ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Emory I. Crouch, Lula E. Crouch Startt, Gustavus Startt, her husband, Emory Lister Crouch and Mildred Crouch, his wife, and Grace Hadaway, by their father and next friend, J. Frank Hadaway.

Dora Crouch Hadaway and Howard E. Hadaway, her husband, Edna Vickers Walbert, Clarence E. Walbert, her husband and Samuel H. Crouch and Myrtle Crouch, his wife.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County, State of Maryland.
In Equity, No. 2342.

The object of the Bill filed in the above entitled case is to procure a Decree of Sale of the Real Estate of Mary L. Crouch, deceased.

The Bill States:
1. That Mary L. Crouch, late of Kent County, State of Maryland, died in the year 1914, and she was in her lifetime, and at the time of her death, seized and possessed in fee simple of a dwelling and lot of land situated in the Seventh Election District of Kent County, State of Maryland, certified copy of the deed from Emory I. Crouch to the said Mary L. Crouch is filed herewith and made a part hereof, and marked "Complainants' Exhibit No. 1."

2. That the said Mary L. Crouch died in the year 1914, and left surviving her, her husband, Emory I. Crouch, and the following children and heirs at law:
Lula Crouch, who intermarried with Gustavus Startt.
Emory Lister Crouch, who intermarried with Mildred Jamar.
Dora Crouch, who intermarried with Howard E. Hadaway.
Edna Vickers Crouch, who intermarried with Clarence E. Walbert.
Samuel Crouch, who intermarried with Myrtle.
Fannie Crouch, who intermarried with J. Frank Hadaway.

The said Fannie Crouch died, leaving three minor children by name, Grace Hadaway, Dorothy Hadaway and Frank Hadaway, the said J. Frank Hadaway, father, who appears as one of the Complainants in this Bill as the father and next friend of the said minor children.

3. That since the death of the said Mary L. Crouch the property and premises have been occupied first for some length of time by Emory I. Crouch and some of the children of the said Mary L. Crouch and Emory I. Crouch, but as it is necessary that the taxes and repairs and other expenses should be kept up on said property and as there is no one in particular to look after these expenditures, and further that the real estate is not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to an interest therein, as above stated, and that, in order to make division of said property, it will be necessary that the said real estate be sold and the proceeds thereof divided among the parties according to their respective interests.

It is thereupon this 9th day of May A. D. 1925, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County, in Equity, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Kent County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 15th day of June next, giving notice to the said Samuel H. Crouch and Myrtle Crouch, non resident defendants warning them to appear in this Court in person, or by Solicitor, on or before the 29th day of June next, to show cause, if any they have, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

MUSKRAT IN LEAD OF VALUABLE FURS

Raw fur valued at $15,648,817, based on prevailing market prices were produced in Canada last year, the bureau of statistics reports. Silver and red fox, mink, otter, lynx and coyote fur recorded an increase in output over 1923.

In point of aggregate value the muskrat was the most important fur producing animal, contributing 2,985,395 pelts worth $3,440,363, followed by beaver with 169,173 pelts valued at $2,542,092, and mink with 219,641 pelts worth $2,113,569. White fox and silver and red foxes ranked next.

THE COLLEGE DANCE

The sixth and last dance of the season held under the auspices of the Cotillion Club of Washington College was attended Friday night by young women and their escorts from Baltimore and Western Shore counties, Delaware, the counties of the Eastern Shore and the Maryland State Normal School. A number of guests also came from the University of Delaware, at Newark, to enjoy this senior prom, the most elaborate ball of the year before commencement. The decorations were the most beautiful ever seen at the college.

One hundred and twenty-five couples danced to the strains of an orchestra from Cumberland in the gymnasium.

Patrons and patronesses were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Hyman Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Beck and Dean Genevieve Boland of the college. The committee on arrangements consisted of Luther A. Cooper, chairman; Elias W. Nuttle, John E. Bankert, Charles M. Jarman, Horace Wheeler, Howard T. Rayne and Earl Cullen.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Lillian Watson, of Skinner's Neck, Md.

The Master's Garden
In the garden of the Master,
Bloom the flowers so bright and fair,
Which his hand in love has planted,
Which He guards with tenderest care,
Naught can harm the fragrant blossoms,
Wintery storms can never blight
For the sunshine of His presence
Sheds for aye its wondrous light.

In the garden of the Master,
Lillies bloom in white array,
Breathing forth a holy incense
In the breeze their census sway
There beyond the shining portal,
In the realms of light above
Earthly flowers shall bloom immortal
In the garden of His love.

When we meet in Heaven's garden,
When the gates are open wide,
We shall all our lillies
Growing at the Saviour's side.
By a Friend, N. B. W.

COLLEGE NOTES

A most enjoyable affair was given Friday night, May 29th, when the Philadelphia Chapter of the Washington College Alumni Association held a banquet at the Meridian Club of that city. Thirty-five former students of the college were present, and Dr. Mary C. Burchinal acted as toastmaster. The chief event of the occasion was an address by John H. Minnick, Ph. D., dean and graduate school of education at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Minnick spoke on "The Opportunities of the Small College" and dwelt with great appreciation on the advantages accruing from the educational facilities of the smaller institutions of learning as compared with the student's work in a large university. The discussion going on among educators as to the relative advantages offered by large and small colleges was taken up by the speaker who gave the small school; such as Washington College; the better of the argument. President Paul E. Titzworth, of Washington College, then addressed the meeting on "Our College and Our Faculty," setting forth the increased energy with which Washington is going forward and the higher class of instruction being drawn to the college in recent times. He was followed by Prof. William R. Howell, who stressed the general subject of what it means to be a graduate manager. Prof. Howell is graduate manager of athletics at Washington, and spoke from his experience in directing the business management and athletic standards of a small college but a growing one.

The banqueters indulged in a song-fest after the speeches and college songs, lead by Prof. A. Roy Woodland of the college faculty, were sung with great zest and enthusiasm. The meeting was one of the most inspiring ever held by local chapters of Washington alumni. The guests of honor were President Titzworth, Dr. and Mrs. John H. Minnick, Professor Howell and Professor Woodland.

Among those present were Dr. Titzworth, Professors Woodland and Howell, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Minnick, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coulbourn, Miss Mary Burchinal, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph F. Tull, Harry Pringle Ford, Wm. J. Bratten, Mr. and Mrs. William Coulbourn Brown, Miss Maude O. Hickman, Mrs. Lillian Benton Price, Miss A. Virginia Reich, Mrs. Perry Professor Holloway, Superintendent of Delaware Schools; and Dr. and Mrs. Hitch, of Wilmington.

EASTERN SHORE Today and Yesterday

By James A. Newell

UNIQUE IS THE TOPOGRAPHY OF MARYLAND, for the rich and fruitful waters of the Chesapeake have separated the land of this Old Line State. Traveling down the "Sho" through Cecil until the far point is reached, James A. Newell, a Marylander and a member of the reportorial staff of The Baltimore News, is on a sightseeing trip. "Jimmy" knows the "Shore." What's more, important, he knows the "folk" and their customs. He has lived there, is familiar with its history of yesteryear and what's what in Kent, Worcester, Princess Anne, Wicomico and all counties of today. In fact, his story will be distinctly different, interesting to all Marylanders, whether they live along the "Shore," in Baltimore or Western Maryland.
