expedition in the hitherto almost unknown Hadramaut district of Arabia. In an interview with a representative of Reuter's Agency the explorer gave an interesting account of his experiences. Mr. Bent "Leaving Aden in November last, we proceeded by steamer to Makellah, the nearrst point to the Hadramaut Valley, and after journeying for about three weeks in the course of which we covered some our intended goal. The country from the coast to Hadramaut consists of a mountain range and an arid elevated plateau, call for no special remark. It is practically uninhabited. Contrary to the general belief, the Hadramaut is not a district extending to the coast, but is merely a portion of a big valley in the interior. It is a long valley, in places as much as 7 miles wide, but prohably its whole extent is about 100 miles. It contains several towns of considerable size, the chief characteristics of which are the magnificent palaces of rulers and the palm groves which produce the splendid dates grown in Arabia. The Hadramaut is inhabited by Arabs and Bedouins who are divided up into various sections, and are constantly at war with one another. My expedition spent a month in the palace of the Sultan of Shibam, one of the principal towns of the valley. From here we made excursions, often under the Sultan's personal escort, in various directions. The Sultan, who is a member of one of the most powerful and richest families of Arabia, had lived in India for a number of years.

I found him to be a very enlightened and well informed man, and one who took a great interest in our work and in the exploration of the ruins in his neighborhood. With regard to the archæological results lieved, and cured. They're the of the expedition, we came across a num-ber of inscriptions and sites of Sabæan cheapest pill you can buy, for

Notes from Queen Anne's. Thursday, June 7th. The M. E. school will run their excursion to Tolchester on Thursday, June 28th. Gov. Brown has reappointed Wm. L. Holton as notary public for the county. The county commissioners Tuesday appointed Dr. Charles Cockey, of Queenstown, health officer, vice Dr. James Bordley, whose term had expired It has been thirty-eight years since a sheriff of Queen Anne's county has had the unpleasant duty of executing a crima slave belonging to the late Judge Charles McCollister, of Church Hill, who was con-victed of the murder of William H. Porter, a respected citizen of the second district, at a special term of court, hel December 3d, 1855, at which Judge Philemon B. Hopper presided.

Mr. P. H. Feddeman has resigned as director of the Queen Anne's National Bank and Mr. John R. Cook has been elected to fill the vacancy. The 100th anniversary of the Methodis Episcopal Church of Centreville will be to be present. A special program has been arranged, and those who will take part are: Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, Revs. J. E. Bryan, Ridgeway, N. M. Brown, Vaughn S. Collins, J. P. Otis, Ralph T. Coursey, J. E. Arters, Joel Brown, C. W. Prettyman, Jos. E. Smith and Isaac L. Wood. This is also the centennial year of the town. THE LOCUST.—It is said by some persons that this is "locust year," and that these peculiar insects will make their appearance above ground the first week in May. They come up to spawn, and will subsist forty-two days. They split the limbs of trees and deposit their eggs, which hatch in twenty-one days. They then return to earth and will stay until 1907. An old subscriber says the locusts that come this year, if any put in an appearance, are a "bastard locust;" and that the regular seventeen year "Pharoah locusts" that make the loud buzz throughout the land are not due until 1902, having been here
