

A TALE OF MARVEL—Rumor will one of her ten thousand tongues, brought us a mysterious story yesterday of a "mysterious lady," which so far challenged credit that we were induced to send a competent witness in the afternoon to procure more particular information. Our agent, after the fullest opportunity of observation, has returned this morning, and communicates the following facts which we give without embellishment, as he relates them.

On Monday night of last week the family of Mr. Joseph Barron, living in the township of Woodbridge, about three miles from Railway in this county, were alarmed after they had retired, by a loud thumping against the house. Mr. B's first impression was that some one was attempting to break in, but further observation soon undeceived him. The thumping however continued at short intervals, until the family became so alarmed, that Mr. B. called in some of his neighbors, who remained up with the family until day-light when the thumping ceased.

The next evening, after night fall, the noise recommenced, when it was ascertained to be mysteriously connected with the movements of a servant girl in the family—a white girl about 14 years of age. While passing a window on the stairs for example, a sudden jar accompanied by an explosive sound broke a pane of glass; the girl at the same moment being seized with a violent spasm. This of course very much alarmed her, and she fled. Dr. Drake was sent for, and bled her. The bleeding, however, produced no apparent effect, the noise still continued as before, at intervals, wherever the girl went, each sound producing more or less of a spasm, and the physician with the family remained up again during the night. At day-light the thumping ceased again. On the third evening the same thing was repeated, commencing a little earlier than before, and so every evening since, continuing a little earlier than before, until yesterday, when the thumping began about 12 o'clock at noon.

The circumstances were soon generally spread through the neighborhood, and have produced so much excitement that the house has been filled and surrounded from sun set to sun-rise every night for nearly a week. Every imaginable means have been resorted to in order to unravel the phenomenon. At one time the girl would be removed from the house to another, but without effect. Wherever she was placed, at uncertain intervals the sudden thumping noise would be heard in the room. She was taken to a neighbor's house; the same result followed. When carried out of doors, however, no noise is heard. Dr. Drake who has been constant in his attentions during the whole period, occasionally aided by other scientific observers, was with us last evening for two hours, when we were permitted to make a variety of experiments with the girl in addition to those heretofore tried, to satisfy ourselves that there is no imposition in the case, and if possible to discover the secret agents of the mystery.

The girl was in an upper room with a part of the family when we reached the house. The noise then resembled that which would be produced by a person violently thumping the upper floor with the head of an axe, five or six times in quick succession, jerking a long iron bar a few minutes, and then resuming as before. We were soon introduced into the apartment, and permitted to observe for ourselves. The girl appeared to be in perfect health, cheerful, and free from the spasms felt at first, and entirely relieved from every thing like the fear or apprehension which she manifested for some days. The invisible noise, however, continued to occur as before, though somewhat diminished in frequency and sound while we were in the room. In order to ascertain more satisfactorily that she did not produce it voluntarily, among other experiments, we placed her on a blanket in the centre of the room; bandaged the chair with cloth, fastening her feet on the front round, and confining her hands together on her lap. No change, however, was produced; the thumping continued as before, except that it was not quite so loud; the noise resembling that which would be produced by stamping on the floor with a heavy heel. Yet she did not move a muscle, nor a finger, nor could we discover. She remained in this position long enough to satisfy all in the room that the girl exercised voluntarily no sort of agency in producing the noise. It was observed that the noise became greater the farther she was removed from any other person.

We placed her in the door-way of a closet in the room, the door being ajar to allow her to stand in the passage. In less than a minute the door flew open, as violently struck with a mallet, accompanied with precisely such a noise as a thump upon a pulley. This was repeated several times with the same effect. In short, in whatever position she was placed, whether in or out of the room, similar results, varied a little, perhaps, by circumstances, were produced. There is certainly no deception in the case. And now for conjecture. For ourselves we offer none, but among other conjectures which have been suggested by Dr. D. and others is that the phenomenon is electrical.

This conjecture is supposed to be supported by the fact that the noise is prevented by the intervention of substances that are non-conductors; as for instance, when a pillow was placed between her person and the door in which she stood, no noise or effect whatever was discoverable. So when she gets upon a feather bed, and again if she lays at length on the floor, the thumping appears to be near her head, which is very much affected at the moment of the report, so that she screams; on one such occasion she said it appeared as if some one was "knocking her brains out."

The noise of the reports may be heard at least 100 yards from the house.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

In relation to the "Tale of Marvel" extracted by us some days ago from the Newark Daily Advertiser, that paper of Monday has this notice:

"Mr. Barron, of Woodbridge, wishes us to say, that the increase and constant succession of visitors to his house has become a serious inconvenience to his family, and that in future none but professional gentlemen, who come introduced by his family physician, will, under any circumstances, be admitted.

"We regret to add, that the family, besides being unreasonably intruded upon at all hours of the day and night, have been treated with every undesired and indecent rudeness. In relation to the girl, we will barely remark at present, that the case has engaged the attention of those who will be likely soon to decide whether it be a phenomenon or a juggler. It is at any rate a puzzle."

It is perhaps not generally known that a piece of blotting paper, crumpled together to make it firm, and just wetted, will take ink out of mahogany. Rub the spot hard with the wetted paper, when it instantly disappears, and the white mark from the operation may be immediately removed by rubbing the table with a cloth.

THRONE OF PORTUGAL.

Who would have believed a few years since, that the throne of Portugal would have been shared by one of the Princesses of the Bonaparte dynasty? Yet such is the fact. The Cortes has ordained that the Queen, DONNA MARIA II is to be wedded to the son of EUGENE BEAULIEUX, who was the only son of the Empress JOSEPHINE, by her first husband, who fell a victim to the Revolution, on the scaffold. Prince Eugene was the favorite, and almost the only one, among Bonaparte's general officers: all the others, even his own brothers, were made use of to suit his temporary purposes, and were cast aside when no longer wanted; but Beaulieux, in every situation, enjoyed the Emperor's confidence; and from the kingdom of Italy, in 1814 held the vice-royalty till the abdication at Fontainebleau. He was one of the most accomplished men and chivalric officers of his day. Of his son we have heard nothing; but, if he inherits a spark of his father's spirit, the ancient house of Braganza will not be likely, during his reign, to be shaken.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

Domestic Manners of Sir Walter Scott, as given by James Hogg.—How or when he composed his voluminous works, no man could tell. When in Edinburgh, he was bound to the Parliament House, all the forenoon. He was never denied to any one, either lady or gentleman, poor or rich, and he never seemed displeased when intruded on; but always good-humored and kind.—Many a time I have been sorry for him; for I have remained in his study, in Castle street, in hopes to get a quiet word of him, and witnessed the admission of ten intruders, forely myself. Noblemen, gentlemen, painters, poets, and players, all crowded to Sir Walter, not to mention book-sellers and printers, who were never absent, but these spoke to him privately. When at Abbotsford, for a number of years his house was almost constantly filled with company; for there was a correspondence carried on, and always as one freight went away another came. It was impossible not to feel sorry for the time of such a man thus broken in upon. I felt it exceedingly, and once, when I went down by particular invitation to stay a fortnight, I had not the heart to stay any longer than three days, and that space was generally the length of my visits. But Sir Walter was never discomposed, he was ready, as soon as breakfast over, to accompany his guests wherever they chose to go, to stroll in the wood, or take a drive up to Yarrow, or down to Melrose or Dryburgh where his revered ashes now repose.—Fraser's Magazine.

Honors to the dead.—A writer in the National Intelligencer under this head relates the following anecdote.—When the body of Commodore DECATUR was placed in the vault of Mr. Barlow, (now Col. Bonifant's) at Kalorama, and when the multitude which accompanied the funeral had dispersed, he observed a solitary individual, in a sailor's dress, lingering near the place. He walked up to him, and asked him what he wanted; the sailor replied that he "only wished to look awhile at the place where they laid the man-of-war of the Navy!" must be fraudulent concoctions. The palest Sherry, called Amontillado, is added to lighten the color.—N. Y. Star.

How to get a new Coat.—Go into a store—be very polite—crack a joke—say something funny—try on a coat—fits you well—remarkably fine—cloth very good—examine it by the light—still more pleased when brought to the door—express yourself so to the shopkeeper—bid him a good morning and take to your heels—he follows—but you outrun him, and so escape.—This is the exact plan adopted by a fellow in a store, in Chatham street, yesterday. Store keepers should therefore be on their guard.—N. Y. Star.

SHERRY WINE.—Notwithstanding the large quantities consumed, there are but 7000 acres in the Xeres vineyard and 25,000 butts annually exported from there; so that the greater part must be fraudulent concoctions. The palest Sherry, called Amontillado, is added to lighten the color.—N. Y. Star.

PROSPECTUS

For publishing the EASTERN SHORE WHIG AND PEOPLE'S ADVOCATE, semi-weekly throughout the year.

Having assumed the entire management of the Whig, I am anxious to render the paper one of as much interest and usefulness as the circumstances under which it is published will admit of. With this view I have determined to issue it semi-weekly throughout the year, and to solicit the co-operation of the citizens of this county, and of such other of its patrons as can obtain it twice a week by means of the existing mail facilities. Receiving the mails, containing much important and interesting matter, twice a week, it is impossible for a paper published but once in the week, to keep pace, even in a tolerable degree, with the current events of the day, as furnished by the papers published in the cities; its readers are therefore driven to the necessity of taking the city papers, at higher prices, with greater charges of postage, or of losing much, which would be both amusing and interesting to them. To obviate these difficulties, therefore, and to be able to supply the citizens of Talbot and the adjoining or contiguous counties with a paper, which will inform them at an early day, of most matters of interest which the press of our country is daily evolving, I have determined on this course. In adopting it, however, it is not my intention to make any advance on the price of subscription to the paper to such as pay in advance. All such will receive it at the exceedingly low rate of $3 per annum. Those who do not pay in advance will be charged $4 per annum. It is further my intention to publish a weekly paper throughout the year, to meet the views of such of the patrons of the Whig as may not feel disposed, or may not find it convenient to take the semi-weekly paper. The weekly paper will be reduced to two dollars per annum, to such as pay in advance; those who do not pay in advance will be charged two dollars and fifty cents.

All payments for the half year, made during the first three months, will be deemed payments in advance, and all payments for the year, made during the first six months, will be deemed payments in advance. The importance of prompt payment to the publishers of newspapers, must be obvious to every one. To have one's debts scattered over the country in such small sums, renders them almost valueless; to correct this evil as far as practicable, and at the same time to extend the circulation of the paper by offering an additional inducement to subscribers, in the reduced price of the Whig, I have concluded to make the difference in price between such as pay in advance, and those who wait to be called on.

The above arrangement, will be carried into effect from the first of January next. The semi-weekly paper will be published on Tuesday and Saturday mornings, the weekly paper on Tuesday mornings. Subscribers to the Whig are requested to communicate to the editor which paper they would wish to receive; in the absence of such instruction, the semi-weekly will be considered as ordered by them. It is useless to give any assurance to the patrons of the paper, that it is my intention, if possible, to render it more worthy of their support. The effort now made must afford evidence sufficient of a disposition to give them a valuable consideration for the amount paid. If advantages to the public of diffusion of public confidence and support, I have no fear that it will fail to receive them.

Supplement to the Globe.

PROSPECTUS FOR THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE.

The Congressional Globe, which we commenced publishing at the last Session of Congress, will be continued through the approaching one. It will be published in the same form, and at the same price; that is, once a week, on a double row, except made up in quarto form, at one dollar per copy, during the session. When any important subject is discussed, we propose to print an Extra sheet. Subscribers may calculate on at least three or four extra sheets. At the close of the session, an Index will be made for the 1st and 2d sessions, and sent to all the subscribers.

We shall pay to the reporters alone, for preparing the reports that will be published in this paper, more than one hundred dollars a week, during the session. In publishing it, therefore, at one dollar for all the numbers printed during the session, we most boast of affording the most important information at the cheapest price.

Editors with whom we exchange, will please give us a gratuitous insertion; and those friends to whom we may send it, will please procure subscribers.

Companion to Waldie's Library.

The cheapest reprint from English Periodicals ever offered to the public.

Before the SELECT CIRCULATING LIBRARY had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting—that many occurrences in the literary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Belles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has shown other desiderata which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the Editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magazines, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quaterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret. To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choice contributions to Magazines, &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is believed that with the "Library" the "Journal" and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being all published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. The short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submitted. 1. The "Companion" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals. 2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the "Library"—each number containing sixteen pages—thus, every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be bound with the "Library" at little or no more expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the "Library" itself, a volume every year, of 416 quarto pages of the size of the present. 3. The price will be three dollars for a subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs of five and upwards will be supplied at two dollars each. 4. As the work will not be commenced, unless a sufficient patronage be obtained, no payment is required at present, only the name, and postage, so trifling as scarcely to be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others it were useless here to enter upon, the "Library" itself being the best by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day, adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor, or whose cheapness, how far he is likely to do this, he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the "Library" and "Companion" both, will obtain the two for six dollars; the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into seventy-eight payments, and half that sum for 100 notes or less distance from Philadelphia; while the same matter, in the usual American reprints of reviews and magazines in octavo form would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. We make this assertion advisedly.

Subscription to the "Companion" will be taken either with or without the "Library."

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the "Library," will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.
