CHRISTMAS IN THE
CHURCHES OF KENT

Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown, was tastefully decorated for the Christmas tide by the Triangle Club, Mrs. Vickert Bowers, president. Sunday school assembled at 11 o'clock and joined in a beautiful program of carols and sermon by the pastor. An orchestra consisting of Miss Elizabeth Culp, pianist, Arthur Bacon, cornet; Russell McMenamin, trombone; Jos. N. Wheatley and D. B.
McMenamin, violins.

In the afternoon the Juniors lead by Miss Catherine Elliott presented a program of recitations, etc.

At 7:30 p. m. an illustrated Christmas lesson was presented, Jos.
N. Wheatley and Wm. L. Fowler doling the reading while E. A. Culver and son managed the stereopticon; Hope B. Hudson, electrician. Solos by Miss Beckley and Miss Coleman were appreciated.

The Christmas treat was held in the Sunday school room on Monday evening. After a number of speeches by the little folks and a solo by Miss Sarah Dodd Old Kris in the person of Philip Sewell came and distributed 250 boxes of candy and oranges.
The only exception, was the gift of a $5 gold piece from the Bible Class to Rev. N. O. Gibson.

The Chestertown M. E. Sunday School held their Christmas evening on Monday night. The entertainment and treat on Monday evening.

mas Star Asks A Question" was staged under the personal direction of Miss Cora McWhorter. The cast of characters included Helen Baxter, Emily Jewell, Earl Willis, Virginia
Reed, Julian Coleman, Howard Reed, Louis Hess, Anna Lewis and any number of cherubs, angels, carolers and shepherds. Jack Reed, Paul Pippin and Vernon Needles took special roles. Miss McWhorter was chairman of the entertainment committee assisted by Mrs. Merrick Clements, Miss Mary Corey, Julian Coleman, Mrs. Alonzo Sterling and Mrs. Geo.
N. Cooper. Clarke Davis was chairman of the decorating committee.
Clarence Newcomb as old Kris distributed candy and oranges to all present. Rev. T. J. Sard, pastor of the church, was presented with a lovely basket of fruit from his class.
Edward Newsome, superintendent of the school was also given a basket of fruit and Mrs. Joiner the sexton was given money.

The Protestant Episcopal Sunday School also held their entertainment and treat on Monday evening.

COLD WAVE HITS THIS SECTION OF STATE

Residents of this vicinity experienced the coldest weather of the year during Sunday and Monday. While the thermometers in varied from 10 to 14 degrees, J.
E. Cooper, down on the Chriver, says his reached 7 degrees.

The scarcity of coal and caused many to suffer, even in homes from the cold.

Plumbers were engaged spitting off water supplies and repairing leaks in the pipes in the homes.

From the grocers, who handle kerosene, it was learned that more of this fluid has been sold to date than for many winters.

Many of the residents are heating their homes with oil stoves in order to save other fuel.

Along the State highway and other roads of the county, automobiles were seen starting with their radiators frozen.

The garage men were making calls for aid autoists.
