ROCK HALL

Miss Thekla Downey entertained a few friends Monday evening at a Valentine Party. Music and games were enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, fruits and confections were served at a table decorated with red hearts and candles.

A couple of pleasant hours were spent on St. Valentine's evening in K. of P. Hall. Twenty-five or more members of the Rock Hall band were present and gave a number of fine selections. Songs were sung by Miss Blanche Carter and Mr. Eugene Taylor. Mr. Clyde Maslin rendered several selections on the piano. Russell Sewell who announced the numbers, read a humorous article.

Monday evening a meeting was called in Junior High Room not present at State Senator Beck has not presented a bill asking for $20,000 to build a new primary school for the town under the plea that not enough interest in the matter has been manifested by the townspeople.

While on the subject of school—a few days ago the writer picked up a paper when tiding a private yard. It had a page that had been written in one penmanship and revised in another. The finished product read: "For Freshy in there they will say 'Serve us first.'" "We are the dignified seniors. If you go into Mr. Grits after anything you hear the same cry in there. Seniors, oh how we love them more and more each year! 'Tut still I am wondering if the other classes will ever have the same opportunity to envy us when we become seniors as we do the seniors of today?" There is nothing in the above to envy or to merit emulation. Young people can easily find more worthy uses for their time than wasting it envying others. Just decide that envy is unprofitable and then strive to excel.

Possibly the writer's nerves are out of tune lately it has provoked some of the pastiche of Baltimore papers designating the peninsula as "the Sho." It isn't exactly new but it is renewed. It is also senseless. It isn't our pronunciation of the word nor is it correct to use it with the definite article. It recalls how the city papers used to base their jokes on country "haysies" with the names of "H" and "S." They didn't seem to know that the "hayseed" produced the food to nourish their brains (?) and, certainly, any of them bore the names of "H" or "S" the writer never heard of them in a half century.

We are well pleased that the Bay Bridge Bill has passed both houses of Congress. It would be fine if the company should acquire the ferry property here. The bridge might have to be a few feet longer than at first proposed but foundations for piers might be more easily secured.

There will be another delegation to visit Annapolis in the interest of the fish laws, the time last Wednesday, which had been designated "Conservation Day," being devoted principally to the oystermen's interests. The number of men taking the trip was surprising but only a few women visited the capital that day, among them being Mrs. George Davis and daughter, Mrs. Beulah Colyer, who went to Baltimore the day before and went down on Wednesday accompanied by Mrs. Agnes Ashley and Mrs. John Casey. Others in the capital city that day were Mrs. Charles Crouch, Mrs. Wilmer Crouch and Mrs. Joshua Thomas. There is no lack of interest on the part of the women but the audience chamber is known to be too small for all.

Rain and mud Sunday detained many people from church. There were five visitors among the hundred and thirty-seven at the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School.
