Marines Win 64 to 0 Over Local Collegians

Washington Eleven Shows Improved Form Over First Game

By GRIDDER

Playing with the thermometer registering 95 degrees the Washington College football team, lost their second start of the season last Saturday when they were walloped 64 to 0 by the United States Marines at Quantico. The score of the game was about what had been expected by the athletic heads at the local school.

In losing to the Devil Dogs the Washington eleven showed greatly improved form over their playing on the game with the University of Maryland the week previous. They fought harder and played better.

Outstanding in the Washington line up was the work of Stewart at guard. This lad one of the heaviest on the squad was shifted from tackle to a position nearer the center of the line. He played a bang up game against the Marines. Schanuffer, Wilson and Archembleaut also played well.

Dickerson, who performed at one of the end posts for a while, showed excellent promise of a future star. His one great drawback is lack of size.

Captain Ted Norris punted well for the Eastern Shore eleven and his kicking helped to keep the score down a few points.

The Washington coaches say that the Marines have a powerful squad, more so than the one that Curly Byrd has at Maryland. Shapley, a former Naval Academy big gun, is one of the star performers for the Marines. Just a step behind Shapley is Levy, a 19 year old back that weighs but 150. He is the fastest man on the squad. He ran thru the entire Washington team on several occasions for touch down from distances varying from 20 to 70 yards. Levy played base ball in the Eastern Shore League during the past season.

Coach Brown is preparing his squad for the contest this Saturday with Canisus at Buffalo. It is possible that some of the plays he hopes to work against St. John's the following Saturday will be tried out against the New Yorkers.

Basket Ball Practice Started At College

If practice counts, and it surely does, Washington College should have one of the most successful basketball seasons in its history. Last Monday, just one week after college opened for the fall term began, workouts on the court were started.

The actual basketball training season has not begun, of course, and it won't until after Thanksgiving, but several of the players from last year's squad are working out three or four times a week.

Captain Cavanaugh, Carrington, Giraitis and Jacobs, members of the Varsity squad last season are taking advantage of the opportunity to get in some extra preliminary work. Billy Usilton, of the second string five last season is also working out.

"Dutch" Dumont, who said, will soon take to the floor with this squad and give them the benefit of his basketball knowledge.

Dopson is the only real regular from last season who is out for football. Chapman, Burk and Norris, of the basketball squad, are also taking part in the grid sport.

"Then, madam," replied her seatmate, "take my advice and give it up."

"She could stand it no longer. The man had the effrontery to continue smoking that vile smelling weed, in spite of the black glances she had been throwing his way.

"Sir," she said in a haughty voice "smoking always makes me ill."

"Do you know that Bob kissed me twice this morning before I could stop him."

"The scoundrel! What check."

"Both."

Distracted Parent: "John, will you speak to those children?"

Father: "Good evening, children."

PUNTS AND PASSES

St. John's College, of Annapolis, rivals of old of Washington, got away to a good start on the 1927 football season last Saturday when they gave Lynchburg College a trimming 13 to 0. Advice from the game say that St. John's used a cross buck play for consistent gains. The Johnnies were weak with their overhead attack, however. The St. John's team is rather light but with their average of 160 will top the local team's average by about 10 pounds.

Another of Washington's future opponents to get away big was Temple. This Philadelphia University eleven swamped Blue Ridge 110 to 0. Blue Ridge was originally scheduled to meet Washington this week. For some reason the game was cancelled and Canisus placed on the card in its place.

Temple, however, has a fine team this season. Last week they engaged in a scrimmage session with the University of Pennsylvania. It was agreed before the contest that no touchdowns should be made. Sports writers who viewed this struggle said that had the teams been playing a real game Temple would have won by several touchdowns.

Loyola took a 20 to 0 trouncing from Villanova but the score makes Loyola look like a good team this year. Villanova under the tutelage of Harry Stuhldreher, of "Four Horsemen" fame, is rated very highly in football circles of the East.

Loyola's best work was done on the defensive. Time after time they held the Villanova team, forcing them to punt and on several occasions took the ball on downs. Offensively the Loyola machine could not get started because of the strong forward wall that the Villanova eleven presented.

Mt. St. Mary's lost to Catholic University 14 to 0. This isn't such a bad showing for the Mounts if Catholic U. has its usual calibre of team on the field this season. Mr. St. Mary's will be the second home game opponent for Washington College in this season's list of games.

Swarthmore was trimmed by Pennsylvania 33 to 0. This can mean little or much. The Penn team is as yet an unproved problem. It may be good and it may be only fair. Swarthmore no doubt has about the same class of team that it usually puts on the field and at that should be several touchdowns better than Washington.

Drexel was defeated by Schuylkill 12 to 0. This sounds encouraging to the Washington gridgers. Schuylkill in past years has always been easy meat for Washington and if they can beat Drexel then Drexel can't be so good.

Mrs. Ex was throwing a big feed that night and she was giving her new maid final instructions.

"And don't forget, Mary, that coffee is served after everything."

"Yes, ma'am," replied the girl. "I understand."

And during the dinner she served coffee after the soup, after the fish, after the meat, as well as after the dessert.

Fistic Sport Attracts Many College Youths

Eddie Marth, One Of Peninsula's Champions

Eddie Marth, Washington College student and one of the coming fistic artists of the Eastern Shore; Jimmy Vaughn, another Shore college pugilist, and Bobby Cavanaugh, senior at the local institution and devotee of the flying gloves, are all taking prominent parts in the series of boxing bouts being staged at Chester, on Kent Island, and at Greensboro in Caroline county.

In the two cards presented last week, the first being put on the boards at Chester, Student Marth outpointed Max Hecker, 142 pounder of that town, in four rounds of two minutes each. Up to the third frame the fight was a draw, but in the final round the Chestertown lad, also weighing 142 pounds, landed Hecker to a fare-ye-well and took the decision on points.

Prior to this main bout, which was a stirring affair, the semi-finals were fought, Jimmy Vaughn, local athlete, boxed, in a snappy bout, to a draw with Bob Cosden of Cordova in three two-minute rounds.

Vaughn tips the scales at 138 and Cosden at 140. Jack Earle, 138 pounds, of Greensboro, and Arnold Grimes, 135 pounds, of Stevensville, also boxed to a draw in three two-minute rounds. Kid Cosden, brother of Bob, drew an even decision with Henry Collier, 128 pound lad from Grasonville. Cosden hails from Cordova and weighed in at 125.

At the Greensboro bouts Student Marth had a merry setto with K. O. Perry, 170 pound hefty from Chester, Pa.

The bout, which was supposed to have gone one and one-half rounds, was called before the second frame was over, Perry claiming a foul. Jack Earle and Kid Dix, 140 pound lad from Chester, boxed to a drawn decision though in the second round Earle was flattened and in bad shape on the roses. He pulled a Gene Tunney, however, and came back with force enough to fight out a draw.

Next week at Chester the main bout will be between Bobby Cavanaugh, weighing 160 pounds, and Jack Flush, of Baltimore, 162 pounds. In the semi-finals K. O. White, 160 pounder of Stevensville, will meet James Henry, 155 pounds of Centreville, Md.

"Come here waiter. Are you hard of hearing?"

"Possibly, sir, possibly."

"I thought so. I asked for liver, not leather."

SPLASHES IN SPORTS

By H. S. ARE

The hot weather last Saturday nearly broke up several football games when the pigskins were on the verge of being fried.

Some of the players that made long runs were doing so just to create a slight breeze.

The weather had a lot to do with the good punting.

Teams that were supposed to be without the services of a real kicker saw the ball soar aloft and stay a long time.

The poor thing was just trying to stay up there where it was cool.

The reason that the Marines were able to roll up such a large score on Washington is explained by some as follows:

The local team, tired of the heat and sun, elected to stay in the shadow of its goal posts.

Babe Ruth sharpened up his eye for the World Series, by breaking his own home run mark.

Very wisely, the eminent Mr. Ruth added but one to his former total of 59.

Now if he wants to break it again next year it won't be so hard.

Lou Gehrig, who at one time promised to show the Busting Babe how it was being done by the younger generation was stranded some place back in the late forties.

New light has been spread on the length of time that Tunney spent on the floor. This comes from a ringside patron who had bet $2000 on the Champion.

He stoutly denies that Tunney was on the floor fourteen or fifteen seconds.

He says it was two minutes or two hours. Anyhow the strain was terrible.

They are planning another elimination series to find a contender who will try to eliminate Champion Tunney.

Everything will be eliminate but the price of the ringside seats.

The memory of those "forty dollar birds eye view" seats will even be eliminate.

Several football players were heard to say that last Saturday was the first time that they ever wished to be knocked cold.

The only trouble with being knocked cold on such a day is that you might melt.

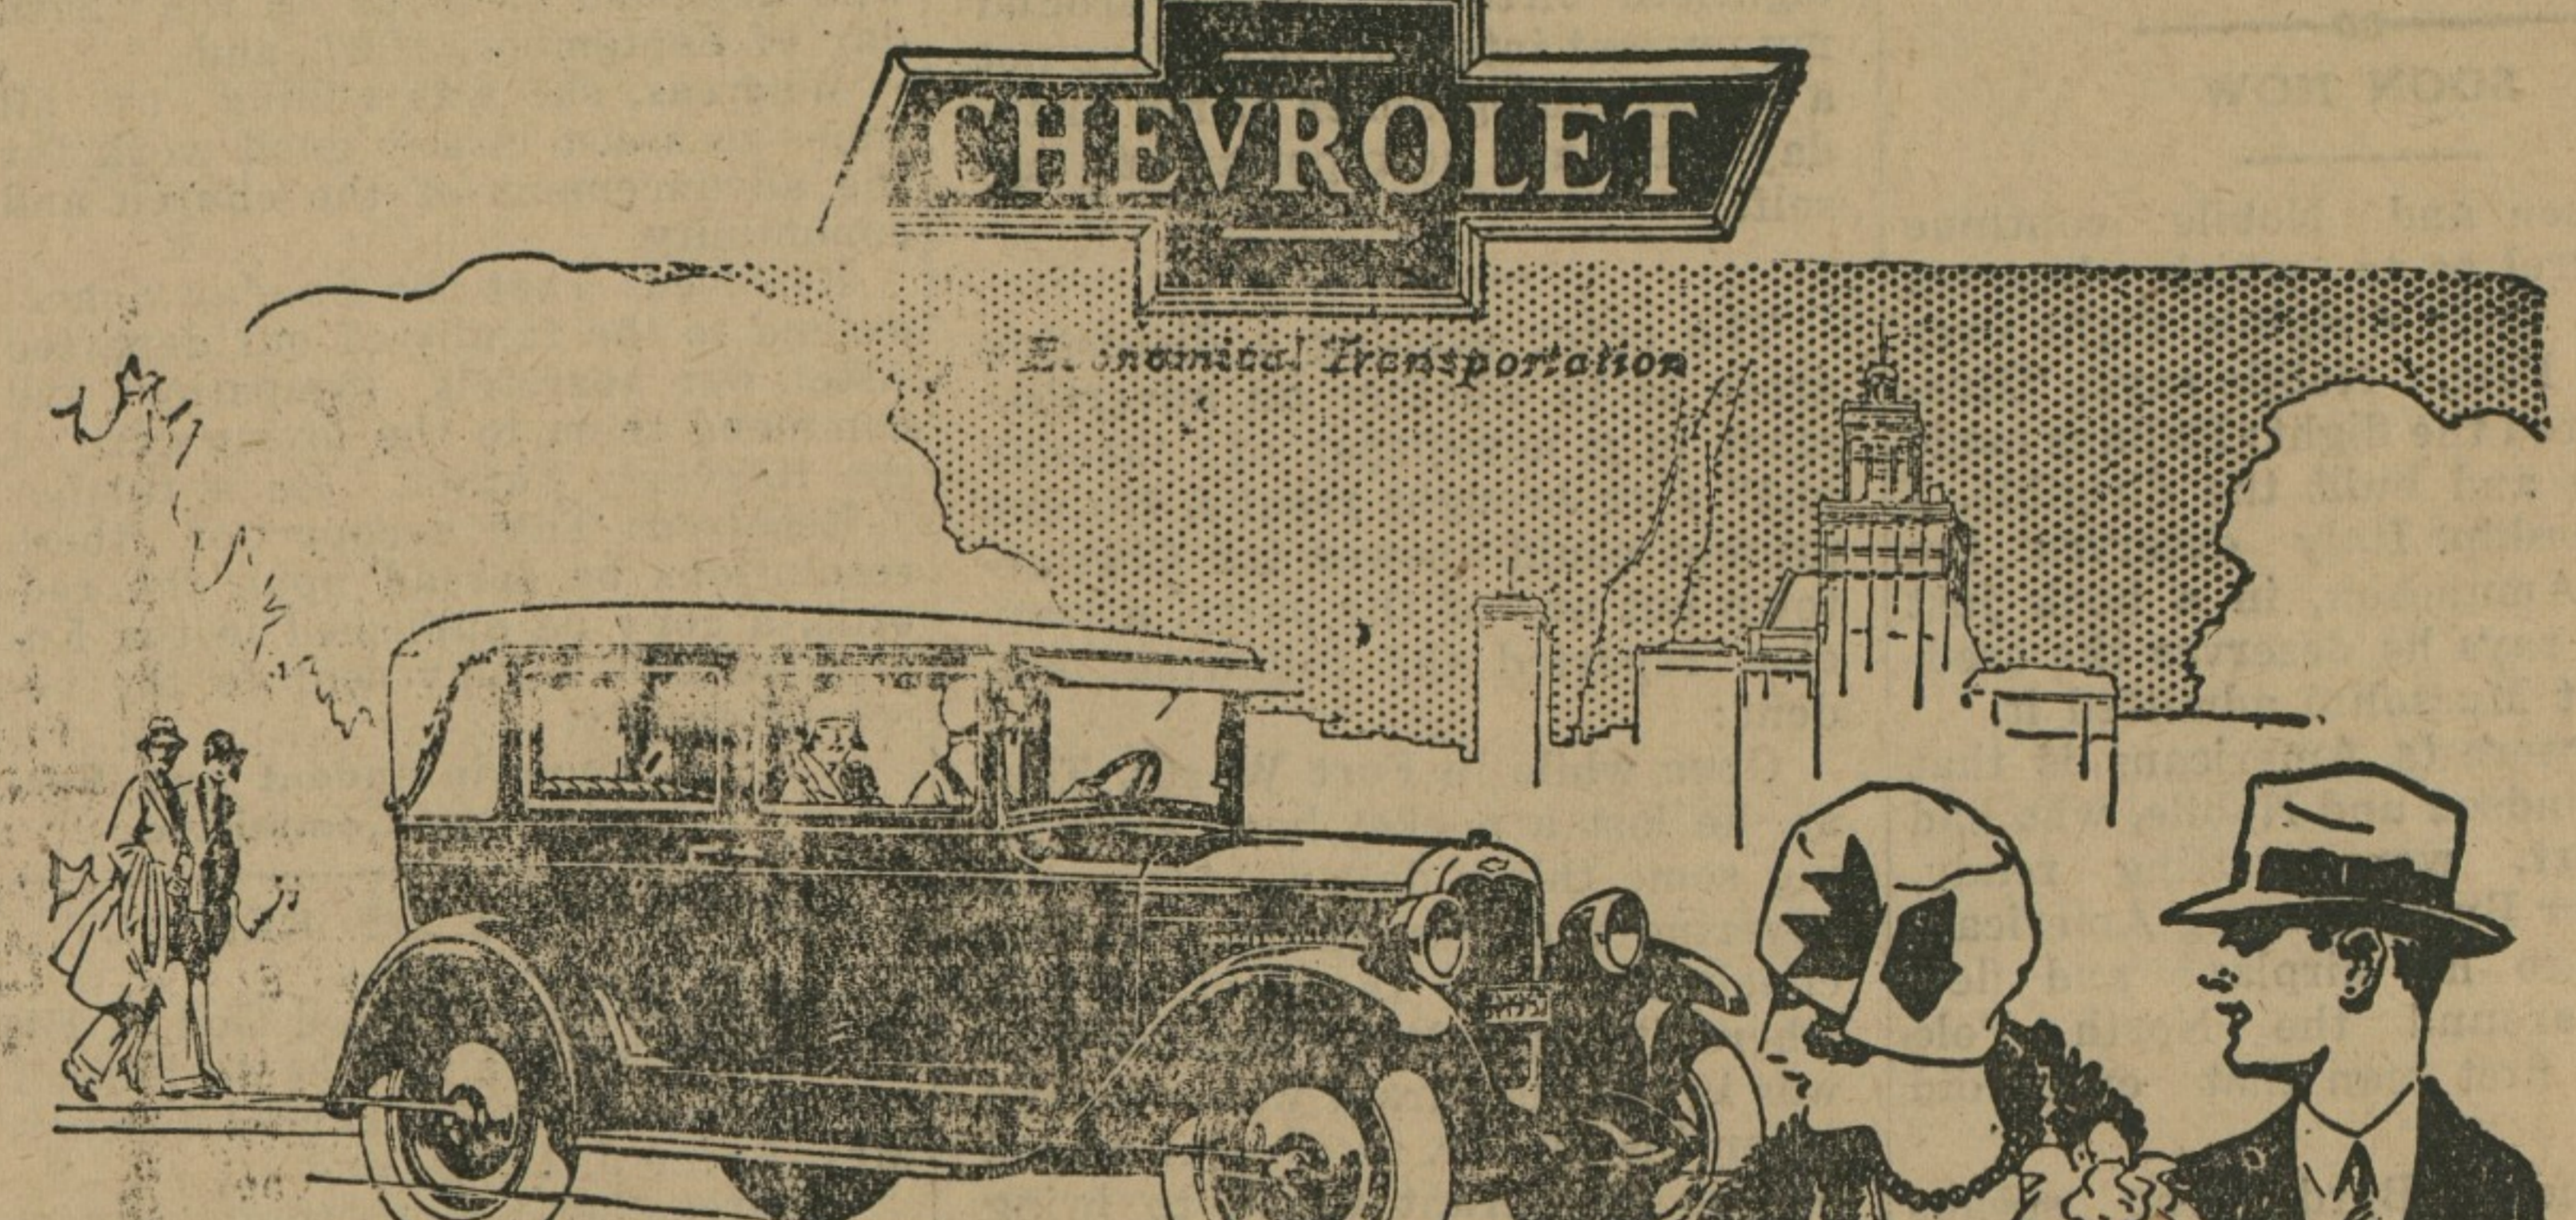

For the first time this season there was danger of the referee being hit with pop bottle.

All substitutes entered the game cold last Saturday.

That is, none warmed up along the sidelines.
