WASHINGTON NO MATCH FOR TEMPLE

Owls, Of Philadelphia, Run Up 75 To 0 Score Over Local Footballers

By GRIDDER The dope, scattered afar in so many instances last Saturday, held to the straight and narrow in one case, and that, the one Kent fans were the most interested in, resulted in a 75 to 0 victory for Temple University over Washington College.

The little maroon and white outfit, overweighed about twenty pounds to a man, found themselves shoved back by the beef and experience of the Temple outfit, which boasts one of the strongest eleven among the smaller universities in the East.

From the opening quarter, in which the Temple team scored 37 points until the final game, the Washington team didn't have a chance and the outcome was never in doubt. In the second and third sessions the Owls, as the Temple team has been dubbed, were content to cross the goal line once each. In the fourth period they added 26 points to their already staggering total.

Washington did not expect to win against Temple and took things easy throughout the game. No one was injured. Captain Ted Norris stood out above the rest of the little local eleven and put up a fine exhibition of punting for the Temple gang to gaze upon. He passed well and, in fact, was about all that Washington had to show in the way of football.

Von Breisen pliffbacked the Washington backs had a chance to show anything on the offense. Only four times during the whole game did Quarterback Lloyd call upon the Sho' ball carriers to try their might against the Temple line. Each of the four times they failed to gain.

Coach Brown kept several of the best of his players out of the Temple contest. Their presence, however, would not have affected the result to any extent.

Washington is preparing to bring the 1927 season to a close this week when they will once more travel to Philadelphia for a try at the Drexel Institute goal line. Drexel, like Washington, has not had a particularly impressive season, though the Philadelphia record at a glance shows to a better advantage than Washington's. The Drexel team, however, has not met the calibre of teams that the Brown coached eleven has been called upon to face.

Tense Moments In "The Big Parade" Overwhelming

The first screen story of Laurence Stallings, noted newspaper man, novelist and playwright, has been booked for an engagement at the Lyceum Theatre Dec. 1st, 2nd, and 3rd. This is "The Big Parade," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, directed by King Vidor and starring John Gilbert.

The plot of "The Big Parade," might be written in one sentence—An American Boy Goes to France. Jim Apperson, son of a rich family, leaves for France without any heroic musings, Slim, a riveter, and Bull, a bartender, are in his company, and they become buddies for the duration of the big adventure. We follow them through their training in a rural French village where Jim meets Melhande and immediately forgets about the girl he left at home.

Then the big parade! The long line of lorries moving to the front. Melisande is left standing in the road clutching one of Jim's exquisite shoes. This is an exquisite scene, intelligently directed. Then the march through the forest with snipers and machine guns everywhere. The rhythm of this unbeatable advance of khaki-clad figures makes a deep impress. On and on until the climax in the shell-hole, when Jim goes over the top to avenge his two pals. You'll never see such a scene pictured on the screen again.

Supporting John Gilbert as the star are Renee Adoree as Melisande and such well-known players as Hobart Bosworth, Sluire Adams, Claire McDowell, Karl Dane, Tom O'Brien, Robert Ober and Rosita Marstini.

Marth Victorious Twice Last Week

Winning two fights in three days was the record last week of Pute "Student" Marth, of Washington College.

On Thursday evening Marth won a four-round decision over Handley Stinson, of Easton, at the White Rose Athletic Club at Queenstown. On Saturday Marth met and defeated his old rival Max Hecker at the Centreville Athletic Club bouts. Hecker went into the fight a decided favorite over Marth, particularly among the people of lower Queen Annes County. It is said that one Hecker supporter wagered one hundred dollars that his choice would win by a knockout. Marth took every round of the four round bout and hit Hecker with everything but the referee's watch.

Marth, who battles at 145 pounds, has established himself as about the best in that class on the Eastern Shore.

He derives his little "Student" Marth from the fact that he is a student at Washington College and is paying his way through the local institution with money earned by the use of his fists.

Soccer Title Tilt Set For Thursday

Chestertown broke all scoring records for Kent County last Friday when they defeated Galena at soccer 23 to 0. The local high school kickers had everything their way and scored almost at will. By defeating Galena Chestertown went into a tie with Rock Hall for the county honors. The two teams will meet to decide the title this week, on Thursday, at Betterton. The winner of this game will be declared the county champions and meet the winner of the Cecil championship on November 22.

By virtue of the win over Rock Hall a few weeks ago Chestertown is the favorite to win the county title. Rock Hall, however, is by no means counted out of the running and has a fair chance of defeating the locals for the championship. The game will be hard fought and the superior weight of the Chestertown team should be the deciding factor.

More Than $10,000 Paid By Fishermen

State-Wide Anglers' Licenses This Year Double Former Appropriation

Funds derived from the sale of State-wide anglers' licenses this year have been more than twice the amount the Legislature has formerly appropriated for fish culture, it was announced Monday by E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden. For some years the General Assembly has been appropriating about $8,000 for fish culture to cover a period of two years," Mr. LeCompte said.

The license law was enacted by the last Legislature and provides that licenses must be obtained for all fishing above the ebb point of tides. In addition to this law, there is a special act for Deep Creek Lake in Garrett county and the returns from this licensing have boosted the total for this year to $14,111.05, Mr. LeCompte said.

More fishing licenses have been sold in Washington county than in any other section of the State, the Game Warden said.

There the total is $2,914.68; Frederick is next, with $1,596.31. The total for the new license is $10,872.05; for Deep Creek Lake, $3,239.

Residents of the State obtained 9,581 of the new permits, while 617 were issued to non-residents. In Garrett county 1,599 residents obtained the Deep Creek license; persons from other counties of the State took out 156; non-residents of Maryland obtained 182, and 25 boat licenses were sold.

The number of licenses sold and the receipts in each county are: Allegany, 1,756 for a total of $1,501; Anne Arundel, 10 for $15.39; Baltimore, 401 for $394.15; Calvert, one for 86 cents; Carroll, 703 for $720.75; Caroline, 78 for $107.73; Charles, none; Cecil, 133 for $229.99; Dorchester, 97 for $65; Frederick, 1,663 for $1,596.31; Garrett, 270 for $371.08; Harford, 92 for $95.75; Howard, 168 for $143.64; Kent, 28 for $37.63; Montgomery, 969 for $1,132.57; Prince George's, 134 for $398.42; Queen Anne's, 23 for $29.92; Somerset and St. Mary's, none; Talbot, two for $1.71; Washington, 2,688 for $2,914; Wicomico, 35 for $57.27, and Worcester, one for 86 cents.

There is no fine raiment for "The World's Sweetheart" in this picture, no gorgeous costumes nor fairy princess. Quainter than Annie Rooney, sweeter than ever, until the very end of the picture, she is tattered and torn, barelegged, ragged, but radiant.

There is not a dull moment in the story, and the picture is brimming with comedy. It has punch and thrills and suspense, everything a successful picture needs, and in addition it has the one and only Mary Pickford.

BASKET BALL SCHEDULE SET FOR PENTAGON

First Official Practice Held This Week

The first official call for the basketball candidates for this year's squad at Washington College was made on Monday of this week. The call included all would-be players other than those engaged at present at football. Some twenty men reported to Coach J. T. Kibler for the initial workout.

Although basketball has been on the card at Washington College for the past month, the only players participating in the practices were those left from last year's varsity squad. The call on Monday was for all Coach Kibler felt that there would be a need to cut the squad considerably this year and issued the early call in order that he might get in his slashing act as soon as possible.

In the workouts so far it looks as if Usilton, the six-foot-five center, has the lead on the tap off job. A member of the squad for the past two seasons Usilton has hit the stride this year and if he does not have too much trouble with his eyes will prove a valuable man for the "Pentagon." Stevens, the second elongated center, is not quite ready for the college game. It is a big step from fast high school ball to fast college ball. The team in the two classes play differently. Seldom does a high school star make the varsity in his first year. There are too many rough edges to be knocked off.

Carrington and Graits will surely be at the forward posts this year and Captain Cavanaugh will be stationed at one guard. Dopson, regular guard from last year's five, has not reported for practice yet as he is a member of the football squad. The fight for the other guard position on this year's team will probably lie between he and Jacobs. Jacobs, on present form, is going to be a hard man to keep off of the team. He can also be used at center, a position he has played in fine style for Washington on several occasions.

Graduate Manager Fred "Dutch" Dumschott, who is assisting Coach Kibler with the direction of the squad has about completed his schedule for the coming season. A three day engagement in and around New York in the first part of January has not yet been straightened out. The schedule is as follows: Dec. 10—Phila. Osteo. College Here. Dec. 15—Arnold College Here. Jan. 3-4-5 New York trip. Jan. 6—P. A. C. Phila. Jan. 14—Loyola Here. Jan. 18—Salem Here. Jan. 20—St. John's Away. Jan. 21—St. Joseph's Here. Jan. 28—Pending. Feb. 3—Mt. St. Mary's Here. Feb. 8—Drexel, Phila. Feb. 10—Swarthmore Away. Feb. 11—U. of Balto. Here. Feb. 15—Mt. St. Mary's Away. Feb. 17—Maryland Away. Feb. 18—St. John's Here. Feb. 25—Schuylkill Here. Feb. 28—Delaware Here. Mar. 3—Loyola Here.

"Sparrows" Called Mary's Greatest

Mary Pickford, who has made a score of screen masterpieces and bought pleasure to millions, has just completed a picture which is said by many critics to be the best of her career.

The picture is "Sparrows," a United Artists Corporation release, and it comes to the Lyceum Theatre on Thursday and Friday of next week, Nov. 24 and 25.

The role of Mama Mollie offers to Mary Pickford a splendid opportunity. At times she is an impish, mischievous little boyden, and yet again the tender mother heart yearning over the sorrows of the babies and comforting them with stolen dreams and magic kisses.

There is no fine raiment for "The World's Sweetheart" in this picture, no gorgeous costumes nor fairy princess. Quainter than Annie Rooney, sweeter than ever, until the very end of the picture, she is tattered and torn, barelegged, ragged, but radiant.

There is not a dull moment in the story, and the picture is brimming with comedy. It has punch and thrills and suspense, everything a successful picture needs, and in addition it has the one and only Mary Pickford.

Hopkins May Be On Washington Schedule

That Washington College and Johns Hopkins University may become friendly again in athletics after a break of many years standing, was indicated this week when Graduate Manager F. W. Dumschott, at Washington College, received a letter from the Hopkins athlete authorities asking for a foot ball game in 1928. The resumption of relationships will not come in 1928, however, for the date offered by Hopkins had already been filled by the locals. The two schools hope to get together for 1929.

Dumschott has not completed his football card for 1928 but already has the State teams booked. Maryland, Loyola, Mt. St. Mary's and St. John's are on the Washington schedule. Temple has also been placed on the card for another game next year. Dumschott hopes to complete the schedule within the next few days. He is trying to arrange nine games for the maroon eleven.

Local Course Built For Right Hand Players

Left hand golfers, particularly beginners, will be out of luck on the course being constructed by the Chesapeake Yacht and Country Club. Working on the assumption that the majority of golfers are right hand hitters the course from the first tee to the first hole is being placed along the right hand side of the marsh that borders the country club site. The reason given for this is that right hand golfers, particularly beginners, slice the ball to the right. By having the marsh on the left they will save many balls. But the left-handers will have to be careful.

The local course is being constructed by Norman Findlay, son of A. H. Findlay, the "Father of Golf" in America.

Adam (to Eve): "Good heavens! These women! Always ruining something. You've gone and made salad out of my Sunday suit."

There is talk of a team of old timers, alumni and others, matching their skill and excess weight against the Washington eleven in an exhibition contest. The game will probably go no further than the "talking" stage.

PUNTS AND PASSES

Drexel, the eleven Washington College gridgers, will face in on Saturday to close the season, was defeated last week by St. Joseph's 7 to 0.

Drexel's record this season has been hardly better than that of Washington. The Halas team from Philadelphia has won a pair of contests while Washington has scored over none but St. John's. Drexel has not met the strong teams that Washington but at the same time should be given a slight edge over the locals on form.

Washington with a display of the brand of ball shown St. John's could score a victory of the Quakerstown eleven. The kind of ball played in the last two engagements will send the Shore eleven back to Chestertown with another loss marked in the big book.

There is no doubt but that Washington played above themselves in the St. John's game. But a thing done once can be repeated. It will take a second dose to send the Drexelites down to defeat.

Although football season at Washington College closes officially next Saturday there is still a game of major importance to be played in Washington field. The annual battle between the Frosh and the Soph is set for the Monday following the close of the season.

The two classes are busy preparing for the annual scrap. The Frosh have secured the services of Jake Reiger, one of the best ends that Washington has ever boasted, as their head coach. Reiger will be assisted by Gimp Carrington.

The Sophs have entrusted the coaching of their eleven to Bobby Cavanaugh.

The game is one that brings out the class rivalry. The Seniors, by agreement side with the Sophs while the Juniors take their stand with the Freshman. At the close of the game the annual poster fight begins and last until 6 a. m., on the following morning.

There is talk of a team of old timers, alumni and others, matching their skill and excess weight against the Washington eleven in an exhibition contest. The game will probably go no further than the "talking" stage.

Temple used every method and device known to football to cross the Washington goal line last Saturday.

The only thing they overlooked was giving the ball to Washington's tackle, Pat Schnaufer.

Several of the Washington football players are given to dancing.

Particularly do they like to dance the hours away on the eve of a game.

In view of this fact Coach Brown is letting them spend lots of time on the bench.
