POETRY.

From the National Laborer.

The time has come, the time has come, When labor must assert her right, Or groan beneath the shining sun...

With music oft and jocund mirth, Our hearts were wont to leap with joy; Once merry faces cheered our hearts...

For a'rice, with her poison'd breath, Blasted our fair devoted soil, Spread poverty, disease, and death...

The nabobs of the land for power, Did grind their fellows to the dust; Oh! cursed be that hapless hour...

When man first bent the knee to lust; For cathy meanness gilds the heap, That fools do fight for, knaves do reap...

Can ye submit to money's power? Can man consent to be a slave? Can you resign freedom's dower...

The naughty lordling's arms in crave? No! by heaven! by all that's just, Man shall not tamely lick the dust...

Oh! let not such eternal shame, Dim with its rust the nation's shield; But rather let the patriot's flame...

Of all that's great, and all that's good, Can kindle high the patriot's flame, Or thro' the pulse, or fire the blood...

Than that which binds the patriot's brow, The time has come, the time has come, When we must struggle might and main...

To save the lion our father's From lordling's grasp, and the chain, Let slaves and cowards turn and flee...

Our cause is just—MAN SHALL BE FREE.

PEW TALK AND CHURCH SCANDAL.

That tall young fellow's here to day! I wonder what his name's? His eyes are fixed upon our pew...

He looks that fady dressed in Green? It's Mr. Jones' Leach; There's Mr. Jones with Deacon Giles!

I wonder if he'll preach. Lend me your fan, it is so warm, We both will sit to prayers; Mourning becomes the widow Ames...

How Mary's bonnet flares. Do look at Nancy Sloper's veil! 'Tis full a breadth too wide; I wonder if Susannah Ayres...

Appears to day as bride? Lord! what a voice Jane Rice has got! Oh, how that organ roars; I'm glad we've left the singers' seats...

How hard Miss Johnson snores. What ugly shows are these in front! Did you observe Ann Will; Her new straw bonnet trimmed with black...

I guess she's lost a child. I'm half asleep—that Mr Jones! His sermons are so long; This afternoon we'll stay at home, And practice that new song.

[SENT AND PAID.]

HERE'S A HEALTH TO VAN BUREN AN' A PARODY.

AIR—"Huzzah for the Bonnets o' Blue." Here's a health to VAN BUREN, as a Here's a health to aid HICKORY, too!

An' who wina with a gu'd luck to their cause, May never gu'd luck be their due. Oh, its gu'd to be honest and wise, Its gu'd to be merry and free!

Its gu'd to support the Democrat's choice, VAN BUREN and JOHNSON for me! Hy, hy, hy!

At the balls and at the parties, and at the routs of the season after 12 P. M. The Mops were proceeding up stairs, when one of the persons stopped him with My Lord, we can't admit you, it is past twelve. Send in Lady Londonderry, and let her I am waiting for admission. Her husband is one of the Lady Patronesses. The answer from the Mops was, that her husband must come another evening.

A very virtuous lady was desired by another to teach her what secret she had to preserve the affections of her husband. It is, said she, by doing all that pleases him, and by enduring all that displeases him.

A THRILLING INCIDENT.
