FIRE EATS CONCRETE

Fifteen-Foot Wall No Bar To Mine Blaze-Efforts To Halt Sixty-Year-Old Conflagration Have Cost A Big Fortune.

LANSFORD, PA, Jan. 31.—The famous mine fire which has been raging now for more than 60 years, and which started at Summit Hill, near the spot where Philip Ginter discovered anthracite coal in 1791, has burned through the immense concrete wall which the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company sank in front of it, deep down into the earth, several years ago, at a cost of more than $1,000,000.

It is now threatening the mammoth vein in the Panther Creek Valley, the largest and richest vein of anthracite in the world.

The wall, which was sunk into the ground to a depth of 100 feet, was 15 feet thick, of solid concrete, and exvery little attention—yet | would never eat through it, but that it always add to the attractive- | would prevent it from spreading any farther and eventually extinguish it. The fact that the flames have eaten through this huge barrier has caused grave fears among the Lehigh Coal and Navigation officials, who are now putting forth every possible effort to prevent the fire from getting into the vast beds of anthracite in the vicinity. A large force of men are at work drilling holes deep into the earth, and into these openings water and slush is being poured directly on the subterranean fire in the hope of preventing a rapid spread, if impossible to extinguish it. Already this fire has destroyed millions of dollars worth of coal, while the 60 year fight to extinguish it has cost enormous sums. ----
