Fire-Prevention Week. President Harding has issued a proclamation designating Monday, October 9, as National Fire Prevention Day. The fire waste in the United States year after year, the President declared, reaches appalling figures, which are not approached in any other country. There ought to be especial effort, he added, to minimize such losses.

ONLY ONE MORE DAY TO REGISTER

All Democrats Not Now Registered Should Attend To It. Elections Won And Lost Through Registration Attention Or Neglect.

Kent county has one more day in which those voters who are not now on the registration books must get registered in order to vote in this fall's election—October 10th.

The importance of getting registered can not be emphasized too strongly for a party can not expect to win an election with its vote, largely, unregistered. Those who have recently become of age or will be of legal age by or on election day—November 7—should go to their respective district polling places and have their name enrolled as legal voters.

Those, who because of sickness, absence, neglect or indifference failed to get registered last year should see to it that this year will find them in a position to vote for U. S. Senator and Congressman. Remember that no one can vote unless he or she is registered. It is no trouble to register and takes but little time and everyone owes his country that much. See to it next Tuesday, October 10th.

Democrats, all over the county, should help out in this registration, if they are interested in their party's success. Send to the Democratic Central Committee the name of everyone who has not registered and also send in the name of all those who have moved in or out of the district during the past year so that these can be transferred to the district in which they now live. All who have moved from one district to another in this county or who have moved in this county from another—provided that they have been here for six months prior to the election—will have to get transfer certificates from their old district or county, as the case may be, and carry them to the district in which they now reside. This is important and should not be neglected.

DEALERS WILL CURB COAL HOGS

Information is being sent out to local representatives of the Maryland Fuel Distribution Committee in every county of the State as to approximately how much hard coal has been allotted the individual communities. It was stated yesterday by William K. Conway, secretary of the committee, a campaign to educate the people in the use of hard coal is planned by the committee.

Having been assured by anthracite operators that production this year will be at least 60 per cent. of what it was last year, the committee has been able to outline a plan of distribution. Coal dealers in all parts of the State will be asked to co-operate with the committee's agents in informing the people what quantity of hard coal they may expect to get. The necessity of economy in the use of anthracite and methods of practicing it will be given publicity by the local agents.

If any community will need a supply of coal greater than its allotment, the committee will try to arrange with the Pennsylvania Fuel Commission, which has charge of the distribution of almost all anthracite, to increase the quantity.

Assurances have been received from local coal dealers, it was said, that they will co-operate in curbing the activities of "order hogs." These persons order coal from a number of dealers accept deliveries until they have a plentiful supply of the fuel and then cancel the remaining orders. With the coal supply as limited as it is this year, the inevitable result of such a practice will be that others will have to go without coal altogether. Dealers have been asked to instruct their drivers not to deliver coal to cellars which already contain a good supply.

Bishop Berry Declares Old Time Evangelistic Methods Are Failure

The statement by Bishop Berry, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, that the old-time mass evangelistic meetings will not meet the spiritual needs of the present day, were features of a conference on evangelism held Monday at Chambers-Wye Memorial Church, Broad street, Philadelphia. Bishop Berry declared that times have changed and that clergymen must change their methods accordingly. Same scriptural methods must be adopted, the Bishop said, as the clergy has to fight the aftermath of professional evangelistic organizations.

The Rev. S. J. Ladd Thomas, of Germantown, agreed emphatically with Bishop Berry.

"I was Chairman of a Committee in Chicago," he said "and agreed heartily with Bishop Berry and hope never again to be connected with such an organization."

KIBLER IS PLEASED WITH HIS GRIDDERS

Coach Kibler is very well pleased with the showing that his gridmen made against Charlotte Hall. He seems to have accomplished what he set out to do—that is, to make his team a smoothly working machine. As to individual stars, none can be named, because it would imply a discrimination against other work. Every player is working as hard as he can for the success of the club in general and not for individual glory, and this is all any coach could ask of his men.

One thing, that was particularly noticeable was the wonderful interference given the runner, which was evidenced by the two 80-yard runs for touchdown from the kick-off by the sterling little quarterback—Cavanaugh—from Crosby High School, as well as continuous gains of 30 to 40 yards by Crowe, Bankard and Flowers. The line men charged low and together, which was shown by the fact that the locals were held for downs but one time and were never forced to kick. Although the weather was better suited for baseball than for football, the locals were in such good condition that the heat did not seem to affect them at all.

The boys piled up 76 points, one for each new scholar. The visitors were unable to get a second down. A fine crowd was present. The yell by student body were very encouraging.

PROMPT PAYMENT OF DUES.

Information For Members Of Modern Woodmen That Will Be Useful

"Every beneficial member who shall fail to pay any regular or special assessment on or before the last day of the month within which same is payable, or who shall fail to pay his local camp dues therewith, including his per capita tax, or who shall fail to pay with the assessment or assessments next thereafter payable, any fine imposed upon him, shall, ipso facto, become suspended, and during such suspension his benefit certificate shall be absolutely null and void. Camp clerks shall not accept any assessment unless accompanied by camp general fund dues including per capita tax for the month for which paid, nor dues in advance, unless the assessment or assessments current on the date of the payment be also paid—(Section 60, Head Camp By-laws.)"

Clerks of camps often advise me that they are late in forwarding their monthly pass reports, with remittance sufficiently to discharge the liability of all members of the camp, because members are slow in paying and fail to meet their obligations in this connection until after the close of the month.

The foregoing section clearly provides that any member who fails to pay his assessment and camp dues on or before the last day of each month thereby becomes suspended, and renders his benefit certificate during such suspension absolutely null and void.

It is important for each member of the Society to understand that a benefit fund assessment is levied for each and every calendar month of the year and becomes payable on the first day of each month. While it is true that the members have the entire month in which to make payment before suspension occurs they are less likely to overlook this important duty if they form the habit and custom of paying for the current month within the early days. Where payment is postponed until the closing days of the month, something is likely to intervene to cause them to overlook or neglect payment, and the result is suspension.

The clerk of camp is required to close his books at the end of each month. This means that those who have not paid on or before midnight of the last day of the month are suspended by virtue of our by-law provisions. Members should not wait until the clerk of camp feels impelled to call their attention to the necessity for payment or to have the money advanced for them by the clerk, or by the camp. Each member is not only obligated to make his payments promptly and within the prescribed time limit, but it is a duty they owe to their beneficiaries their families and their dependants.

There are thousands of our members who would become suspended each month if it were not for the fact that our clerks of camp remind them in various ways of the necessity for making payments. This great burden should not be laid upon the shoulders of our clerks. Each and every member, from the inception of his contract, should make it a point to pay each month's assessment early in that month and not expect notice to that effect from any source, for as a matter of fact the liability for assessments and dues is a calendar month proposition with out notice. If members know, as they should, where the clerk of camp maintains his office or where he can be reached every day in the month, why should any member procrastinate or fail to make payment until he receives a suspension notice and then realize that his insurance protection will remain forfeited until reinstatement is effected? In the uncertainties of life members cannot afford to take any such risk.

Instead of members following the habit of paying on the last day of each month, why not pay on the first when the current month's liability begins? —Modern Woodman.
