STANCHION IS SELF-CLOSING

A practical stauchion that will close automatically by the action of the beast when placing its head through the bars is shown in the sketch. FORECAST OF FUTURE COWS

Constitution and Capacity Can Only Be Obtained by Supplying Needed Building Requirements.

A. BARR, United States Division of Dairying, Colorado Agricultural The best forecast of the future dairy cow is the number of pounds of feed received from weaning time until two years of age. The ration between the productive capacity of the cow and the care given her during the growing period is quite constant. Constitution and capacity can only be gotten by supplying the necessary building requirements. Large, strong cows are the results of care while heifers. The dairyman must be both a breeder and feeder. Improper feeding defeats the very object sought by breeding. The dairy cow is a highly-specialized animal, and, like all specialized animals, there is a tendency toward reversion, this tendency increasing with the more highly developed and improved animal. Scant feeding causes as rapid reversion toward the unimproved type as does careless breeding. The animal must adapt itself to its surroundings, and reversion is no more than adaptation; so if the food supply is not sufficient the greatest development, which means the great. est efficiency, is not possible.
