A GAME THAT DIDN'T PAN OUT. An Unsuccessful Attempt to Fleece an Old Farmer of the Sixth District.

Centreville Record.

About two weeks ago, Mr. Lemuel Coursey, an estimable citizen and farmer of the sixth district, residing between Ruthsburg at home on the following morning, as they desired to see him on business of importance and what might be of great pecuni-

BUYING THE FARM.

From the description given him of the visitors by the members of his household who saw them, Mr. Coursey not having any urgent business to call him away, decided to stay at home and meet his then unknown friends. Sure enough, at about 9 o'clock the morning following, two men, driving a pair of stylish horses to a dayton, drove up to his residence and were met by Mr. Coursey, who is known as a kindhearted, hospitable gentleman, and after exchanging the courtesies of the day, introduced themselves as agents for some capitalists who desired to invest in farm county, saying that he wanted to reach that point so as to take the train home, and complained bitterly and in almost sobbing tones of the unkind treatment he had re-ceived at the hands of the people whom he give him $1 he might ride to Centreville, where could take the train instead of going to Goldsboro. He accepted the offer and tramp was out about $1,200. THE TITLE WAS GOOD. After arriving at Centreville and making team for the drive home, when their tramp friend put in his appearance and said he must reach Goldsboro, and there he could and examine the FRESH and NEW STOCK take the train for home, and at the same time asked for a ride as far back as they went, which they granted. THE CARDS AGAIN.

They had not more than gotten out of Centreville when the cards were again introduced, and by the time Mr. Coursey's farm was in view they had won at least and win what money he had, saying at the Also, TOBACCO and CIGARS. large amount of money he has and how j12. careless he is with it." It was right here that Mr. Coursey discovered that he was in the hands of sharpers, and so informed the one that was with him. This he stoutly denied and politely informed Mr. Coursey that he was a gentleman, and was armed to the teeth. I am armed to the teeth, too, replied Mr. Coursey, and the sooner you owing to the scarcity of money we will sell Coal at a very small advance above cost FOR THE which they hastily did. Why Mr. Coursey kept the matter a profound secret so long, is known at once, no doubt, they would have should take warning and be on the watch for all such fellows. This is the same two, undoubtedly, that has been operating on the peninsula for some time. ----A Novel Cure for Dog Bites. A woman writes to the New York Tri-

The owner talked of hydrophobia, and said that the dog had not tasted water for two weeks. Had I been afraid, I should, no doubt have taken nervous fits and died. The verdict But I simply applied a solution of salt has discovered that all diseases are caused by and vinegar," a litte more vinegar than salt, washed the wound with it, then tied in the South, for a snake bite. My finger was badly swollen and painful before I reached home, some hours after. I used the same simple remedy, with the same speedy result.

---Civility in Trade.

A gentleman bought some machine tools of a certain firm, and, not receiving them when promised, wrote, requesting to know why they were not delivered. To this he received no reply. Waiting for three days longer than it would take for an answer, he telegraphed briefly: "Send tools at once, or let me know why; in great need of them." This brought a reply from the superinten-dent, who fancied that this called for what answered: "Tools will be sent when we are ready, not before." The customer took the next train to the works—only one hour's ride—and brought the telegram with him. He ignored the superintendent, and went to the president with his grievance, who, being a sensible man soon arranged matters to the buyer's satisfaction. Then the presi-dent interviewed the superintendent, and gave him some good advice on the subject of politeness in trade, which it is to be hoped Human nature is weak, and the best of us are liable to err, but it is a bad thing to err on the side of incivility. No matter how large or small an order may be—five cents or fifty thousand dollars—the buyer is entitled to courteous treatment and prompt attention. The mouse gnawed the lion free of the net, and the five cent order man may know a fifty thousand dollar order man, whom he will take where he will be well treated. As the Engineer, from which we
