America's Great Corn Belt Threatened as All Attempts To Halt European Borer Fail Farm Experts Estimate $3,000,000 Federal Appropriation and Fifty Mile Quarantine Belt Will Be Necessary To Halt Pest's Westward March

Written especially for The Enterprise By ROBERT FULLER... Farmers in America's great corn belt, Indiana to the Rockies, are troubled over the advance of the European corn borer. Reports that the destructive worm has pushed westward as far as Kalamazoo, Mich., have led to conferences between farmers and county agents to devise some effective defence against the pest.

To Poison—Or, Not to Poison?

Congress is in a battle of the century, all its own, over the government's policy of poisoning alcohol. Senator Edwards of New Jersey is leading the forces which demand everything from the repeal of the Volstead law to a delivery of all correspondence between the Treasury Department, Wayne B. Wheeler, and the Prohibition forces.

About Your Health

A FIRESIDE CHAT... "Keep the feet warm, the head cool, and the bowels open." I was told by the old college professor, that strict obedience to this command would insure a healthy body at all times.

The question of cold feet is increasingly evident in these winter days. The low-pattern shoe is the correct thing in fashion, but I am yet unconvinced that the low shoe is not a shortener of life, and I know it is a menace to health; especially for women.
