In loving remembrance of our husband and father, Daniel B. Ruth, who left us one year ago, October 28th, 1924.

You are resting in peaceful slumber. One sad year has passed away. You are gone, but not forgotten. As we think of you each day. No one knows the silent heartache. Only those who have lost can tell. Of the grief that is borne in silence. Of the one we loved so well.

In sad but loving remembrance of our boy, William C. Beck, who departed this life 9 years ago Oct. 19, 1917.

Before my eyes he faded, Growing weaker every day, Doing all I could to save him Until God took him away. Never shall I cease to love him; Never shall his memory fade, Sweetest love forever lingers Around his sweet and peaceful grave.

By His Loving Mother. Only a word, dear brother, Is all we want to say. For everything seems changed to us, Since the day you went away. And we trust that you are happy. In your heavenly home above, Where all is joy and pleasure And everlasting love.

By His Brother, Herbert.

"The store with a conscience"

"Saving is the art of spending wisely."

Franklin, the father of modern thrift movements, thus defined saving over a century ago. The definition has stood the test of time—it is as true today as when it was first written.

"The store with a conscience" practices what it preaches—it preaches thrift in buying, just as it encourages thrift in selling.

Study the thrift opportunities below, it will pay you well. Every article is correct in style, durable in quality and guaranteed—the prices tell their own story.
