The Foolish Gophers

Truly the ways of the Georgia gopher are curious. Dr. Bruce, of Bainbridge. says that one of the first things he learned after coming to this section from Virginia was not to bet on gophers. He was boarding with old Mr. Peobody, one morning at the breakfast-table he said he was going to catch one which was doing him special damage.

"How are you going to catch him, Mr. Peabody?" said the young doctor. "I am going to bury a box at the mouth of his den, sir, and about eleven o'clock he will come out to feed and will tumble in and I will have him." The young Virginian laughed at the

What Would the World Do without woman? asks the essayist who starts out to say something new on this oft-treated subject. Of course, the human element of the world would not exist without woman, so the question is gratuitous. It would have been more sensible to ask: What would the world do without the salvation of woman, without a panacea for her physical ills and cure for her peculiar diseases. In a word, what would the world do without Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," the great remedy for female weak-nesses? It is indispensable for the ills of
