Hearing On This Date When Cause Must Be Shown Why Bond Sale Will Not Be Permanently Restrained

Word was received late yesterday evening that Judge Thos. J. Keating, of the Circuit Court for this district had signed an injuction restraining the sale of the Chestertown Bonds until June 10 at which time cause must be shown why the restraint should not be a permanent one. The case will be given a hearing in the local courthouse on that day.

The injunction grant yesterday by Judge Keating, at Centreville, is the outgrowth of a movement on the part of a group of Chestertown citizens to contest the recent town election at which they declare many illegial votes were cast. At this election it was decided to provements. The majority given the bond was 29 votes.

It is the contention of the group contesting the election that the bonds should not be offered for sale since they feel that the election was illegally conducted. They were upheld in this by Judge Keating.
