From the Washington Globe of this morning. We republish, from a specimen number of the Globe, which we have sent as a sample to our subscribers at many of the Post Offices, the following notice of our intentions, with regard to the improvement of the present paper, and also the issuing of a new publication called the "Congressional Globe"-The sam ple sheet, from which we extract the article below, will be found to contain four columns more than this paper, and to be greatly superior in its quality. We trust that the subscribers to our Daily, Semi weeely and Weekly print, will find in the improved condition of the Globe as contemplated, after the 1st of December next, a motive to encourage us by ed by the Trustees, so, that they may be en extending the circulation of the old, and also obtaining subscriptions for the new underta-

Specimen number of the Globe In the sheet (which will be found at the several Post offices at which we have subscribers) is presented a specimen of the paper and typography, through which, after the ing. moral conduct, and capacity to teach, meeting of the next Congress, we propose to mend the appearance of the Globe. No other newspaper in the United States will be found, after that period to surpass, and very few to equal, the beauty of its mechanical execution; and, we trust, by peculiar care and increased industry, to make it more worthy than it has hitherto been, in other respects, of the extensive and munificent subscription which has so enlarged its dimensions and improved its texture. To the liberal patrons of the Globe, who have followed it with their favor from a feeble semi weekly, printed at a job press, until it has become handsomely established, in an excellent office, of its own, with presses, types, and "all appliances to boot," we trust the unremitting efforts which we have made, as our gradually increasing means have permitted, to render it worthy of the encouragement they have afforded, will be taken as proof that we are not wanting in grateful feeling for past support, nor in the spirit to deserve and win it, for the future, however we beappointed, and in the branches which he may fail in the requisite ability.

The present enlarged and improved publication, it will be observed by the prospectus annexed, will be given to subscribers, after which the Globe has hitherto been furnished to subscribers.
