The Election in Kent.

The result of the election in Kent last Tuesday surprised the Democrats, while the Republicans were simply dumbfounded. For weeks past the former have been confident of success, but over 200 majority was never claimed for the highest. The Republicans did not expect to elect their whole ticket, but were confident of securing the senator, the sheriff and several county commissioners. The action Republicanism Again Repudiated by an of the Democratic county convention in its recalled session on Saturday, October 10, did more to secure the success of Mr. Plummer for sheriff than any other one event of the campaign. From that day the Democracy of the county went forward-not only for the election of the sheriff, but for the whole ticket. The surmisings and questionings relative to certain of the nominees ceased, and the active work of the campaign began in earnest. This, aided by the splendid leadership and management by those in charge of the party organization-rarely if ever excelled -has given the party a victory unparalleled, and which every Democrat in the county who took part in itshould be proud PEARCE IS IN IT of as long as he lives. Every district did its whole duty. The First crowned itself with glory—the unfortunate and wrongful cutting indulged in FISHER AND DIXON by a few being the only shadow reflecting upon the otherwise perfect grandeur of the old Democratic Gibraltar. The Second showed the effective work and popularity of its two favorite candidates, Hepbron The Third had been badly torn by internal dissensions, but when the day of battle drew nigh the gallant men of that true to the emergency. The Fifth, in the grandeur of its achievement, ranks equal to any. It was just such a glorious result as And Full Democratic Courts many expected with such worthy candidates as Fisher and Strong and Willson to inspire them. The Chestertown district has always been largely Republican, and this time nearly all the Republican candidates were taken from this section, and special efforts were made to compass the defeat of at least one of the county comfound of a decreased Republican majority! Commendable. The campaign just closed has been remarkable for its good order and the avoidance of bitter personalities. We have been careful to shut out of our columns everything of the kind which could be at all offensive. The candidates on the Republican ticket have always been referred to in the kindest terms and their high character justly recognized. the county is to be congratulated therefor. Dr. Samuel G. Fisher, the newly elected clerk of the circuit court, is one of the cultured and intelligent, and his large vote indicates the strong hold he has upon the good wishes of his fellow citizens. He is to town and have personal supervision of his office. The question of deputies he will decide hereafter.

Mr. Dixon also is an intelligent and popular citizen and a high toned Christian gentleman. All his life he has been or the farm and he proposes to remain there. His estate is only about a mile out, and near Washington College, which is just cise in walking to and fro. He will manage his office without the aid of a deputy.
