4-H Club Banquet Very Inspiring

The thought of a calf club banquet seems commonplace—perhaps it suggests just another meal or possibly even a feed for the calves, until you have experienced such an occasion. There are 6,000 4-H Boys' and Girls' in Maryland, and a million in the United States.

The writer, one of over one hundred people, attended the Eighth Annual Banquet of the Kent County 4-H Calf Club members and was really inspired. The after dinner program by the youngsters was a great stimulus—a cause for thanksgiving and rejoicing. Here youngsters from the farms revealed the high purposes motivating their work. Their motto, "To make the best better," means a healthy competitive spirit among the members and between clubs, also each member is in competition with him or herself, striving to make his or her best better.

Speaker after speaker among these youths revealed faith and optimism; revealed training and skill in many activities; revealed self discipline and strong purpose in handling duties, and powers wrested from Nature; revealed a forensic ability which came as a pleasing surprise to parents and teachers; revealed an uncovering of latent power; a freeing of smothered fitness, worthiness and submerged excellence; revealed high hopes and aspirations; revealed glorious youth training for its destiny; the leadership of tomorrow.

More power to parents who have caught the significance of this 4-H Club Movement, who sacrifice to enable their children to participate, who make an investment of time, effort, and money in the future of their children. More power to inspired local leaders who give of their best on the firing line; to club leaders who stimulate and inspire, who impart a consciousness of power, of duty, of service, unselfishness, good sportsmanship; who cause changed outlooks on life, who reveal the beauties and realities of life in the rural section. More power to taxpayers who contribute the mite necessary to operate this most significant movement which supplements and vitalizes the work of our schools.

Inspiration came again when one viewed the conditions under which the banquet was served. Here was a revelation that home ties still bind the 4-H families. Here we find the mothers of the members staging the banquet with their own hands, a real task for busy farm mothers. Here gathered round the festive board were preacher, teacher, banker, editor, business man, county official, parents, members, and visiting club leaders

COMMON CLAY AT NEW LYCEUM THEATRE

Bringing one of the most noted of stage dramas to the speaking screen with Constance Bennett and Lew Ayres in the leading roles, "Common Clay," Victor Fleming's first production for Fox movietone, will attract unusual attention during its showings at the New Lyceum Monday and Tuesday, March 9-10.

Miss Bennett's role gives that noted actress full scope for her exceptional abilities.

With Beryl Mercer, Matty Kemp and Tully Marshall heading the supporting cast, the audience's interest is maintained every moment.

Jules Furthum wrote the scenario and dialog from Cleves Kinkead's Harvard prize play.

A traveler in Darkest Africa says that jungle terrors are diminishing there. That keeps the world basking even. They certainly are increasing here.

GUNNERS HAVE INCREASED

The State Game Department reports that during the year 1930, 73,555 hunting licenses were issued throughout the State, as compared with 68,566 the previous year. Of the total number of permits issued, 60,857 were to county residents, while the remainder were granted to State and non-resident hunters. The total revenue received from the sale of licenses amounted to $140,000.55, an increase of $9,903 over 1929. Many of the sportsmen of the county attribute the unusually poor shooting of the past season to the great increase in the number of gunners.

The extra services at Christ M. P. Church have been well attended this week and considerable interest awakened. Revs. Mr. Baxley and Marker have delivered excellent sermons. Dr. Sexsmith, the pastor, is in charge.
