NEW LINES IN BROAD NECK

Construction of additional pole lines to connect rural telephone subscribers in the vicinity of Landford and Broad Neck with the Chestertown central office involving expenditures of $3,790, has just been authorized by the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City at its regular monthly meeting held in Baltimore. This appropriation, according to H. C. Harris, manager of the company, brings the total amount authorized for similar work in the State so far this year to $6,393,653.

The Langford and Broad Neck areas have previously been served by the Langford Rural Telephone Company, but this property has now been acquired by the Chesapeake and Potomac Company, which will construct new lines from its central office at Chestertown to serve the subscribers in these areas. This project provides for erecting 135 poles, and about 25 miles of wire. Also included in the appropriation is the routine estimate for the fourth quarter of the year involving expenditures of $707,000. Under this project additional pole lines, wire, underground conduit and cable, aerial cable, switchboards and central office equipment and telephones and associated apparatus will be placed in every section of Maryland.

CHESTERTOWN GOLFERS TRIM SALISBURY CLUB

The Golf team of the Chester River Country Club, of Chestertown, won the silver loving cup offered to the winner of the annual tourney held by the Delmarva Peninsula Golf Club by defeating the Greenhill Country Club, of Salisbury, 25 to 11, on the local course in Dover.

The final game was the play-off of a tie between the two season leaders, each of which had registered four wins and two lost games during the summer. Chestertown easily overcame the Wicomico country club swingers on the neutral course.

Individual scores:
Chestertown—Stanger, 3; Russell 2; Clark, 2; C. Truslow, 2; Kroegeer 2; Derringer, 2; Corey, 0; Kibler, 3; Strong, 2; Falls, 1; Collins, 3; J. Metcalfe, 3. Total, 25.

RAMO PROSPERI KILLED IN AUTO

Ramo John Proserpi, age 21, of 1891 Twenty-third street, N. W. Washington suffered a fracture skull that caused his death two hours later in Union Hospital, Elktion, and Littleton Crew, Jr., age 22, of Betterton, suffered bruises and cuts when a roadster in which Proserpi was driving early Monday morning crashed into a telegraph post at Knight's Corner, four miles below Elktion.

There was reason to believe that Proserpi may have fallen asleep at the wheel. Crew admitted that he was asleep, having driven the first part of the journey from Edgewood toward Chestertown.

The two young men had been visiting friends at Edgewood, and were on their way to Chestertown, after midnight Monday morning. Crew, whose injuries were not serious, said he had driven the car part of the way and Proserpi was taking a turn at the wheel, while he was taking a nap.

Crew was rudely awakened when he was thrown out of the car by the contact with the telegraph pole which Proserpi had struck at a turn in the road. He found Proserpi unconscious on the road near the wrecked car. Crew went to a nearby farmhouse and telephoned for the American Legion ambulance at Elktion.

Proserpi died about two hours after he was entered in the hospital. Coroner Howard W. Green is investigating the accident.

During the summer Proserpi had been employed at Chestertown by Mrs. George Maurice Morris, 1831 Twenty-third St., northwest, Washington, who is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cayo Proserpi. The father is in Italy and the mother lives at the Morris home in Washington.

Week's Fire Record In Kent County

The Volunteer Fire Company was called Sunday afternoon about five o'clock to the home of W. Frazier Russell, Jr., Esq., on Washington avenue to fight a stubborn blaze. The fire started in a small packing room and made its way up under the asbestos. Mr. Russell was asleep in an adjoining room and had to be awakened and made his escape in his pajamas. Mrs. Russell was down stairs while Ellenor was on the side porch. Neighbors discovered the smoke pouring from the eaves and windows and notified the occupants. The Fire Co. did splendid work confining the blaze to the attic and roof with plenty of water. The loss is covered by insurance in Jos. N. Wheatley & Co.'s Agency. It has not been appraised but we are informed that it will require a whole new roof, front and back, new plastering, papering, etc. A great deal of the furniture also was not lost or damaged. The fire was not caused from defective wiring because there were no wires in the room.

A vacant house at Fairlee owned by Andrew Cann, formerly occupied by a colored family, was totally destroyed by fire at 1.00 A. M. Monday. The Chestertown Volunteer Company responded to an alarm, but the building was doomed before the firemen arrived. The cause of the fire is unknown.

A bungalow owned by Mr. and Mrs. Berglander, near Galena, burned on Monday together with contents, including $80 in money. Mrs. B. was in the field and Mr. B. had gone to Galena when she saw the smoke from the house. Millington Fire Company was called but could only save the adjoining buildings with water from a small stream near the barn. No cause is given for the fire.

A blazing tree, near the Delmarva Restaurant caused the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company to be called out on Monday evening and one of the firemen, Edward Blackway, suffered a painful injury when a splinter was run into his hand. He has been in Eastern Hospital several days for treatment.

The fire company was called out Wednesday night to extinguish a fire in a tool house in the rear of Colonel Ewing's new home near the Country Club house. An automobile fire on Court House square caused an alarm to be sounded Thursday.

T. R. VALLIANT'S ARM CRUSHED
Two Centerville residents, T. Rigby Valliant, of the firm of E. S. Valliant and Sons, fertilizer dealers, and Bernard Dadds, a chauffeur, are suffering severe injuries as a result of two automobile accidents near Church Hill, Friday. The latter has a broken nose, and severe bruises. Mr. Valliant's left arm is so badly mutilated at Emergency Hospital, Eastern, where he was taken, that it may be necessary to amputate it.

Mr. Valliant's accident occurred late Friday on the road from Roberts to Church Hill, about twelve miles from Centerville. He was riding in a Ford roadster toward Church Hill. He was riding with his left arm resting on the side of the car, when in making a bend in the road, the truck swerved and struck his arm, crushing the elbow and breaking the bone in the upper arm. The muscle around the elbow was completely torn away.

I. R. Pilestwood, of Denton, passed the accident shortly after and took Mr. Valliant to Centerville, and from there he was sent to Emergency Hospital, Eastern.

Mr. Valliant is the youngest son of Mrs. Mary T. Valliant, of Church Hill, and the late E. S. Valliant. He is a member of the Valliant firm of fertilizer manufacturers. He is a brother of Mrs. W. W. Chapman of Chestertown.

Mrs. Valliant was visiting friends in Odessa, Del., at the time of the accident.

Mr. Dadd's accident occurred Friday night about 10 o'clock, near Church Hill, on the Sudlersville Church Hill road, when the Ford sedan he was driving struck a culvert and turned over. The car was demolished, and Mr. Dadd, was thrown out. He was carried to Centerville to the office of Dr. H. E. McPherson who rendered medical aid. Mr. Dadd is a chauffeur for the J. O. Pippin Company, in Centerville, was returning from Wilmington, where he had been on a business trip. It is said a blowout may have caused the car to crash into the culvert. Mr. Dadd is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dadds, of Centerville.

HORSESHOE ARTISTS

For the second consecutive year Raymond D. Gosman, of Worton, won the Kent county horseshoe pitching championship in a contest held Tuesday in Chestertown Tuesday under Baltimore Sun auspices.

Four of the best tossers in Kent county, Raymond D. Gosman, Worton; John Scott, Fairlee; Frank Puppe, Rock Hall, and Charles Harris, of Chestertown, were entered in the contest.

In the semi-finals R. D. Gosman defeated Charles Harris, 26 to 9 and 27 to 22, and John Scott defeated Frank Puppe, 27 to 19 and 30 to 13.

In the finals for the county championship, Gosman defeated Scott, 25 to 14 and 26 to 16.

During the play Gosman scored a total of thirty-three ringers and four double ringers.

William A. Wheatley, clerk to the Board of County Commissioners, presented a silver cup donated by the Sunday papers to the county champion. The officials were T. D. Bowers, Richard H. Collins, Jr., Charles Harris, William G. Smyth, James D. Davis, Jr., and County Agent J. D. McVean.

BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Kennedyville, pennant winner in the Chesapeake Bay League, and Dagsboro, winner of the championship title in the Eastern Shore loop, will meet on Saturday to decide the right to the title as baseball champions of the Peninsula. The game will be played at Milford, Del.

Kennedyville and Dagsboro each have won a game in the title series and the contest on Saturday will determine the wearer of the crown.

HONORED GUEST HERE SUNDAY

Chestertown was honored by two distinguished visiting speakers Sunday afternoon and both were named Kelly. Dr. Howard A. Kelly and Dr. Robert L. Kelly were the guests. One spoke at the church and the other at the college and both were fine.

The first vesper service of the new college year was held at the college Sunday afternoon. Dr. Robert L. Kelly, former president of Earlham College, Indiana, and now secretary of the Association of American Colleges was the speaker. He delighted everyone. His speech, however, was somewhat interrupted by an alarm of fire on Washington avenue. Music was furnished by Dr. Livingston's quartette of instrumentalists and solo by Miss Atravter.

The Lord's Day Alliance held a mass meeting in Chestertown M. E. Church Sunday afternoon. Dr. Howard A. Kelly, surgeon and scientist was the principal speaker. Dr. W. W. Davis also spoke forcibly. Dr. Paul E. Titsworth presided. Prof. George A. Vogel, Director of Music St. Paul's Brotherhood, Baltimore conducted the singing.

When Miss Thomas entered the chicken house the vicious rooster flew at her. She stepped back and in so doing fell, catching her arm beneath her body, and fracturing a small bone. She was carried to the Eastern hospital by Dr. A. L. Sterling, local druggist, on Monday evening, where an X-ray picture revealed the fracture. The bone was set and Miss Thomas returned to Chestertown on Tuesday. She expects to be at the school next week. In the meantime Mrs. Walbert is substituting.

400 BARRELS OF CRABS DAILY

Rock Hall and Piney Neck Fishermen Have Biggest Crabbing Season for Many Years—Truckers Carry Catch Direct To New York Market—6 to 14 Barrels Caught Per Day By Each Boat—Soft Crabs Bring $1.25.

Rock Hall and Piney Neck watermen are loud in their praise of the new conditions which have brought about one of the highest yields of crabs known here for many years. Fish have been very scarce so that the watermen turned to crabbing with the idea that it was their only hope. This venture proved to be a veritable Godsend.

Early in June the season opened with crabs bringing $3.4 and $5 per barrel, but as the supply increased the market dropped until it reached as low as 75 cents per barrel. Each barrel contains 18 to 20 dozen crabs according to size. Local buyers take all the boatmen bring to the wharf and are loaded on large trucks. These trucks make the trip to New York in six hours and may be seen every day about 6.30 P. M. passing thru Chestertown. J. Walter Seone, James Coleman, Roy Jacquette, Herman Jacobs and others are the principal buyers and shippers at Rock Hall.

These men have averaged 400 barrels per day for three months, including Saturdays and Sundays. The crabs brought from $4 to $7 in New York. Each barrel cost 20 cents being furnished the crabber by the dealer. Eels and tripe are used as bait and this also is kept on hand by dealer and sold at a low price to customers. The means used in crabbing are hand lines, traps and spool line. The latter is run by gasoline engine and owners catch from 6 to 14 barrels daily. A barrel per day is the average catch of hand line crabbers.

The soft crab industry has also been helpful this year, the shipments amounting to 150 to 200 dozen per week. These sell for $1 and $1.25 per dozen.

The crab is an interesting study and many lessons learned from his life. The eggs are attached underneath the tail, to the swimming appendages, and the young hatch there. The young pass thru several stages after hatching before they come to look like their parents.

They shed three times a year, viz: hard shell, paper shell, then a peeler followed by soft shell. Then on to a hard crab again until it gets to be a channel crab so large that he falls to change and soon ends its days.

There were 292 licenses issued in this county up to Wednesday.

TEACHER BREAKS ARM

Miss Laura R. A. Thomas, for many years a teacher in the Chestertown Elementary School, suffered a broken bone in her wrist Monday evening. She fell in the poultry yard at her home on Washington avenue while trying to avoid being attacked by a large rooster.

When Miss Thomas entered the chicken house the vicious rooster flew at her. She stepped back and in so doing fell, catching her arm beneath her body, and fracturing a small bone. She was carried to the Eastern hospital by Dr. A. L. Sterling, local druggist, on Monday evening, where an X-ray picture revealed the fracture. The bone was set and Miss Thomas returned to Chestertown on Tuesday. She expects to be at the school next week. In the meantime Mrs. Walbert is substituting.

Geo. G. Pennington, contractor and builder, has been engaged to supervise the extensive improvements at the estate on Chester river belonging to Col. H. S. Brown. Bids will be received on the work at an early date.

W. R. Kiddoo, a member of the faculty of Goldey College, Wilmington, was the special speaker at the regular meeting of the Chestertown Rotary Club Monday evening. He spoke on the subject, "Objectives in Modern Accounting." Members of the Mercantile section of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce were special guests.

The football season at Washington College will open on Saturday when the varsity squad will meet the Maryland University team at College Park. For the past 10 days 35 or more candidates for the regular team have been going through hard scrimmages on the college gridiron under the direction of Head Coach J. Thomas Kibler and his newly appointed assistant, Omar D. Crothers, a former star of Maryland University.
