as a regular Packet, and has five accommodation for passengers. A part of her cargo being engaged, is expected to sail in a few days. For freight or passage, apply to the master on board at Smith's wharf, or to ISAIAH MANKIN, d

December 21. d

For Freight or Charter, The fine new fast sailing Ship THOMAS, N. WHITTEMORE MASTER; Burthen 167 tons, or about 1500 barrels; will be ready for sea in a few days. For terms apply to CORNTHWAIT & YARNALL, who have for sale, landing from on board, 477 casks Claret Wine, 3 iron hoops each, 100 boxes do. do 30 bottles each, 100 do do do 24 do do, 850 do do do 12 do do, 30 do Muscatel do 12 white bottles each, 20 do do do do 12 black do do, 200 do Sweet Olive Oil, superior quality, 12 black bottles each, 10 cases, containing each 50 very superior quality tur hats, 2 do Florence Silks, assorted colors, 9 do Ladies' and Gentlemen's white Silk Stockings and Gloves.

December 21. d

For Boston and Portland, The Schooner HANNAH, Captain Harris; Now loading, will take about 400 bbls. on moderate freight if speedy application is made. FOR FREIGHT TO THE WEST-INDIES, Or a Port in the United States, The Schooner MORNING STAR, Captain Tucker; A good strong vessel, burthen about 1000 tons, is ready to receive a cargo. For terms or other of those vessels, apply to the masters on board, Smith's wharf, or to the subscribers.

Who have for sale, 30 bbls White Cod-Fish, of an excellent quality, 250 boxes do. do. do, 30 bbls Pippin Apples, of superior flavor.

December 22. eodt

For New-York & Providence, The Brig MAILDA, Richard M. Field, master; Will sail with all convenient dispatch. For freight, or passage, Apply to the master on board at Smith's dock, or to CUMB: D. WILLIAMS, d

December 24. eodt

Superfine Paris Jewelry, Lafitte, Duché and Barthe, No 172, BALTIMORE STREET, Offer for sale by wholesale, or the piece a large assortment of Superfine Paris Jewelry, Consisting of Gold Combs, ornamented with fine pearls, Do Do with Cornelian, &c. Ear Rings and Breast-Pins, of every description, Watches, Chains, Keys and Seals, An assortment of Topazes, Loquet Glasses of every size, Chainettes for Neck Laces, &c. &c. ALSO ON HAND, (Entitled to Drawback,) 4 trunks silk Embroidered Ladies Shoes, 2 boxes Sheeted Linnen, 1 trunk assorted Umbrellas, 1 box Satin, with silver Spangles, &c. 1 trunk Ladies' Silk Stockings, 1 case Taffetas, assorted for the West-Indies, 1 do Paid Silk, 1 do embroidered Cambric Shirts, 70 boxes Havana Cigars, Also by the piece, or dozen, A large assortment of FRENCH SILK GOODS.

December 21. d15t

MILL My MILL, on the Herring-run, within 3 and a half miles of the city, will be ready on the first day of the new year, to manufacture at the customary terms for any House that will keep her supplied with wheat. She can make thirty to forty barrels of flour per day. There are good Millers, and an able Team and faithful Waggoner, ready to haul out and in. WM. WILSON, Ivy Hill, December 22. N. B. A School-master wanted to whom good encouragement will be given. December 22. d

MILITARY BALL.

A meeting of the Managers last evening, at the FOUNTAIN INN, made the following resolution: That all officers, to appear in uniform with Sword Belts; Privates with Bayonet Belts, half Gaiters may be worn. Gentlemen not belonging to Military Companies will be admitted.

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as undermining innovations of the constitution; in allaying the feuds of party; in pointing out and supporting the just rights and interests of commerce; in informing the necessity of an adequate public defence; and in inculcating a respect for religion, morality and justice—impartial moderation towards foreign nations such are the outlines of the arduous and important task he has assigned to himself, in relation to general topics, which he is sensible may well be thought already too much for his limited endowments, and too exalted and comprehensive for the sphere of a gazette; but his plan also comprehends whatever is interesting to the economical improvements, the commercial character and growth, the local jurisprudence and politics, as well as the general prosperity of the state of Maryland, and its thriving seaport of Baltimore. As some misapprehensions appear to have been spread abroad, it is necessary for the editor to state distinctly, that this will be a COMMERCIAL as well as a political paper; and that as much of its success will depend upon the patronage of his mercantile friends, he tre more earnestly invites their support. In the performance of such a varied task, many difficulties are doubtless to be surmounted, which will call for the utmost exertion of the fortitude and feeble talents of the editor; but to enable him to sustain his burden, he relies with cheerful confidence, upon the generous countenance and liberal indulgence of those who have prompted him to the undertaking, and of such of the public, as may be disposed to patronize his labors. Dec. 29. d

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as undermining innovations of the constitution; in allaying the feuds of party; in pointing out and supporting the just rights and interests of commerce; in informing the necessity of an adequate public defence; and in inculcating a respect for religion, morality and justice—impartial moderation towards foreign nations such are the outlines of the arduous and important task he has assigned to himself, in relation to general topics, which he is sensible may well be thought already too much for his limited endowments, and too exalted and comprehensive for the sphere of a gazette; but his plan also comprehends whatever is interesting to the economical improvements, the commercial character and growth, the local jurisprudence and politics, as well as the general prosperity of the state of Maryland, and its thriving seaport of Baltimore. As some misapprehensions appear to have been spread abroad, it is necessary for the editor to state distinctly, that this will be a COMMERCIAL as well as a political paper; and that as much of its success will depend upon the patronage of his mercantile friends, he tre more earnestly invites their support. In the performance of such a varied task, many difficulties are doubtless to be surmounted, which will call for the utmost exertion of the fortitude and feeble talents of the editor; but to enable him to sustain his burden, he relies with cheerful confidence, upon the generous countenance and liberal indulgence of those who have prompted him to the undertaking, and of such of the public, as may be disposed to patronize his labors. Dec. 29. d

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as undermining innovations of the constitution; in allaying the feuds of party; in pointing out and supporting the just rights and interests of commerce; in informing the necessity of an adequate public defence; and in inculcating a respect for religion, morality and justice—impartial moderation towards foreign nations such are the outlines of the arduous and important task he has assigned to himself, in relation to general topics, which he is sensible may well be thought already too much for his limited endowments, and too exalted and comprehensive for the sphere of a gazette; but his plan also comprehends whatever is interesting to the economical improvements, the commercial character and growth, the local jurisprudence and politics, as well as the general prosperity of the state of Maryland, and its thriving seaport of Baltimore. As some misapprehensions appear to have been spread abroad, it is necessary for the editor to state distinctly, that this will be a COMMERCIAL as well as a political paper; and that as much of its success will depend upon the patronage of his mercantile friends, he tre more earnestly invites their support. In the performance of such a varied task, many difficulties are doubtless to be surmounted, which will call for the utmost exertion of the fortitude and feeble talents of the editor; but to enable him to sustain his burden, he relies with cheerful confidence, upon the generous countenance and liberal indulgence of those who have prompted him to the undertaking, and of such of the public, as may be disposed to patronize his labors. Dec. 29. d

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as undermining innovations of the constitution; in allaying the feuds of party; in pointing out and supporting the just rights and interests of commerce; in informing the necessity of an adequate public defence; and in inculcating a respect for religion, morality and justice—impartial moderation towards foreign nations such are the outlines of the arduous and important task he has assigned to himself, in relation to general topics, which he is sensible may well be thought already too much for his limited endowments, and too exalted and comprehensive for the sphere of a gazette; but his plan also comprehends whatever is interesting to the economical improvements, the commercial character and growth, the local jurisprudence and politics, as well as the general prosperity of the state of Maryland, and its thriving seaport of Baltimore. As some misapprehensions appear to have been spread abroad, it is necessary for the editor to state distinctly, that this will be a COMMERCIAL as well as a political paper; and that as much of its success will depend upon the patronage of his mercantile friends, he tre more earnestly invites their support. In the performance of such a varied task, many difficulties are doubtless to be surmounted, which will call for the utmost exertion of the fortitude and feeble talents of the editor; but to enable him to sustain his burden, he relies with cheerful confidence, upon the generous countenance and liberal indulgence of those who have prompted him to the undertaking, and of such of the public, as may be disposed to patronize his labors. Dec. 29. d

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as undermining innovations of the constitution; in allaying the feuds of party; in pointing out and supporting the just rights and interests of commerce; in informing the necessity of an adequate public defence; and in inculcating a respect for religion, morality and justice—impartial moderation towards foreign nations such are the outlines of the arduous and important task he has assigned to himself, in relation to general topics, which he is sensible may well be thought already too much for his limited endowments, and too exalted and comprehensive for the sphere of a gazette; but his plan also comprehends whatever is interesting to the economical improvements, the commercial character and growth, the local jurisprudence and politics, as well as the general prosperity of the state of Maryland, and its thriving seaport of Baltimore. As some misapprehensions appear to have been spread abroad, it is necessary for the editor to state distinctly, that this will be a COMMERCIAL as well as a political paper; and that as much of its success will depend upon the patronage of his mercantile friends, he tre more earnestly invites their support. In the performance of such a varied task, many difficulties are doubtless to be surmounted, which will call for the utmost exertion of the fortitude and feeble talents of the editor; but to enable him to sustain his burden, he relies with cheerful confidence, upon the generous countenance and liberal indulgence of those who have prompted him to the undertaking, and of such of the public, as may be disposed to patronize his labors. Dec. 29. d

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as undermining innovations of the constitution; in allaying the feuds of party; in pointing out and supporting the just rights and interests of commerce; in informing the necessity of an adequate public defence; and in inculcating a respect for religion, morality and justice—impartial moderation towards foreign nations such are the outlines of the arduous and important task he has assigned to himself, in relation to general topics, which he is sensible may well be thought already too much for his limited endowments, and too exalted and comprehensive for the sphere of a gazette; but his plan also comprehends whatever is interesting to the economical improvements, the commercial character and growth, the local jurisprudence and politics, as well as the general prosperity of the state of Maryland, and its thriving seaport of Baltimore. As some misapprehensions appear to have been spread abroad, it is necessary for the editor to state distinctly, that this will be a COMMERCIAL as well as a political paper; and that as much of its success will depend upon the patronage of his mercantile friends, he tre more earnestly invites their support. In the performance of such a varied task, many difficulties are doubtless to be surmounted, which will call for the utmost exertion of the fortitude and feeble talents of the editor; but to enable him to sustain his burden, he relies with cheerful confidence, upon the generous countenance and liberal indulgence of those who have prompted him to the undertaking, and of such of the public, as may be disposed to patronize his labors. Dec. 29. d

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as undermining innovations of the constitution; in allaying the feuds of party; in pointing out and supporting the just rights and interests of commerce; in informing the necessity of an adequate public defence; and in inculcating a respect for religion, morality and justice—impartial moderation towards foreign nations such are the outlines of the arduous and important task he has assigned to himself, in relation to general topics, which he is sensible may well be thought already too much for his limited endowments, and too exalted and comprehensive for the sphere of a gazette; but his plan also comprehends whatever is interesting to the economical improvements, the commercial character and growth, the local jurisprudence and politics, as well as the general prosperity of the state of Maryland, and its thriving seaport of Baltimore. As some misapprehensions appear to have been spread abroad, it is necessary for the editor to state distinctly, that this will be a COMMERCIAL as well as a political paper; and that as much of its success will depend upon the patronage of his mercantile friends, he tre more earnestly invites their support. In the performance of such a varied task, many difficulties are doubtless to be surmounted, which will call for the utmost exertion of the fortitude and feeble talents of the editor; but to enable him to sustain his burden, he relies with cheerful confidence, upon the generous countenance and liberal indulgence of those who have prompted him to the undertaking, and of such of the public, as may be disposed to patronize his labors. Dec. 29. d

Proposals For Publishing a New Paper, on Federal Principles, to be called THE NORTH AMERICAN, AND MERCANTILE DAILY ADVERTISER. BY JACOB WAGNER. CONDITIONS. I. The Daily Paper will be delivered to Subscribers in the city of Baltimore, at 7 Dollars per annum, and to country Subscribers at 8 dollars, the addition of one dollar in the latter case being an equivalent for the expenses of packing and directing. II. The subscription money is to be paid half yearly; and from country subscribers an advance of an half-year's subscription is expected. III. To those who prefer it, a country paper will be sent, twice a week, containing all the original matter and intelligence from the daily paper. The price of the country paper will be only four dollars, payable in advance. IV. Advertisements will be published on the usual terms. However our own institutions may be prized by the patriotic mind, above those of other nations, it is an evident truth, that the most splendid, as well as the most valuable among them, is that which secures the blessing of a free press. Without this, which may be considered as the foundation of our political building, the whole mass would totter, and doubtless fall into sudden ruin. It is not, therefore, without reason, that we have always been circumspect about any encroachment upon the press: but it is our duty, in proportion as we value the enjoyment, to discountenance the perversion of it to sinister or malevolent purposes. To this privilege, which distinguishes his country from almost every other, the editor is now about to lay his claim; and he takes it into his hands, well aware of the obligation he assumes with it, to diminish it neither by wanton misuse, nor by a fear of applying it to the efficient and salutary purposes for which it is intended. It may be proper to notice, respecting the history of this establishment, that it originated with a number of gentlemen of respectable judgment and standing in society, to whose flattering and unexpected choice the Editor has made the repugnance of his habits to yield, by assuming the direction of this gazette. Of the political principles, which shall be supported in it, it might be enough to say, that they are those consecrated by the administration of WASHINGTON, and transmitted to our country in his valedictory address. The troubled state of the world; the dangers which have long threatened this portion of it in particular, and which appear now to be breaking upon it; as well as the arrangement of internal parties, and the animosities engendered by them—all strongly invite a recurrence to the precepts of that deliverer and father of his country. It will therefore be the anxious and sedulous endeavour of the Editor, to bring them anew to the attention of his readers, to oppose the false applications made of them, and, above all, to square his own conduct, and examine that of others, by the same rule. Happy will he be, if, in this career, he shall be instrumental, in an humble degree, in extending and invigorating a love of rational liberty; in keeping alive an high-minded jealousy of the independence of the nation; in increasing the attachment to the union of the states; in discountenancing combinations against it or its laws as well as