YULETIDE
 By OMEGA, in the Chicago Daily Tribune

BURN each night
 The bayberry bright,
 The hour seven to eight,
 When the flame burns straight
 It joins its mate,
 Your wish fulfills,
 Your heart's desire.
 For all are there
 Love, Laughter, Home,
 Within its sacred fire

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON

HAPPY fatigue. Rushing, hurrying, sitting up late. Doing up bundles. Posting packages. Delivering presents. Getting so tired-out you don't know how you can ever finish and then a new vigor and energy and Christmas spirit coming over you so that you feel you can continue more than ever. Wondering whether it will snow and the snow arriving just in time for Christmas, the stars twinkling down on the white, white earth. Bright red apples with the real favor of the country. Memories of other Christmases and New Year's, blurred at other times somewhat, but poignantly vivid in the happiness of Christmas-tide. This is the Christmas season.—Mary Graham Bonner. Monopolizing Papa

"Mother, I thought Santa was going to bring me a train and choo-choo for Christmas."
 "Well, he did bring them to you, didn't he?"
 "Well, there's papa's, but where's mine?"

The Christmas Light

The wind may shout as it likes without; It may rage, but cannot harm us; For a merrier din shall resound within, And our Christmas cheer will warm us. There is gladness to all at its ancient call. While its ruddy fires are gleaming; And from far and near, o'er the landscape great, The Christmas light is streaming.

All the frozen ground is in fetters bound; Ho! the yule-log we will burn it; For Christmas is come in our home, To summer our hearts will turn it. There is gladness to all at its ancient call. While its ruddy fires are gleaming; And from far and near, o'er the landscape great, The Christmas light is streaming.

Making Others Happy Will Bring Happiness

AUNT ELIZA had lived alone for many years; her finances had dwindled, and her health as well.

It was Christmas Eve and as Aunt Eliza returned from town with a few little things that her scant purse could buy, her heart was a little heavy, for the winter was before her and her strength was falling fast.

"I'm glad I got this knife for my poor Jim; he so enjoys cutting out those animals. Life is worth quite so long as we can give others pleasure, and there is always some one that we can help. I'll read to blind Jane tomorrow and that will help her and me pass away the day. Tonight I must try to think of some way that I can earn money. Sister would help me if she knew, so would the church ladies, but I simply can't tell anyone. Well, the only way to be happy is to make some one else happy, so I'll take Jim's knife to him. God has never forsaken me." All this was going through Aunt Eliza's mind.

As she opened the door she stood face to face with her only sister. "She was overcome with joy."

"Oh, Eliza, all the children want for Christmas is you, and they sent me to care, for you. We will start tonight so we can get there for dinner tomorrow. You shall never feel lonely again."

Eliza continues to believe that making others happy brings happiness.—Emily Burks Adams. (©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

For the Tree

Has any one ever tried cutting little stars, circles, fir trees, etc., from pumpkin rind for the Christmas tree? Peel pumpkin with as wide a peeling as possible. Then cut out your circles, etc., with scissors or knife and fasten to a piece of card.

CHRISTMAS GARLANDS
 By MINNA IRVING

ON CHRISTMAS EVE a slender boy Came singing in the snow, His arms were filled with holly wreaths And sprays of mistletoe. The curls about his forehead formed A golden diadem, His sapphire eyes reflected still The Star of Bethlehem.

He pointed to the Christmas wreaths, Bejeweled, red and white, His voice rang out like silver bells Upon the frosty night: "These scarlet berries are the drops Of blood that Jesus shed; These pearls upon the mistletoe Are Mary's tears," he said.

Singing Christmas Carols
 The old custom of singing carols in the streets was revived in 1917. In 1918 thirty cities co-operated. It is expected that carols will be sung this Christmas eve on the streets, in the parks, as well as in the churches, schools and public institutions of communities.
