

A NEW INDUSTRY STARTED.

Clark and Co. Have Opened the Old Mallalieu Mills Near Millington, and Are Now Spinning Worsted Knitting Yarn—The Farmers Can Sell Their Wool.

A new industry has been started in Queen Anne's county, within the last few weeks that should be of great benefit to the farmers of this and adjoining counties. This is the spinning of worsted knitting yarn. The mill now doing this work is the mill at one time known as the Unicorn Mills formerly the Mallalieu Mills, at Millington. This mill is well known to the people of both Queen Anne's and Kent counties. In the early history of the mills it made all the woolen goods for suitings, and later it made shirting, and before its last opening it made cloth.

This mill is now in charge of Clark & Company. They have entirely renovated the old mill building and began installing new machinery about the first of February. On or about the first of March work was started and the mill has been running steadily since, and now employs about eighteen hands.

With this mill running, it will create quite an industrial center in the upper part of Queen Anne's county. It will not only bring to the mill the workers in the factory, but will also bring their families. This will create a demand for houses and will be the means of renting practically all of the houses now situated at the mill, and will probably create the necessity for new construction. This mill, in good running order, backed by the farmers, who will see that it has all of the raw material that it needs, will be the means of making a settlement in and around the mill that will ultimately increase the value of all the land and houses within a short distance of it.

The operators of this mill desire to purchase the raw material from the farmers of this and adjoining counties and will buy most any grade of wool and will pay the highest cash price for it. This mill to be a success must have the raw material, and as the owners are willing to buy it from the farmers, this is another opportunity for the farmer to get at home a good price for his wool and at the same time encourage an industry that will pay bills. This means the expenditure of thousands of dollars a month, and practically all of it will go in this and in Kent counties.

The mill is run by water power, which is derived from a large lake and pond just back of the mill. Just across the road from the mill is situated a store and houses for some of the workers, and up the hill is what is known as the Mansion House. This was built by the Mallalieu's when they owned the property—Centre-ville Record.
