

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY MORNING, BY EDWARD MULLIKIN, PUBLISHER OF THE LAWS OF THE UNION.

THE TERMS Are Two Dollars and Fifty Cents per Annum payable half yearly in advance. Advertisements are inserted three times for ONE DOLLAR; and continued weekly for TWENTY FIVE CENTS per square.

The Eastern Shore Jockey Club RACES

WILL commence on Wednesday the 24th of October next, and continue three days. First day.—A colt's purse for 200 dollars, 2 miles and repeat, free for any three or four year old colt, foaled and raised in the State of Maryland, Delaware, or the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

NOTICE

THE members of the Eastern Shore Jockey Club, are requested to meet at the Easton Hotel, in Easton, on Tuesday the 2d day of October next, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

LOOK HERE.

THE season has again arrived when those persons indebted for Officer's Fees have promised payment of the same, but finding very little exertion on their part made to comply with their promises.

AGENCY OFFICE, 48 BALTIMORE Street, BALTIMORE.

THE subscriber continues the business of buying and selling Real and Personal Estate, and will pay particular attention to the disposing of Servants, for terms of years or for life.

PETER W. WILLIS, Clock & Watch Maker, Denton, Maryland.

Offers his services to his friends and old customers, and the public generally.

MAGISTRATE'S GUIDE. LATROBE'S JUSTICES PRACTICE—INCLUDING THE DUTIES OF A CONVEYANCING—FOR SALE AT THIS OFFICE.

Branch Bank at Easton, September 16th, 1832.

THE President and Directors of the Farmers Bank of Maryland, have declared a dividend of 3 per cent, on the stock of the Company for the last six months.

JOHN GOLDSBOROUGH, Cashier, Sept 25.

MR. BENTON'S VICTORY.

EVERCLAY, WEBSTER, &c. &c. &c. Connected with the creation of this new debt was the establishment of several new branches, and the promise of many more.

April 1819, had it not been for the use of millions of public deposits, and the possible arrival of war, loaded with specie from Kentucky and Ohio.

Mr. Benton defended the old Bank in Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee, from the aspersions which had been cast upon them.

He told us then that the power of the purse commands that of the sword, and would he commit both to the hands of foreigners?

Bank of England with still more offensive epithets than the President has used. Mr. B. then read, and commented upon several passages of a speech of Sir William Pulteney, in the British House of Commons, against renewing the charter of the Bank of England.

Here continued Mr. B. his authority, English authority, for calling the British Bank in America a MONOPOLY; and the British Bank in America is copied from it.

The duplicate senators, said Mr. B. have occupied themselves with criticizing the President's idea of the obligation of his oath in constraining the constitution for himself.

The President is assailed for showing the drain upon the resources of the West, which is made by this Bank, and assailed with any document which shows that he is in error.

growth of the city. From further damage to New Orleans, the veto message would save that great city. Jackson would be her saviour a second time.

Mr. B. addressed himself to the Jackson bankmen present and absent. They might continue to be for a bank and for Jackson.

Mr. B. addressed himself to the west—the great, the generous, the brave, the patriotic, the devoted west.

Mr. B. rapidly summed up with a view of the dangerous power of the Bank, and the present and acridity of her conduct.

From the Georgia Journal. JUDGE CLAYTON & J. W. WEBB. Athens, Sept. 6th, 1832.

MEANS. Editors.—I discover that James Watson Webb, one of the editors of the "New York Courier and Enquirer," has, as in the case of the United States Bank, and doubtless, under the same kind of twiggity arguments, purest patriots that this or any other country has ever produced. I therefore send you the following correspondence for publication.

THE CORRESPONDENCE. Copy of a letter received and returned by A. S. CLAYTON, New York, April 9th, 1832.

Dear Sir—The high opinion I have ever entertained of your character, confirmed as it was, by your frankness at our late interview,

After conversing with you I saw Col. Johnson, and he very frankly informed me that he was prepared to exonerate the Courier and Enquirer from all blame, but says he "look upon this somewhat as a New York fight, it is New York against New York, and you had better see Mr. Cambreleng."

On this I left him somewhat abruptly, perfectly satisfied in my own mind, that the information from Col. Johnson was well-timed, and that the charge of Cambreleng's assiduity to us was true. It is evident to me, that knowing we can defeat his election next fall, he will destroy the public confidence in one of the

With evidence in my own possession calculated to disarm his defamations, to falsify his charges of improper motives, to refute the accusation of confederacy against him and the President of the Bank, to repel his insinuations as to the authorship and integrity of my report, and to expose his illiberal suspicions of Mr. Cambreleng's agency in that report, I ought not to withhold its publication.

With evidence in my own possession calculated to disarm his defamations, to falsify his charges of improper motives, to refute the accusation of confederacy against him and the President of the Bank, to repel his insinuations as to the authorship and integrity of my report, and to expose his illiberal suspicions of Mr. Cambreleng's agency in that report, I ought not to withhold its publication.

With evidence in my own possession calculated to disarm his defamations, to falsify his charges of improper motives, to refute the accusation of confederacy against him and the President of the Bank, to repel his insinuations as to the authorship and integrity of my report, and to expose his illiberal suspicions of Mr. Cambreleng's agency in that report, I ought not to withhold its publication.

With evidence in my own possession calculated to disarm his defamations, to falsify his charges of improper motives, to refute the accusation of confederacy against him and the President of the Bank, to repel his insinuations as to the authorship and integrity of my report, and to expose his illiberal suspicions of Mr. Cambreleng's agency in that report, I ought not to withhold its publication.