WOULD RECONSTRUCT

MD. CONSTITUTION

Governor Ritchie Monday said he had directed Attorney General W. Preston Lane, Jr., to draft a bill to call a convention to act on redrafting the State Constitution.

The Governor's action following the controversy over whether or not the vote on the convention, taken at the November election was sufficient under the law, to convene the body for consideration of the constitution.

The executive said that the bill would be drawn, and any opposition to calling the convention would have to be taken to the courts for a decision on legality of the vote.

The measure, which probably will be ready for representation to the assembly next week, will provide the election of delegates to the convention, selection of a meeting place, probably in either Baltimore or Annapolis, and a date for the gathering.

Whether or not the delegates will be paid has not been decided.

An oil company sold a half interest in some of its property for $72,500.00 and still some of the oil interests complain of a shortage of money.

A member of parliament from Glasgow recently entered a lion's cage. Even for a Scotchman, it seemed an odd way to avoid paying rent.

It seems a sports writer just has to be in the game from ten to fifteen years before sitting down and frankly calling a football a "football".

BANISH CARNIVALS

A delegation from the Caroline County Firemen's Association, representing all sections of Caroline county were before the Caroline County Commissioners on Tuesday last asking for an appropriation from the county for the maintenance of the five fire companies comprising the association.

It would seem that here is a long-looked-for opportunity for the consistent carnival knockers to come to the front and insist that the County Commissioners make this appropriation and thereby wipe out with one sweep the "dread influence" of the fireman's carnivals in the county.

Pursuant to the crystallization of public opinion the County Association has presented a plan for a way out without having carnivals. It remains for the people to voice their wishes to the County Commissioners to bring concrete action in this matter.

An unusual number of pleas for aid to families in need of food and clothing are reaching the local headquarters of the Kent County Public Health Association and are being referred to the Town Relief Society and the Kent County Chamber of Commerce which have the machinery to handle such cases.

As votes come in from women's organizations of Kent county in a poll on jury service for women it becomes evident that the sentiment so far is against the proposal.

Three women's clubs in scattered sections of Kent county are against the idea. One club in Millington cast a total of 20 votes against it and not one for it.

IN MEMORIAM

Loller in loving remembrance of my dear brother J. Carroll Loller who died Jan. 29, 1931.

Even death has a wonderful mission.

Though it robs us of those we love, It draws us from our surroundings.

To long for the meeting above, No matter how heavy our losses, No matter how great our despair, Does not Heaven seem nearer and brighter,

To know that we have loved ones there, By his sister Margaret L. Elliott, feb28-11

Of Sarah E. Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Taylor who passed away February 28, 1931.

One year has passed since that sad day.

The one we loved was called away, God took her home—it was his will, But in our hearts she liveth still.

By her Mother, Father and Grandmother.

The flowers we place upon your grave May wither and decay, But love for you who sleeps beneath, Will never fade away.

By her loving sisters and brothers.

CUT COST 1931

The NEWS has interviewed the well-known hardware firm of Jones and Satterfield as to the farming outlook and are glad to give same to our readers:

"The coming crop year," said these gentlemen, "will be a year of cutting crop costs wherever it can be done. The good farmer will take this to mean using only the best of his land for cropping and farming better than he has ever farmed before. It means the best of tested seed, adequate machinery, unstinted use of fertilizers wherever needed, culled poultry flocks, high yielding dairy herds and improved livestock of all kinds.

"The year 1930 with drought and depressed markets left agriculture with a headache but as spring approaches farm respiration and heart beats are coming stronger. The federal agricultural department figures show only a 5 per cent decline in agricultural production the past year as compared with 1929 but the prices received by the farmer show a much higher falling off.

"The crops of 1930 had an aggregate value of $6,274,000,000 based upon average farm prices December 1 compared with a total value of $8,675,000,000 a year before. Thus a 6 per cent smaller crop actually brought 28 per cent less money to the farmer than in 1929.

"In the case of livestock the packers paid a total of $1,554,000,000 for all cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs slaughtered during the first 10 months of 1930 under federal inspection as compared with $1,783,000,000 for the same period a year ago. Four per cent less meat brought 8 per cent less money.

"There is sometimes so much said about marketing farm products that the real old rock ribbed principles of good farming are overlooked but it is a certainty that every penny that can be cut from production costs makes the marketing problem that much easier.

"Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday, and it never happened."
