wind coming in under the barn can be prevented by banking up, and the saving of feed, by preventing the entrance of cold air, will be quite an item. The floor of the stable is always cold and disagreeable, and plenty of bedding is necessary in order to colds, which are usually caused by draughts.

It will require many years for a farmer to improve his stock by seclecting the best tempt to do that which requires his life-time when he can make a short cut to improvement by taking advantage of the work performed by others before him. Improvement costs but little when purebred males are resorted.

It is stated by some one that when the thermometer stands at 50 degrees at sun-down frost will not occur that night. It is worth observation.

Slush and manure in the barnyard indicates a lack of care. No animal should be compelled to stand in a barnyard that should never be filthy, but should be cleaned every day.

Cover your rubarb and asparagus with MAUD S. STILL HOLDS HER RECORD AND plenty of manure, which will show its ——so Does good effect in the spring. Salt the asparagus slightly, and rake off all dead grass before applying the manure.

If you wish to have a patch of large on-ions next year lay off a plot of ground, cover it with three inches of manure, and on the first warm day that work can be done, spade the plot, mixing the manure HAVING recently added extensive improvements, I am enabled to give 35 lbs. of PATENT, well into the soil, and broadcast a quantity of lime over the surface. In the spring | 36 lbs. of STRAIGHT, or 40 lbs. of SECOND GRADE | We keep the WM. LEA & SONS' FLOUR for sale by Flour and a ½ bushel of Bran for 60 lbs. of first-class | the barrel or sack, we think as cheap as you can get of lime over the surface. In the spring wheat. spade the plot again, rake it down fine and plant it to onion sets. The result should be large onions and plenty of them.

Large articles not only sell better than any mill in the county. those of smaller size, but less labor is required to harvest them. It is much easier to dig two bushels of large potatoes than to dig one bushel of small ones. The farmer any one article as possible, and nothing long experience in handling grain justifies me in contributes to this more than large size, saying that the use of this machine on SEED WHEAT while the cost of production will also be of excellence can be obtained. I can clean it for proportionately lessened.

The Brown Leghorn is probably the best | I am thankful for all past patronage and ask the of all breeds of fowls when the points of continuance of the same excellence are considered and compared with other breeds. It is very prolific, s12-ti. hardy, a rapid grower, matures early, has yellow skin and legs, and is one of the most active foragers among poultry.

stalk has a very hard coat, and until it is broken or crushed it does not serve well for absorbing water. Crush the stalks or Hand-Made Double and Single Harness. All kinds of Farm Harnes made to order. We keep all be put to good service.

The best material for a hen with a brood of little chicks is the sweepings from the barn loft. The seeds and broken leaves are readily accepted, and the litter serves as scratching material for the chicks, thus keeping them in exercise and health.

Crimson clover thrives well in the south, and as far north as Delaware. Experiments should be made with it in this State.

The following curiosity was cut from a newspaper over thirty years ago by the late John C. Ayres, of Rock Hall:

A QUEER ADVERTISEMENT. Bartholomew O'Flaherty, Wig Maker, Music Master, and dealer in dried apples, from London, gives the public information that he has opened a shop in Pig Alley, No. 12, where he carries on the business of making ladies' caps, re-packing pork, and setting hen's eggs under ducks, except what falls down and breaks. Horse jockies and farriers may be supplied with gauze aprons, old saddles, smelling bottles, and all other vegetables on the shortest notice.

Potash kettles, lambs' wool, silver thimbles, besides a great variety of other medicines—one hundred gallons of hog's lard. Two-cloth, goose-greese and gridirons, to be bartered for tasseled canes and soft soap. Horsekeeping, two shillings per pound, together with Nova Scotia grind-stones, and men, women and children shaved, combed and dressed at three shillings per yard with every other species of public securities, and warlike instruments at their nominal value. All kinds of needle work done with accuracy and cross-patch, among which are two volumes of the great works of the little tweedle, with one hundred pounds of brimstone, and a monstrous heap of smoked owl' gizzards. Three pamphlets on the infinite evil of infinite folly, with an infinite number of finite little works of the little nite number of finite little infinites, among much are junk bottles and leater aprons, supported by arguments pro and con, with abundance of sweetmeats of the like kind.
