Things Worth Remembering. That a bag of hot sand relieves neuralgia.
That salt should be eaten with nuts to aid digestion. That milk which stands too long makes That rusty flatirons should be rubbed over with beeswax and lard. That it rests you, in sewing, to change your position frequently.

That hot, strong lemonade taken at bedtime will break up a bad cold. That a little soda water will relieve sick headache caused by indigestion.

That tough meat is made tender by lying a few minutes in vinegar water. That a cup of hot water drank before meals will relieve nausea and dyspepsia.

That well-ventilated bedrooms will prevent morning headaches and lassitude. That a cup of strong coffee will remove the odor of onions from the breath. That one in a faint should be laid flat on his back, then loosen his clothes and let him alone.

That consumptive night sweats may be arrested by sponging the body nightly in That cold tea should be saved for your vinegar barrel. It sours easily and gives color and flavor. That to beat the white of eggs quickly add a pinch of salt. Salt cools, and cold eggs froth rapidly. That a fever patient can be made cool and comfortable by frequent sponging off with egg before washing. That the hair may be kept from falling out after illness by a frequent application to the scalp of sage tea.

That white spots upon varnished furni

Taking $25 is called Total Depravity.

Taking one ham is called War on Society. "The great influence of woman cannot be fully estimated," said the teacher of the young ladies' Bible class. "Every young woman should ask herself this question: 'Am I my brother's keeper.'" And then the real bad girl in the corner seat remarked, just loud enough to be heard, that a girl with any spunk would rather be the keeper of some other girl's brother. A FARMER said: "One thing I don't like about city folk—they be either so stuck up that you can't reach 'em with a hay stack pole, or so blamed friendly that they forget to pay their board."
