ROCK HALL

Two or three hundred men, fishermen, oystermen, business men, all directly or indirectly connected with water industries will go to Annapolis today to do what they can to protect their living against proposed adverse legislation. Too much "conservation" may protect the fish and impoverish people.

One of the most unique and interesting religious services was held at Wesley Chapel in a recent Sunday morning worship when the young ladies and gentlemen of the parish assisted the pastor, Rev. C. L. Dawson, in the ritual. The following program was carried out as a part of Boys and Girls Day: Hymn, read by Esther Scoone; prayer by pastor; hymn by congregation; responsive reading led by Leonard Coleman; scripture lesson by Elizabeth Leary; announcements by Randolph Burgess; poem by Nina Clark; "The Shepherd Boy" by Elizabeth Ford; The Ladies Aid Society was entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas Tucker last Wednesday evening. After the business meeting an interesting program was rendered and refreshments served. Two new members were added to the roll.

GOV. SMITH—MR. McADOO.
IF CARNEGIE.
1,000,000,000 FOR GOLF.

If North and South America cannot set before the rest of the world an example of peace and common sense, something is wrong with North or South America. This year the Latin Republic will spend $100,000,000 developing railroads, and most of the money will be borrowed in the United States. Chile is negotiating a $40,000,000 loan in New York to electrify the Chilean State Railways. Apparently those South American republics have public officials sufficiently honest and competent to manage State railroads.

The financing of desirable industrial enterprises in South America by United States banks is a useful investment for American money.

When Andrew Carnegie sold his mills to United States Steel he would accept only special bonds, wouldn't take preferred stock as a gift, laughed at the common stock saying it wasn't even water, it was "air." Recent figures would surprise and probably annoy Mr. Carnegie's Scotch thrift. The steel company in 1926 earned $199,004,741, enough to pay $17.96 a share on the common stock, a new record of peace-time prosperity in the steel business.

One billion dollars will be spent on new golf courses and clubhouses this year, including the cost of 1,000 new golf clubs starting and maintenance of old clubs. If the nation could build a thousand new flying machines, one for each new golf club, to protect the links and placid gentlemen playing on them, it would be a good thing.

Dry raiders seize $25,000 worth of "blending" machinery used to manufacture benedictine, chartreuse, and other liqueurs. The "blending" has been going on, full blast, for four months. Many an American has damaged his mucous membrane, absorbing the product of that machinery.

Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, himself widely discussed in connection with the Democratic Presidential nomination, says Governor Smith, of New York, "is the outstanding Democrat in the United States."

On the other hand, Mr. Milton, editor of the Chattanooga News says William G. McAdoo is the only man for Democrats to nominate. Mr. Milton says Governor Smith cannot be nominated because "the country is seventy per cent dry, and no wet can be elected to the Presidency." Governor Smith's friends say, "wait and see."

John D. Rockefeller still has the New York Stock Exchange seat that he bought in 1883, forty-four years ago. He never uses it, keeps it perhaps to remind him of old days when he was making money for himself before he began spending his millions in Rockefeller Foundations, institutes, fighting disease—for other people.

That seat, which probably cost Mr. Rockefeller less than $50,000, he could sell now for $180,000. If he holds it a little longer, it will be worth $200,000.

Russian husbands and wives will be interested in their mail from now on. For a divorce you simply notify the authorities that you want it, then send word to your better half through the post office and that settles it. You are divorced.

tertown—Stop at Pippin's to Dine, and then, like a prodigal sun from the clouds of gathering gloom, the truth burst upon me. I was on the old Eastern Shore—but no, a new Eastern Shore. On every side the country oozed prosperity. Miracles of architecture and engineering had transformed Kent into a fairyland. From there on to Chestertown I encountered amazement after amazement. Even the town had changed. A handsome approach extended clear beyond Brook's Mill. To the left, in the background, loomed a huge domed structure which I rightly guessed to be a new college building. Streets and houses showed the visit of a magic wand.

On the center of the town proper was laid a beautiful park, replete with fountains and shrubbery, a miniature Champ D'lysees! A large building of white marble boasted upon its facade to shelter the new municipal headquarters together with the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and Lions Club and the town library. Upon the right a string of up-to-date stores and haberdasheries held sway. Further down, toward the river, a picture palace announced the starring of "Peaches Heenan" in that recent rage, "Twenty Years Ago." Thru the business section, down to the water's edge, where yachts and motorboats lie idle. Up Water Street we went and pulled up before a huge mansion of unrivalled beauty. There we unloaded, or rather I tumbled down from my lofty perch, eager to uncurb my long silent tongue and feast upon the changes which time had wrought. A burly driver, accompanied by a weakened Irishman, got out of the cab. They looked at me as if I were a 15th century apparition. But I forestalled anything they might say, by inquiring who owned this magnificent edifice. The driver granted but the little Irishman handed me a bit of grimy paper. "One load of furniture, consigned to Henry Mencken, 018 Water St., Chestertown, Maryland. Attached to the back of the paper was an ordinary business card announcing—

H. L. Mencken,
Advertising Manager,
Chamber of Commerce,
Chestertown, Maryland.

I sank quietly to the ground,—that confounded weak heart of mine has beat its limit. Another yokel had succumbed to the fatal lure of the Eastern Shore!

The X-ray derives its name from the fact that, when first discovered the exact nature of the discovery was not understood. Hence "X" which has always been understood to be the symbol for an "unknown quantity," was the name given to the new rays.

NOT very thick—is it? Yet by the thickness of the dollar bill they failed to bank, thousands of people have just missed success. The dollar bill in a bank account here is thick enough to support a man from disaster.
